SAVE POST-WAR AIR RIGHTS FOR AMERICA: RICK

"Don't Give Fields Away," He Warns.

New York, March 22 [Special].—The United States should take immediate steps to obtain the right to post-war use of the airdromes built thruout the world by American men with American money and materials, Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker asserted here tonight.

Speaking at the first annual dinner of the Wings club at the Waldorf Astoria, the distinguished ace of World War I. assailed American leaders for being unable to agree—even at this late date—on questions of American international aviation policy. He laid down a five point program to govern the post-war use by the United States of foreign air facilities developed by its military forces.

This program listed freedom from customs while in transit, freedom of communications, freedom of weather information, freedom from cutthroat subsidies, and freedom from higher tariffs than those paid by competing nationals.

Calls for Aviation Board.

Rickenbacker called on congress to establish at once a board or council to protect America's rights in the billions of dollars expended on air installations built on foreign soil. He charged that they now "seem destined to be given away as Christmas gifts with Uncle Sam in the role of Santa Claus."

Rickenbacker also urged creation by congress of a unified army and navy transport command with authority to continue American air operations around the world after the war is over and to handle commercial passengers, mail, and express, as well as military traffic, in the interim before a final peace is signed.

He voiced opposition to the plan of a single international aviation company, which he termed a "chosen instrument," and urged that post-war aviation be permitted to develop under a policy of regulated open competition. He termed the "chosen instrument" policy a sure route to "the un-American evils of government ownership or inner sanctum cartels."

Backs Global Air Lines.

Asserting that aviation in this country is now a 20 billion dollar industry—four times the size of the automobile industry at its pre-war peak—Rickenbacker said that one of the reasons for the industry's trouble in maintaining employment levels is the fear of workers that their jobs will be scrapped after the war. This fear can be dispelled, he said, by the development of global air lines thru American initiative.

An audience of 1,000 heard Rickenbacker's talk. The Wings club is a recently formed organization composed of flyers of this war and of World War I. and aviation industry executives. J. Carrol Cone of Pan American Airways is its president.

Excerpts from Rickenbacker's address follow:

Power from Towers.

"It is possible that some day planes will take their power transmitted from gigantic towers on the airways, which will encircle the

Bombers Sink Jap Destroyer, 2 Other Ships

ALLIED HDQ., SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, March 23 [Thursday]—(AP).—A Japanese destroyer and two small merchantmen have been sunk by allied bombers off Aitape, New Guinea, northwest of Wewak, Gen. MacArthur announced today. Aitape is in a sector where considerable enemy shipping has been noted recently, indicating efforts to supply wavering garrisons.

Sighted by Liberator.

Aitape is about midway between Wewak and Hollandia, Dutch New Guinea. In the latter vicinity, two convoys have been attacked from the air within the last few days with the certain loss of five ships and damage to others.

A Liberator bomber on reconnaissance located the destroyer 22 miles east of Tadji in the Aitape area Monday night and dropped a 1,000 pound bomb, heavily damaging it.

Medium Bombers Strike.

The Liberator lost sight of the warship, spent part of the night finding it, then sent it down early Tuesday 32 miles southeast of Tadji with a 1,000 pounder and two 500 pound bombs.

Medium bombers swept low to sink the two merchantmen in the same general area.

Charges Nazis Paid 10c for U. S. Secret

Boston, Mass., March 22 (AP).—John Hays Hammond Jr., internationally known American inventor and scientist, was quoted today by the Boston Traveler as saying the Germans got information for their radio controled glider bombers "from our own patent office at 10 cents per patent."

In an article approved by the office of censorship the Traveler reported Hammond as saying:

"These should have been kept in secret archives of the patent office. They had been secret, but one admiral came along and thought there was no need for secrecy, and permitted them to be published." [In booklets available to any one for 10 cents.]

Points to Losses at Midway.

The Traveler said that Hammond would not disclose the name of the admiral, but quoted the inventor as adding: "They're still putting up monuments for some damned fools."

"If our army and navy had had glider bombs at Midway it is possible that not a single Japanese ship would have gotten away," he was quoted further. "The torpedo bombers would not have had to go in there where the flak was thick and deadly."

"It takes years to train aviators, and they are very valuable. Too valuable to be expended. In the Bismarck sea, too, the loss of life could have been less.

"In an attack against a battleship the glider bomb becomes more effective than any other, and the anti-aircraft fire cannot reach the plane which is guiding the bomb. The umbrella of flak is not going to be big enough under such conditions."

U. S. Had Long Head Start.

The Traveler said Hammond first demonstrated to the United States government the remote control which guides a "flying bomb" to its target by radio impulses in 1911, that congress in 1916 appropriated funds for continuation of the research, and 17 years later the government bought some 200 John Hays Hammond patents covering radio control.

But despite the advantage of this long "head start" period, which should have given the United States and her allies more than sufficient time to be first in the field with new weapons, the Traveler added, Germany took the lead and now has radio controled weapons in service.

REPORT NAZIS TIGHTEN HOLD ON SATELLITES

Move on Bulgaria, Rumania, Slovakia.

Doeme Sztojay.

LONDON, March 22 (AP).—With Hungary occupied and a puppet government established, Germany was reported tonight extending a stranglehold over neighboring satellites in a feverish rush to build a fortress within a fortress against the Russians' westward surge and other allied threats.

The Germans followed up their plunge into Hungary, where Nazi bayonets erected a Quisling premier, to direct a fuller Hungarian part in the German war effort, by penetrating into Bulgaria, Rumania, and Slovakia, said dispatches from neutral capitals.

"To Assist Hungary."

Germany's seizure of once favored but often recalcitrant Hungary was officially told by the Berlin radio today, and tonight it said "German troops are still arriving." The first announcement said the Hungarian government had resigned and that the Nazi forces "arrived in Hungary as the result of a mutual understanding."

Nazi legions marched in, said a Hungarian news agency bulletin broadcast by the German radio, "in order to assist Hungary against the common enemy, . . . in particular to intensify an effective struggle against bolshevism by the mobilization of all energy. . . ."

The broadcast said Doeme Sztojay, a former Hungarian army officer and Hungarian minister to Berlin, had been named to head a new puppet government. DNB later announced that, to keep him in line, Hitler had appointed Dr. Edmund Veehsenmayer as "minister and trustee of the greater German reich in Hungary."

Legation Opposes Sztojay.

The German-controled Budapest radio told the Hungarian people that Regent Nicholas Horthy, reported under Nazi detention since the German invasion early Monday, had sworn in the new pro-Nazi cabinet in the ceremonial hall of the royal castle late today.

The 60 year old Sztojay, long known for his strong pro-Nazi views, has been Hungary's envoy to Berlin since 1935.

The first outspoken opposition to Sztojay's regime—which dropped Premier Nicholas von Kallay's cabinet members considered moderate and retained pro-Nazis—came from the Hungarian legation in Stockholm, Sweden, which announced it would not recognize any government Horthy appointed.

Middle east reports estimated there were five German motorized infantry divisions in Hungary, and the Gestapo was reported making wholesale arrests in a ruthless cleanup of dissenters. A harsh fate was predicted for the country's 750,000 Jews.

Nazis Cross Hungary.

Neutral capitals reported the German army rolling southeast across Hungary—which apparently could muster only sporadic opposition to the Nazis—into Transylvania and the Carpathians.

Bulgarian communications services already are under German control, and Hitler is expected shortly to place Bulgaria, Rumania, and Hungary under the unified command of a German commander in chief, said the Ankara, Turkey, radio.

The London Daily Mail said in a Madrid dispatch that German air borne troops had occupied the soviet embassy in the Bulgarian capital of Sofia and had detained the Russian diplomatic staff. [Bulgaria has maintained diplomatic relations with Moscow.]

There was no direct confirmation of the Slovakia occupation report, broadcast by radio France in Algiers, but Interior Minister Jurik Slavik warned the country "coming days will demand great sacrifices."

Raps Dumping of U. S. Goods as Retail Blow

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 22.—Dumping of surplus army and navy goods on the market, without regard for the retail channels thru which similar goods usually reach the public, threatens the existence of small business enterprises, Sen. Wiley [R., Wis.] charged today in a senate speech.

Sen. Wiley read to the senate a recent advertisement announcing the auction sale in Los Angeles, Cal., of $450,000 worth of surplus army clothing and other small items. He recommended action by congress to guarantee that such goods will be channeled thru established retail outlets.

"You and I remember what happened after the last war," Sen. Wiley said. "The small business men in all the communities of the country found all at once that they had competitors who were not in business during the war.

Army Stores Established.

"Some group had bought up vast quantities of surplus army merchandise and had rushed into all the communities of this nation. They established army stores and paralyzed the business of men who had paid the taxes and borne the burden of the war. This must not happen again."

The advertisement of the Los Angeles auction, Sen. Wiley said, indicated that the process was starting all over again.

"If the army and navy haven't brains enough to handle this matter properly, it is up to congress to demonstrate that we have," asserted Sen. Wiley. "Already, because of lack of merchandise, thousands upon thousands of small businesses have had to liquidate."

Sen. Wiley said congress also should determine why the army has surplus clothing on the eve of extensive military operations in western Europe.

Much Clothing Listed.

Included in the offerings listed in the advertisement were 2,000 shirts, 7,000 pairs of trousers, 10,000 field jackets, 15,000 officers caps, 15,000 undershirts, 16,000 pairs of socks, 20,000 pairs of sun glasses, and such miscellaneous items as buckets, wallets, cribbage sets, and sewing kits.

Sen. Wiley said the advertisement had been called to his attention by the La Crosse [Wis.] Chamber of Commerce as an example of what will happen to established retailers if the army is allowed to dump surpluses whenever its procurement division decides to liquidate its stocks.

"There has been too much fumbling by incompetent brains," Sen. Wiley said.

A PAJAMA TOP AT BOTTOM OF THIS DIVORCE!

Los Angeles, Cal., March 22 [Special].—The horse "Our Bud" who may or may not have needed the cooling off Paula Stanway Thorpe gave him while dinner waited last May 8, shared top billing with a pajama top—a short one—at a hearing today in her separate maintenance suit against the millionaire sportsman, Carlyle Thorpe, 58.

The 31 year old ex-showgirl, who is seeking $1,000 a month of Thorpe's reputed $50,000 a year income, said the pajama top—and nothing else—was worn by her husband when he popped in on her and a girl friend at midnight at the Thorpe home with an angry, "Where the hell have you been?"

Mrs. Thorpe said she told her husband to go put on some clothes, and described her friend, Betty Payton, as "speechless." As to why she and Miss Payton arrived at midnight to eat a dinner ready at 6 p. m., she explained she had to cool off "Our Bud." The horse, owned by the Thorpe stable, had run in the last race of the day, she said. She had waited to watch the race, then walked "Our Bud" for an hour to cool him off.

State Depicts Death Scene in Lonergan Case

New York, March 22 (AP).—Wayne Lonergan listened tensely today as the state charged in his murder trial that he strangled his heiress wife Patricia after failing in two attempts to batter her to death with bronze candle holders.

The three episodes that purportedly took place in her east side bedroom last Oct. 24 were described by Assistant District Atty. Grumet before a jury of businessmen in an attempt to show that the slaying was "determined" rather than impulsive.

Grumet said Lonergan first beat his wife as she lay nude in bed. When the candle holder broke, he continued, Lonergan deliberately walked to a desk across the room and picked up another one.

"He was determined to kill her," the prosecutor said.

Breaks Second Holder.

He declared that Mrs. Lonergan crawled to the other side of the bed, but that Lonergan again hit her on the head, breaking the second holder. Then, said Grumet, Lonergan choked her.

Lonergan listened impassively as Dr. Melton Helpern, medical examiner, described in detail the gashes he found on the body.

When photographs of the room and the body were introduced into evidence, Lonergan picked them up and scanned them closely.

Dr. Helpern said death resulted from "asphyxia by strangulation, laceration of the scalp, fracture of the skull with contusions of the brain."

Find Traces of Alcohol.

Under cross-examination by Defense Counsel Edward V. Broderick, Helpern said the skull fracture and brain injury alone could not have caused death, and that the lacerations in themselves would not have caused death except to the extent that they permitted bleeding.

Broderick asked whether any alcohol was found in her brain, to which Helpern replied:

"There was a fair amount of alcohol in her brain, which would indicate she had been drinking before death."

"Was there any evidence of a recent abortion?" asked Broderick.

"No," said Helpern.

The trial will be resumed tomorrow.

Churchill to Address Radio Audience Sunday

Link Winchell Backer's Aids to Spy Probe

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hedwig Engemann.

Washington, D. C., March 22.—Asking the question, "Is Walter Winchell blackmailing some one?" Rep. Hoffman [R., Mich.] today gave the house a startling story involving Andrew Jergens, Cincinnati perfume manufacturer, who pays Winchell $5,000 for each Sunday night radio broadcast.

Hoffman said Elfrieda Margaret Siddell, personal secretary to Jergens, has been interned as a German enemy alien.

He revealed that Hedwig Engemann, 34, formerly of New York City, a maid in the Jergens home at Miami Beach, Fla., was arrested in 1942 for complicity in the sensational case involving the eight Nazi saboteurs, six of whom were later executed. Miss Engemann pleaded guilty to misprision of treason [concealment of the knowledge of the commission of treason] in New York in 1942.

She was sentenced to three years in prison and later appeared as a government witness against Helmut Leiner, also accused of aiding the eight saboteurs.

Sponsor "Congratulated."

Commenting that Winchell, New York columnist and radio smear artist, would have "torn the air with his denunciations" if these incidents had involved a congressman, a former isolationist, or an anti-New Dealer, Hoffman noted that Winchell's only mention of them, so far as he had been able to learn, was to congratulate his sponsor "for helping to apprehend an alien enemy."

"Can it be," he asked the house, "that Winchell's retention on the air at a fee of $5,000 for approximately 15 minutes is the price of his silence? And why is it that, in his broadcasts, he has never, so far as I have been able to learn, mentioned the name of Miss Siddell? Why is it that his column has not carried a reference to the pro-Nazi activities of these employes of his sponsor?"

Scripts Being Analyzed.

Hoffman demanded that both Winchell and Jergens be summoned before the house committee on un-American activities to answer these questions. Chairman Dies [D., Tex.] of that committee has begun an inquiry into Winchell's radio smear and a staff of investigators are presently at work analyzing Winchell's broadcast scripts of the last two years, obtained under subpena.

Winchell, who arrived here yesterday, when informed of the Hoffman charges, asserted he had been the first to announce on the radio the detainment of "a woman housekeeper employed by Jergens."

"I heard about the matter when I came back from Brazil in January a year ago," he said, "and called Jergens about it and told him I thought it proper that we should be the first to announce this. He told me to go ahead. Hoffman

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 22.—Civilians probably will get more butter temporarily beginning May 1, when, if present plans work out, only 12 ration points will be required for a pound instead of 16 as at present, an office of price administration spokesman disclosed today. Decreased buying for the army, navy, and lend-lease, and large war food administration butter stocks were given as the reason for the expected ration point cut.

A partial reason for the expected temporary increase in the allotment was said to be an anticipated steady increase in available supplies during the next few months, which will be the dairy industry's heavy production period.

WFA made no purchases during March, and in April, the spokesman said, WFA expects to order set aside for government purchase less than 15 per cent of the month's production.

One hundred million pounds of the 1944 total is destined for foreign countries under lend-lease, the same amount sent abroad on lend-lease in 1943.

1ST TESTIMONY ON MANN ACT CHARGE TODAY

Ex-Comedian Gay At Trial Session.

BY MARCIA WINN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 22.—Charlie Chaplin will be tried on Mann act charges by a jury after his own heart, a jury on which women outnumber men.

The jury sworn in late today in federal court here after a two day session of legal draw poker with a dramatic, tense finish, is composed of seven women and five men. As the clerk intoned the final "so help me, God" of the oath, Chaplin was flushed and triumphant. Last month he had futilely tried to have the indictment quashed on the ground that no women were on the federal grand jury returning the true bill. This time he won.

None of Women Is Young.

None of the women is young. Two are elderly maidens, one an unemployed binder, the other an ex-piano teacher with hair dyed a pale blue. The other five are housewives with children, most of them grown. Only one seems particularly well versed in urbane sophistication. She wore long orangey suede gloves all day. The others look like a cross section of the elderly persons who come to California to die in a nice climate. They all look very excited at seeing in person the little man whose antics so brightened their youth.

So the trial tomorrow at last gets under way with the government's presentation of its case. Joan Berry, Chaplin's ex-protegee and the young woman around whom the Mann act violations hinge, will be the principal government witness. A good quarter of a century in age separates her from the youngest woman on the jury.

Chaplin's Butler on Hand.

The government's case probably will be brief. It has subpenaed, among others, Edward Chaney, slender, impassive man of about 40 whose bland countenance and careful haircut, each blond hair slicked in the same place it has been for 40 years, reveal his occupation to be that of somebody's butler long before the casual by-stander knows he is Chaplin's butler.

The defense, it is understood, will open one of the lovelier smear barrages of this area that so exults in them. For that purpose it has subpenaed J. Paul Getty, multimillionaire oil man; Sam Marx, a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer producer, and a mysterious Bulgarian banker, Avra Mow, fresh out of Mexico.

Both Chaney, the butler, and Getty, the oil man, were alert spectators as the jury was selected. You wouldn't think selection of a jury could be anything but tedious, and this one was just that until the final two hours.

Chaplin Perks Up.

Then cogs began to move into place. Even Chaplin, today boxed in double breasted gray flannel a shade darker than his silver hair, with a soft white shirt and a figured gray tie, who had put in some cordial yawns during the morning session, forgot to fidget, to tap his feet, to doodle with a pencil in intense interest.

Temporary approval of seven men and five women as prospective jurors had been given by the close of Tuesday's sessions. That is, they were acceptable after the qualifying interrogation of Federal Judge J. F. T. O'Connor. Both the prosecution and the defense, however, were to have their chance. The prosecution was entitled to challenge, or excuse, six jurors for any reason it pleased and without specifying the reason. The defense was entitled to 10.

The manner in which these peremptory challenges are exercised here in California is quaint. The prosecution and defense alternate in naming the juror they want tossed out until the prosecution has exhausted its six. The defense then has four to go.

Movie Folk Excused.

First to go for the government was a lady who sews in the wardrobe department of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. First for the defense was a gray haired spinster with a stern, unyielding mien who, when asked yesterday if she had discussed Chaplin with any one, said, forbiddingly, in tones that indicated her mind was rigid and righteous, "If they talk, I won't listen!"

Then, in turn, the government excused Louis J. Odets, whose son is Clifford, the author; a pouty, young movie actress who plays "parts"; a silver haired telephone company foreman who knows he looks like Chaplin, and a brownish, little man who said he was a furrier who might do business with movie people who needed mink.

Alternating with the government, the defense excused a railway clerk; a respectable gentleman who said he was a citrus grower; an elderly woman who indicated she would return a verdict against Chaplin regardless; and a bank clerk.

Biased Against Briton.

Then the battle started. Charles H. Carr, the young, red headed United States attorney, suddenly said: "The government passes."

He had used up five of his challenges and was going to hold the sixth in reserve, this by agreement.

For each dismissed juror there had to be a replacement. One had a bias because Chaplin is a British subject, and was automatically dismissed. Defense Atty. Jerry Giesler, shrewd and skilled in jury selections, went to work on the others.

"The defense excuses Mr. Williams!" he said.

Mr. Williams was the tall young man who in answer to the routine question, "have you read about this case?" unhesitatingly admitted that he had. Most of the prospective jurors had emitted an unblushing "No," and had even said they hadn't heard it discussed. They gave the impression they would just love to serve on the jury, but Williams was different.

Read of It and Discussed It.

"Read about it?" the judge asked.

"I have," he replied.

"Read much about it?"

"I have."

"Heard it discussed on the radio?"

"Yes, sir."

"Talked about it yourself?"

"Yes, indeed."

So Mr. Williams went out and was replaced by a white haired gentleman who, when asked the routine qualifying questions of whether he knew Prosecutor Carr, and the various investigators and attorneys mixed up in Chaplin's intricate legal difficulties, replied affirmatively to each one.

All His Customers.

All, it turned out, were customers of his. He is a barber.

As he gravely admitted he knew each person, the courtroom, even Chaplin, rolled in laughter.

"Atty. Giesler, too?" the judge demanded, incredulously.

The defense ruled him out.

Finally, when Giesler had exhausted nine of his challenges, and one challenge remained both to the prosecution and to the defense, he asked for a recess. The last two men he excused, presumably in the hope of getting even more women jurors, had been replaced by men.

Chaplin Is Exuberant.

During the recess Chaplin was exuberant and gay, chatting freely with the press. When he talks, you realize with a start that all his appearances on the screen were mute and pantomimic, for his voice, still tinged with a touch of cockney, is squeaky.

After the recess, the 12 jurors, the judge and the attorneys filed back. The lay public expected Prosecutor Carr to exercise his final challenge and dismiss the juror who had given his occupation as that of caretaker for a Columbia pictures movie producer, but he did not.

He leaned back in his swivel chair, rocked a bit, and said, "The government passes."

The final move, if any, is up to the defense.

Giesler rises.

Defense Scans Panel.

"May I have one moment, your honor," he asks the judge. He then goes into a deep conference with Chaplin. They eye the jurors one by one. Then he rises.

"The defendant will accept the jury as now constituted, your honor," he says.

"Swear the jury in," orders the judge.

The clerk rises and reads the questioning oath . . . "Do you solemnly swear . . .?"

And the jury is in. A retired farmer, a caretaker, a shirtmaker, an advertising man, a banker, five housewives, an unemployed binder, and an ex-piano teacher with pale blue hair, none too young to remember the early days of the silent movies and the slaphappy magic of the sad-eyed little man with baggy pants, toed-out shoes, and a flickering cane who was always kicked around by the world.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 22 (AP).—Three royal Canadian air force flyers with next of kin in the United States were listed officially today as missing after air operations. They included Flight Sgt. Lyle Wilmot Hicks, whose father, W. H. Hicks, lives at 640 Exmoor av., Barrington, Ill.

EDITOR CHARGES NEW DEAL PRESS BACKING WILLKIE

Sheboygan, Wis., March 22 [Special].—What he described as "a conspiracy on the part of New Deal newspapers" in and out of Wisconsin to put Wendell Willkie's delegates across in this state April 4 was denounced today by Walt Chilsen, editor of the Merrill, Wis., Daily Herald.

Chilsen, a veteran Wisconsin Republican leader, named the Sheboygan Press, edited by Charles E. Broughton, former Democratic national committeeman and one of Wisconsin's "big three" Democrats; the Milwaukee Journal, and the Madison Capitol Times, edited by William T. Evjue, as the ringleaders in the conspiracy.

Chilsen also called attention to the fact that representatives of Marshall Field's PM, of the Chicago Daily News and Chicago Times, and other Democratic and internationally minded New York newspapers, and New Deal columnists are following the candidate and "magnifying his utterances out of all proportion."

Won't Change Mind.

Chilsen, who is an anti-Willkie candidate for delegate in the 10th district, also revealed that Lem Jones, Willkie's personal manager, telephoned him from Green Bay last night and invited him to a meeting with a candidate. Chilsen said nothing that Willkie can say "will change my stand."

Chilsen said stories carried by the three Wisconsin newspapers he named, during the last three months "leaves no doubt in the mind of any Republican that there is a New Deal conspiracy to have Willkie nominated as the Republican candidate against Roosevelt.

"They want this because they know he is the one man in the Republican party most easily beaten, the one man that no real Republican can conscientiously support, the man whose ideas on domestic and foreign policies are almost identical with those of the President."

Chilsen said Evjue, a Progressive "whose support of President Roosevelt has been almost fanatical and who makes no bones about the fact that he will support the President for a fourth term, cannot plump hard enough for Willkie."

Damned with Faint Praise.

He said the same is true of the Milwaukee Journal which calls itself "independent Democratic," and which "damned Willkie with faint praise in 1940" only because it was against the third term.

"As for my old friend, Charley Broughton," said Chilsen, "his role is obvious to all. He has been pumping up Willkie's Sheboygan meeting tonight for all that he is worth. He has been one of the majordomos of the whole Willkie reception there."

Today's Sheboygan Press, Broughton's paper, carried an editorial entitled "An American First," praising Willkie in the following words:

"The Republicans will find in Mr. Willkie a man who is, above everything, also a true American. The thing that makes Mr. Willkie strong with the American people is the decisive manner in which he meets an issue."

The same editorial denounced Rep. Frank B. Keefe [R., Oshkosh] of the 6th congressional district, in which Sheboygan is located, as one who had spread a lot of propaganda, "some of it un-American."

ADDRESSES DEMOCRATS.

Sheboygan, Wis., March 22 [Special].—Wendell Willkie attacked Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, in a talk at the armory here tonight, asserting that election of Willkie delegates in Wisconsin's primary April 4 will serve notice that the people do not want the leadership "of the Col. McCormicks."

"Certain Republicans are opposing me in Wisconsin, editorially and otherwise, who would make the shortage of gas and food and other hardships caused by the war an issue in the national election," he said. "These are the same forces who opposed lend-lease, the fortification of Guam, the sending of destroyers to the British, and selective service. If we win in Wisconsin, every Col. McCormick and every man devoid of honor will be repudiated."

Willkie said that Wisconsin has been "defamed" over the country as isolationist, and that a victory for Willkie delegates will enable the state to shake off that reputation.

Sheboygan is a Democratic stronghold, and political observers estimated that about two-thirds of the audience of 4,200 were Democrats.

Judge Elwyn R. Shaw and his bride, the former Mildred J. Voight, who was his secretary, in Washington, D. C.

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—Elwyn R. Shaw, whose nomination as northern Illinois district judge is under consideration by a senate judiciary sub-committee, was married today to his secretary, Miss Mildred J. Voigt of Freeport, Ill. The ceremony took place in the Episcopal seminary chapel, Alexandria, Va.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. George Voigt of Freeport. Shaw's daughter, Mrs. R. Wayne Dirksen of Takoma Park, Md., served as matron of honor. Her husband, Corp. Dirksen, was best man.

Judge and Mrs. Shaw will reside at Cedar Cliff, his country home near Freeport. Shaw, who is 55, was appointed judge of the Illinois Supreme court in 1933 and served as chief justice during 1938 and 1939. His first wife died several years ago.

KILLED BY 500 POUND BEAM.

Luther Hogan, 40, of 1726 E. 85th st., a foreman in the Bliss & Laughlin, Inc., steel mill at 155th st., and Commercial av., Harvey, was killed yesterday when he was struck by a 500 pound I beam which fell from a crane.

CLAIMS WILLKIE AID SOUGHT TO BUY HIS SUPPORT

Minneapolis, Minn., March 23 (AP).—Gerald L. K. Smith, organizer and director of the America First party, in a statement issued today said that a representative of Wendell L. Willkie, candidate for Republican presidential nomination, had promised him "anything you want," in return for his support.

Smith's statement was in reply to Willkie's talk at Appleton, Wis., last night.

"Willkie is against me for just one reason. I repudiated him first. In 1940 his man approached me, urging coöperation. I said, "I don't like Willkie but I will support him this time as the lesser of two evils. I'll see that he carries Michigan." Any shrewd politician knows Willkie and Vandenberg could not have carried Michigan in 1940 but for my help.

"There Is Money in It."

"Three months ago I was called on by Willkie's representative who said, 'Come on, Gerald, why don't you and Wendell get together? I can arrange a secret meeting. There is money in it.'

"I repudiated the offer and our people picketed Willkie when he came to Detroit. Not satisfied with that, Willkie's Michigan man came to my private secretary and urged that he serve on the reception committee for Willkie. He declined.

Told to Name His Price.

"Less than 60 days ago Willkie sent another agent to me who said: 'I am authorized by one of the 15 richest men in America to offer you anything you want to coöperate with the Willkie campaign. We can work out a plan for you [Smith] to work on the 'Q. T.' for Willkie, so that it will help him in the middle west without hurting him in New York among the internationalists. Name your price.'

"I repulsed him again.

"My crowd whipped Willkie last Monday in the county conventions of Michigan. He knows it. He knows within his heart that his 'goose is cooked.'"

At Manitowoc, Wis., Willkie denied Smith's charges.

$76 LOOT TAKEN FROM TRUCK.

M. F. O'Brien, 7844 Stewart av., a truck driver for the Iowa-Nebraska Transit company, told police yesterday that a tool kit and auto radio, both valued at $76, were stolen from his truck while it was parked at 34th and La Salle sts.

STUDENTS AT HERZL PROTEST TRANSFER TO WILSON COLLEGE

Nearly 1,000 students, relatives, and friends met last night in the Jewish People's institute, 3500 Douglas blvd., and protested against the scheduled moving of the Herzl Junior college student body to Wilson Junior college.

Herzl college, at 3711 Douglas blvd., is to be taken over Monday by the navy. Wilson college is at 6800 Stewart av. About 500 Herzl students are affected.

Speakers at last night's protest meeting said they had no objections to the navy taking over Herzl, but they believed that Herzl students should have been transferred to some other school nearer the west side, such as Crane or Austin High school. They argued that Herzl was developed in the Douglas Park region, and once removed, might never be reëstablished. A Herzl committee is expected to meet with school board officials today.

BUS MEN SPURN WLB ORDERS TO RETURN TO JOBS

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 22 (AP).—Striking bus drivers of the Pennsylvania Greyhound lines voted tonight to continue their walkout in spite of an ultimatum by the regional war labor board that the six day tieup end by midnight.

This development followed an apparent deadlock in negotiations between the company, the union, and federal and state labor conciliators.

A one day strike of 200 workers of the Boston and Maine Transportation company, serving a dozen New England lines, was temporarily settled when a federal conciliator agreed to meet with workers and management.

14th Century Painting Taken from N. Y. Museum

New York, March 22 (AP).—Theft of a 14th century painting by Simone Martini [1284-1344] was reported today by Francis Henry Taylor, director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Museum officials said the picture—a small depiction of St. Thomas—was valued at between $3,000 and $5,000.

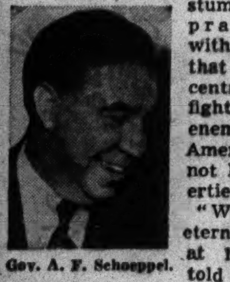
GOV. SCHOEPPEL STUMPS KANSAS FOR U. S. IDEALS

Warns Against New Deal Threat to Freedom.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Gov. A. F. Schoeppel.

Topeka, Kas., March 22.—Gov. Andrew F. Schoeppel of Kansas is stumping this prairie state with the theme that while concentrating on the fight against enemies abroad, America must not lose her liberties at home.

"We must be eternally vigilant at home," he told the Coffeyville Lions club last night, "that victory on the battle front may not be nullified on the home front."

Schoeppel is one of America's 26 Republican governors and is a vigorous opponent of the fourth term and the White House palace guard.

Former Grid Star.

A former athlete, the governor is broad shouldered, big fisted, and strong at the age of 49. He was playing baseball at the University of Kansas and working in the wheat fields as a threshing hand in 1917.

When war came he enlisted in naval aviation. After the war he was on the University of Nebraska football team and won honorable mention on Walter Camp's All-American team.

"Gandy," as the Kansas farmers call him, is expected soon to announce his candidacy for reëlection. His current political activity, however, is aimed at influencing the selection of delegates to the national convention in Chicago this summer.

Claude C. Bradney of Columbus and Cal W. Floyd of Sedan were elected as uninstructed delegates to the national convention today in a 3d district convention at Coffeyville, Kas. The 1st and 2d districts previously had named two uninstructed delegates each. Three remaining districts will select six more delegates this week, and the state convention will choose seven at large when it meets March 31 to complete the delegation.

Warns of Home Foes.

"We have seen in our land," Schoeppel tells his audiences, "the development of government by bureaus and decrees. While we are striking down our alien foe, let us not warm to our bosom our domestic foes. Let us not let our American freedom die thru indifference or oversight."

Local politicians predict that the Kansas convention will name national delegates unpledged to any candidate but all unfriendly to Wendell Willkie. Gov. Dewey seems to be the present favorite, altho Gov. Bricker and Gen. MacArthur are considered highly acceptable.

LOSES 26 DOGS, SAVES 2 WITH CAT PLUS $100

Mrs. Edith Locke, 70, of 9120 Waukegan rd., Morton Grove, was fined $100 and costs in the court of Justice of the Peace Harry A. Sullivan in Niles yesterday. The charge was cruelty to animals, preferred by Orphans of the Storm, Inc.

Justice Sullivan said the fine would be remitted, if she disposed of her 28 dogs and one cat within 30 days. Mrs. Locke agreed, but was permitted to keep two dogs and the cat.

The animals, however, were harbored at Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin's dog haven in Deerfield, where Mrs. McLaughlin had taken them March 10. A replevin suit was filed in Lake Circuit court by Mrs. Locke to regain the 29 animals, which she valued at $2,000.

Regains Daughter

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

A mother's right to recover her child was upheld yesterday when Judge John J. Lupe, of the Superior court, gave Carol Ann, 19 months old, to her mother, Mrs. Sarah Blevins, 23, of 856 Leland av.

Mrs. Blevins, former wife of an overseas soldier, had consented last month to Carol Ann's adoption by the Rev. Zonroy Wilson Buss, who conducts the Holy Science Spiritualist church at 2858 N. Clark st.

Mrs. Blevins charged that the Buss home was not a proper one for her daughter, and that the Rev. Mr. Buss was using the child to stimulate collections at his spiritualist services. Buss denied this. In court yesterday as the hearing was about to proceed, his lawyer, Edward Parlee, moved that the adoption be vacated. Mrs. Blevins' attorney, Arthur K. Young, agreed, and Judge Lupe promptly ordered Carol Ann back to her mother. To make the return happier, the clergyman turned over a $1,000 endowment policy and clothing to the child.

GEN. CARROLL, HOSPITAL HEAD, TO GET MEDAL

Brig. Gen. P. J. Carroll.

Brig. Gen. Percy J. Carroll, commanding officer of Vaughan General hospital at Hines, will be decorated with the distinguished service medal March 31 for conspicuous success in the evacuation of 225 wounded men from Manila, P. I., to Australia, his work as chief surgeon in the Southwest Pacific theater for two years, and design and activation of the army's first portable surgical hospital.

Maj. Gen. Henry S. Aurand, head of the 6th service command, will make the medal presentation in the hospital at 4:14 p. m. before a large assembly of officers and the 740th military police battalion and band from Camp Skokie.

Gen. Carroll, 53, is a native of East St. Louis, Ill. He was commissioned in the army medical corps in 1916 and saw service on the Mexican border before assignment in France during the last war, after which he served in China and the Philippines. He was in Manila at the time of the Pearl Harbor attack.

Gen. Carroll returned to the United States last December.

F.D.R. STUDYING POLL OF STATES ON SOLDIER VOTE

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—President Roosevelt today began study of the service vote bill in the light of a poll of governors which turned up a 19 to 19 tie of "ayes" and "nays" on the question of approval or probable approval of use of federal ballots as provided in the measure.

Executives of nine states were noncommittal and the White House had yet to receive a reply from Gov. O. D. Johnston of South Carolina.

Mr. Roosevelt conducted the poll to help him decide whether to approve or veto the bill which gives priority and preference to state ballots instead of the federal ballots.

Texas, Vermont Agree.

Texas and Vermont gave the President assurance today they will allow use of the supplementary ballots, raising to seven the number of states where no doubt remains that such ballots can be used. The others are California, Maryland, North Carolina, Florida, and Kansas.

The governor of Alabama said federal ballots would be acceptable if the service vote bill is constitutional, and governors of the following states said they either expected or would recommend authorization to approve the federal blanks: Utah, Massachusetts, New Mexico, Indiana, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Nebraska, Maine, Oklahoma, and Connecticut.

New York Noncommittal.

On the other side of the ledger were advices that no action has been taken or is planned to authorize them in Nevada, Iowa, Idaho, Illinois, Georgia, Virginia, West Virginia, Arizona, Wisconsin, Colorado, Minnesota, Ohio, Montana, and Mississippi. Governors of North Dakota, Tennessee, Wyoming, Michigan, and Oregon indicated there is little likelihood of validation of federal ballots.

Mr. Roosevelt has been reported particularly concerned about the more populous states and this lineup left the two with the biggest vote, New York and Pennsylvania, in the noncommittal classification.

ICKES' SON LOSES REHEARING PLEA IN ESTATE FIGHT

Rail City Falls After Two Day Battle.

LONDON, March 22 (AP).—The Red army after a two day battle today captured the important fortified railway junction of Pervomaisk which has been protecting the German withdrawal from the southern Ukraine. To the southeast the Russians drove to within eight miles of Nikolaev, which anchors the German eastern front line, Moscow announced tonight.

The Russians closed in on Nikolaev from the north, east, and south, and had the Nazi defenders pinned back against the Bug river. Soviet troops pushing up from the south captured a town eight miles from Nikolaev.

The Germans, meanwhile, announced that the Russians had launched a big flanking offensive in the strategic Proskurov-Tarnopol hinge position in the western Ukraine and Poland and had forced the Nazis to fall back.

Town 120 Miles from Odessa.

The fall of Pervomaisk was announced by Premier Stalin in an order of the day. In peace time a town of 50,000, Pervomaisk lies 100 miles northwest of Nikolaev and 120 miles north of Odessa.

The town was one of two main Nazi bastions on the eastern bank of the Bug barring the approach to Nikolaev and Odessa. The other is Vosnesensk, 40 miles to the south, and when that falls the Russians will have a relatively clear path to both Black sea cities.

Moscow was silent on the reported offensive in the Proskurov-Tarnopol area which joins the western and southern sections of the long front.

Gain All Along Front.

The daily bulletin said several populated places were taken in a continuing advance westward in Poland toward the large city of Lwow. More towns were retaken in advances southwestward and southward from the Vinnitsa and Zhmerinka areas, and the big bridgehead on the right bank of the Dniester below Mogilev Podolski was further expanded. The Russians announced capture of Nadushita, 20 miles inside Bessarabia.

[A dispatch to the Moscow News, quoting an officer just returned by air from Bessarabia, said the Russians had "pushed the front to the borders of Rumania." Moscow considers the Prut river the border of Rumania.]

The Germans reported also that the Russians were attacking to the north in the region of the Polish town of Brody, where the Red army is only 50 miles east of Lwow.

Berlin also reported that the soviet command was setting the stage for a concentrated blow in the region of Narva in Estonia far to the north, declaring that the Russians had assembled there about 100 divisions—well over a million men.

ARMY PROVIDES 'MUSTERING-IN' PAY TO FAMILIES

Worcester, Mass., March 22 (AP).—The army is now providing "mustering-in" pay to the families of newly drafted fathers, it was disclosed today by W. Rae Long, state commissioner of veterans and pensions.

He made the disclosure in a talk before city and town soldiers' aid officials at a meeting here. This was corroborated by officials at Fort Devens, who said the payment was designed to "tide the family" over the period before monthly checks arrive. Long said the navy and its allied fighting services are not making a similar payment.

Long described the payment, which an inductee's family receives "within a few days" after he enters service, is based on the number of dependents. Thus, he said, the wife of a father of three children would receive a check for $120. A spokesman at Fort Devens described the payment as "an outright gift from the government."

French 'Bluebeard' Doctor Seized in Paris Subway

MADRID, Spain, March 22 (AP).—A German dispatch from Paris said today that Dr. Marcel Petiot had been arrested by French police in a Paris subway station in connection with the death of from nine to 30 persons at his Paris villa.

BOMBS HIT CHURCHILL'S SCHOOL.

LONDON, March 21 [AP].—Historic old Harrow—Winston Churchill's school—was damaged by a firebomb shower in a recent night raid, it was announced today.

SEE LITTLE HOPE FOR NEW PEACE TALKS BY RUSSIA AND FINLAND

MOSCOW, Russia, March 22 (AP).—Further peace conversations between Moscow and Helsingfors appeared unlikely today in the wake of an official soviet announcement warning Finland that she must bear responsibility for whatever may happen as a result of her failure to accept Russian armistice proposals.

Finland's rejection of a soviet plan was announced last night by the Moscow radio, which said: "The Finnish government has taken upon itself entire responsibility for the consequences."

[Dispatches from Stockholm quoted Swedish correspondents in Berlin as saying the Germans predicted a Red army offensive in Estonia designed to clean up the Baltic states and place Finland in a hopeless military situation.]

7 Soldiers Die, 7 Hurt in Rifle Range Accident

Brownwood, Tex., March 22 (AP).—Seven soldiers of the 13th armored division, Camp Bowie, were killed and seven others were injured in an accident during gunnery practice with a mortar on a rifle range at the camp. Details of the accident were withheld. The dead included Pvt. Martin W. Trydell, whose father lives at Wyandotte, Mich.

SEVEN OVERSEAS HEARD IN RADIO MESSAGES HOME

Seven Chicagoans with America's fighting forces in England last night sent brief messages to their folks at home in a radio program, "Home Thoughts from England," over station WMAQ.

Corp. Marjorie Blackburn, a WAC, whose home is at 640 N. Wabash av., bewailed the lack in London of sweet milk, soft drinks, and "my old friends." She urged her girl friends to join the WACs. Corp Lucille Willis, 8110 S. Wolcott av., another WAC, said she missed hamburgers—with, ice cream, and Sunday night buffet suppers.

Lt. James J. O'Connor of 4126 Wilcox st. told of silencing a German howitzer battery during the Sicilian invasion. He was with an armored reconnaisance unit, he said, which so pasted the German battery that its men were glad to surrender when they crawled, white faced and shaken, out of the gun pits.

Others who spoke on the broadcast were Ensign Frances Stines of 5353 S. Artesian av., a navy nurse; Corp. Robert N. Sheets, 1546 Pratt blvd.; Yeoman Thomas C. Nielsen Jr., 1659 N. Francisco av., and Sgt. Harold Friedman, 1339 Lunt av.

CHICAGOANS GET $170 EACH FOR SINKING U-BOAT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AT A U. S. NAVY ANTI-SUBMARINE BASE IN ENGLAND, March 22.—Two Chicagoans, members of a 10 man Liberator crew credited with the first sinking of a submarine by a single plane operating from this base, tonight shared in a $1,700 jackpot for bagging the U-boat while protecting a convoy. They are Ensign Emerick [Emmy] Pohling, 24, a navigator, of 4803 N. Bell av., and Lt. George Enloe, a pilot, of 6332 Woodlawn av.

Pohling and Enloe, each of whom received $170 from the fund contributed by combat crews, will return home soon, Pohling for flight training and Enloe on an unrevealed assignment.

First reported in February, the sinking of the sub was officially confirmed today.

Chetniks Back on Air; Fight in Northern Serbia

New York, March 22 (AP).—Gen. Draja Mihailovich's chetnik radio station YTG returned to the air today after a 10 day silence laconically attributed to German action and announced that "in northern Serbia clashes with the enemy are continuing."

BOOST OUTPUT OF FOOD, FUEL, IRELAND URGED

LONDON, March 22 (AP).—Prime Minister Eamon de Valera, warning citizens of neutral Ireland of the risk entailed in depending on supplies of essential commodities from abroad during war time, today urged increased production of fuel and food at home.

2 SOLDIERS TELL HOW THEY FEEL ABOUT THE WAR

Men at Grips with Foe Reveal Reactions.

How combat soldiers feel about the war, the enemy, and strikers in war plants is told in picturesque GI language by two Chicagoans whose letters from the fighting front in Italy were received by THE TRIBUNE yesterday.

One of the letters, written by Staff Sgt. Daniel Rossi, inclosed a clipping from Time, a purported news magazine, which quoted Time Correspondent Will Lang as saying the American soldier doesn't know why he is fighting.

"This article headed 'Morale' sure was a slap in the face for the combatant American soldier," Sgt. Rossi writes. "I've been overseas for quite some time and in four foreign countries; this being my second campaign.

Hails Work of Veterans.

"Does Mr. Lang know much of certain infantry outfits who have gone into the line time and time again, campaign after campaign, invasion after invasion, until all these veteran outfits have very few of their original men, especially infantry? These few originals read newspapers and hear radio communiques about the millions of soldiers we have and what does GI Joe think?

"Well, what are all these millions of soldiers doing? they ask themselves. What, are we the only guys fighting this war? O, pardon me, we're veterans. Well, no matter how true the argument that a veteran is much better than a soldier new to action, remember the veteran is human; he is not bullet proof nor shrapnel proof; his body can take so much living on the ground and in wet holes.

Says They Know, All Right.

"Mr. Lang says when the American soldier is asked what he is fighting for, he doesn't know. Mr. Lang, I don't care for politics, nor international foofaraw. They don't have to ask the boys in the South Pacific, do they? You said it, brother, all we want is to get it over with and go home. This is not a picnic.

"The article on morale I'd say is tops for creating dissension, not to mention insulting a soldier's intelligence. It's high time they started paying homage to these rifle packing papas and other combatant soldiers. For, as I've said before, they are not bullet proof!"

Another letter, written by Pvt. James V. Archiere to Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Carpinelli, 2917 Jackson blvd., was forwarded to THE TRIBUNE by Mrs. Carpinelli. The letter was written from the Anzio beachhead in Italy.

Pleads for Home Support.

"I had so many close calls with shells and bombs landing near me that I often wonder how I am alive," it read. "The folks back home think the war is practically over. They don't realize how even in a little skirmish we lose many lives. I've never been religious before, but today I pray at least every hour of the day.

"I don't even see the end of the war in sight. The Jerries are damn good fighters and the last battles are the bloodiest. No one at home must relax one second. I'd like to take some of those defense workers who strike or take days off and let them watch a shell or bomb land."

Since writing this letter, Pvt. Archiere has been awarded the Purple Heart. He has been in the army since his 18th birthday two years ago.

Japanese Push Into India

Drive a 'Diversion'

NEW DELHI, India, March 22 (AP).—Japanese columns have made their first penetration of India and are pushing westward thru the Manipur mountain country in the direction of the key road junction of Imphal, 30 miles away.

The Japanese drive into India was announced by allied headquarters today in a bulletin which said little except that the enemy "continued to move to the west." Allied troops were engaging one of three Jap columns in the Chin hills south of Manipur.

"At some points the Japanese are in contact with our advanced patrols," said the bulletin.

Gen. Claude J. E. Auchinleck, commander in chief for India under Adm. Mountbatten, southeast Asia commander, minimized the seriousness of the Japanese threat. He said the Manipur drive was an effort to divert allied forces and relieve strong allied pressure against their lines on the Arakan front, 250 miles southwest.

Chinese forces continued their drive into the Mogaung valley near the China-Burma border.

BULLDOZERS AND TANKS DIG JAPS FROM PILLBOXES

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LOS NEGROS, Admiralty Islands, March 23 [Thursday].—The Admiralties conquest was settling down to bitter jungle fighting today, with American dismounted cavalrymen attempting to rout the Japs from well hidden pillboxes.

Tanks are getting a new type of workout. Patrols made up of one tank, one bulldozer, and a group of infantry are working into the jungles. The infantry goes first. When it runs into a pillbox a tank is called up to blast it. The bulldozer goes along to cut paths thru the gulleys too steep for the tanks. Among the tank crews is Corp. Harold Smith, 3152 N. Sawyer av., Chicago. Earl Vantreese, who worked on the Chicago subway, is a bulldozer operator.

The patrols yield many heroes. One patrol squad, commanded by Corp. Vincent Zlotow, 5151 Warwick av., Chicago, ran into a pillbox. Without waiting for a tank, Zlotow advanced from one side and Pvt. Irvin J. Mudd of Port Arthur, Tex., from the other.

"Come Out and Fight!"

Mudd crept up behind a tree under which the dugout was hidden, suddenly jumped onto the roof shouting, "Come out and fight, you so and sos!"

He threw a grenade into the hole and dived in, trench knife in hand. One Jap lay dead at the entrance, but two others inside were alive. Mudd slashed them. They died.

As if that were not enough, after the patrol returned to its base on the beach and the men were bathing in the surf, a sharpshooter started firing from a hilltop. Mudd ran from the water and, naked, grabbed a carbine and headed for the hill. That Jap also died, for Mudd is an expert shot, clad or unclad.

His Toe Is Casualty.

Another patrol led by Sgt. Clifford Schaefer of Chicago came across a swanky officers' quarters built on the side of a hill. It had a concrete floor and beds with mattresses.

Many pitiful cases were brought into an evacuation hospital commanded by Capt. R. L. Cushing of Hastings, Neb., grandnephew of the late Dr. Harvey Cushing, famed medical director with the last A. E. F. in France. But one patient came in laughing. While he was lying in a foxhole a Jap popped his head over the edge.

The cavalryman raised his carbine and fired. The bullet tore off part of his big toe, but went on into the Jap's head. Rising to look around, the cavalryman saw two other Japs less than 10 feet away. He killed both without injuring himself.

U. S. AND AUSSIE PATROLS JOIN IN GUINEA INTERIOR

Gain in Push Toward Jap Coast Base.

ALLIED HDQ., SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, March 23 [Thursday].—Australians in the interior of New Guinea have sent patrols to within seven miles of Bogadjim, an outpost for the coastal base of Madang 20 miles to the north, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

An Aussie patrol near Bogadjim, following the Kabenau river which runs to the sea, made contact with an American patrol moving up the shoreline from Saidor. There were small clashes with the Japanese.

To the northwest of Madang, large forces of bombers blasted enemy personnel, supplies, barges, and guns at Wewak, at Hansa bay, and along the Sepik river.

Headquarters also reported another unopposed raid on isolated Rabaul, New Britain, in which 133 tons of explosives were dropped.

In the St. Matthias Islands, whose invasion Monday completed the isolation of Rabaul, marines have strengthened their positions at Emirau without encountering Japanese opposition. Light enemy resistance was overcome in the initial landing.

Japs Are Surrendering.

BOUGAINVILLE, Solomon Islands, March 22 (AP).—A spokesman for Lt. Gen. Millard F. Harmon, South Pacific army commander, said Sunday that "dazed and undernourished enemy soldiers of the once crack 6th Japanese infantry division" were surrendering to United States troops on Bougainville while American patrols rounded up survivors of depleted units.

Lt. Howard J. Rancourt, Cleveland, O., an infantry officer, who participated in three bloody encounters, summed up the situation:

"It was just like slaughtering cornered rats."

Bomb Four Marshall Atolls.

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, March 22 (AP).—The campaign against Japanese garrisons in the eastern Marshall Islands continued Monday with bombing and strafing attacks on four enemy held atolls, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced today.

A heavy explosion was observed on one island objective, said the press release, and several fires and explosions on another.

170 FARMERS PUT UP $136,000 TO BID ON TRACTOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 22.—When one farm tractor was offered at an auction in Nebraska last week 170 farmers posted $136,000 in "good faith" money to bid for it, Sen. Wherry [R., Neb.] told the senate today.

"This is an example of how hard pressed our farmers are for farm machinery," Sen. Wherry declared, referring to plans to send 30,000 tractors to enemy occupied countries when they are freed. "We should see to it that our farmers get the equipment we need before we plan to send such equipment to foreign nations all over the globe."

The auction, he said, was held near Beatrice. Each bidder was required to post $800 before bidding for the machine.

"Our army and navy, the civilian population, and lend-lease are depending on the middle west to provide food," Sen. Wherry told THE TRIBUNE. "The farmers out there desperately need equipment, as shown by this auction, yet our government plans to send that machinery out of the country."

3,500 AMERTORP WORKERS VOTE NOT TO STRIKE

In a patriotic demonstration in the Forest Park plant of the Amertorp corporation, 3,500 members of the CIO United Steel Workers union agreed yesterday not to strike after company, union, and navy officials announced that they would jointly appeal a decision of the regional war labor board to the national WLB at Washington.

The regional WLB voted a 5 cent increase to workers who had demanded wage increases of from 5 to 20 cents an hour to put them on par with wages paid workers in the Dodge, Douglas, Electro-Motive, Studebaker, and Buick Chicago plants.

Comdr. W. L. Nunn of the 9th naval district, with Harry Harper, subregional director of the CIO union, and T. J. Coonce, plant manager, appealed to the workers to step up production rather than strike. Representatives of the three groups said they would request a rehearing in Washington, D. C.

TRAPPED BRITONS GET TEA.

LONDON, March 22 [AP].—One London family did not miss tea today, tho trapped under debris of a bomb shelter smashed in last night's raid. Wardens siphoned the tea down to them as rescue workers dug.

U. S. SUBMARINE SCORPION LISTED BY NAVY AS LOST

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—Loss of the American submarine Scorpion, the fourth submersible listed overdue and presumed lost in eight days, was announced by the navy today.

Comdr. Schmidt.

The loss brings to 23 the number of American submarines sunk since the war started, all except three of them by enemy action, presumably in Japanese waters.

The Scorpion carried a crew of 75, all listed as missing. Her commanding officer was Comdr. Maximilian G. Schmidt of Booneville, Mo.

Loss of the 1,525 ton Scorpion followed the disappearance of the Capelin and Sculpin, listed last Saturday, and the Corvina, listed on March 14. The Scorpion was built at Portsmouth, N. H., and launched July 20, 1942.

TOJO DISCOVERS AGAIN THAT THE CRISIS IS GRAVE

LONDON, March 22 (AP).—Premier Tojo told the Japanese diet today that Japan's military position has become grave and the empire now is facing battles which will decide its fate, the Berlin radio said today.

Tojo appeared before the diet to report on the war situation when it reconvened after a lengthy recess.

Widen Student Draft.

New York, March 22 (AP).—Education Minister Nagakage Okabe has announced over the Tokio domestic radio that Japanese high school and college students, hitherto conscripted for labor service for only four months of the year, now will be "mobilized as long and as many times as they are needed" in view of the "critical war situation," the OWI said tonight.

HERE'S LONDON PAPER'S STORY ON PATTON JOB

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 22.—The Daily Mirror today announced Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's new appointment in the following headline: "'Face Slapper' Patton Gets New Command."

Its account said: "Pistol packing Lt. Gen. Patton, commander of the United States 7th army, who last year cuffed a soldier ill in the hospital, has been replaced and appointed to the command of another field army."

The Mirror's story said Patton has been called "brilliant, profane, dynamic, bloodthirsty, daring, boastful, showy, and rough. He rides outside his tank, carries two pearl handled pistols in his belt, and is said to have challenged Marshal Rommel to a duel in battle."

KNIFE WIELDING ALLIES CUT THRU NAZIS IN CASSINO

Flame Throwers Help to Win More Forts.

ALLIED HDQ., NAPLES, March 22 (AP).—Allied infantry men, fighting with everything from flame-throwers to bush knives, advanced slowly tonight against bitter German resistance in the battle for Cassino and the eastern slopes of Monastery hill.

Field guns supported the foot troops from close range.

The Germans were ejected from several fortified buildings at the southwest corner of the ruined town and 5th army troops wired and mined the newly captured areas to prevent enemy infiltration.

Artillery Moved into Battle.

Allied artillery was hauled up today to blast point-blank at German parachute troops clinging to the ruins of the Continental hotel and a half-dozen other buildings at the southern edge of Cassino as the fight for that Nazi stronghold rose to its wildest pitch.

Behind this raking fire, New Zealand infantry slogged forward foot by foot, often engaging in hand to hand combat.

Fighting fully as bitter raged on Monastery hill west of Cassino, from which German guns and mortars pumped terrific fire into the battle areas. Two Nazi counterattacks against allied held Castle Hill, directly above the rubble of Cassino, were flung back today.

Main Positions Unchanged.

Describing the swirling battle, Lynn Heinzerling of the Associated Press wrote:

"The flashes of allied shells could be seen as they exploded in the German held portion of Cassino immediately at the base of Monastery hill. Clouds of smoke drifted over the town and valley as the battle grew in intensity without any major change in positions."

He said about 30 German prisoners were taken today, bringing to 268 the total seized in a week.

Today's allied war report described the fighting as "very heavy."

Front at Anzio Quiet.

The Anzio beachhead sector was mostly quiet except for heavy German artillery fire near Padiglione. On the Adriatic side of the battle line, patrol clashes occurred, especially in the Orsogna region.

Allied medium bombers and fighters flew about 800 sorties yesterday in weather that grounded the four engined fleet. They lost four planes and destroyed the same number of enemy craft. Allied targets included rail installations north of Rome.

GERMAN WAR REPORT.

Yesterday's German war bulletin, broadcast by Berlin said:

"In Italy, the enemy unsuccessfully continued his costly attacks against Cassino with maximum doggedness. In attacks against the Anzio and Nettuno harbors by our long range batteries, hits were scored on an enemy freighter. Naval coastal batteries took two enemy destroyers under fire in the Adriatic off San Giorgio and forced them to turn off. One was set ablaze."

VESUVIUS SPEWS MORE ASHES AND LAVA OVER AREA

POMPEII, Italy, March 22 (AP).—Mount Vesuvius lashed out anew tonight when the erupting volcano covered a strip of the countryside with a blanket of ashes two feet deep and pelted inhabitants with a rain of lava stones an inch in diameter.

Winds carried the volcanic ash as far as 25 miles southward to a point 10 miles beyond Salerno, but the heaviest rain of lava stones and ash fell westward along a strip three-quarters of a mile wide, particularly around Pompeii.

Inhabitants of the area, with washtubs over their heads and their children wrapped in blankets, began to flee the area afoot as showers of cinders and hot ashes blocked transport and hampered organized evacuation.

Fields were damaged by the rain of ashes, but no additional casualties were reported. The eruption already has claimed two lives.

Authorities said tomorrow should bring the climax of the eruption.

TRIPLE DAMAGE SUIT CHARGES OPA VIOLATIONS

The office of price administration yesterday filed a treble damage suit in federal district court against the Chicago Mill and Lumber company, 111 W. Washington st., charging it with selling at overceiling prices and with failure to maintain records and to file reports as required by OPA regulations.

Area OPA Director Shults said the company operated five plants, one in Chicago, and was one of the nation's largest manufacturers of wooden containers. The amount of damages, he said, will be determined when the charges are heard.

The suit also asked an injunction to prevent further overcharges.

RADIOS STOLEN FROM HOME.

Leonard Humphrey reported to police yesterday that burglars took two radios, a wrist watch, and an electric iron, all valued at $87, from his home at 9420 Eberhart av.

NAZIS PLEDGE TO PULL OUT, MAKE ROME OPEN CITY

LONDON, March 22 (AP).—The Germans today said they would completely demilitarize Rome, but it was regarded here as unlikely that the allies would take any cognizance of this unilateral declaration of an "open city."

The Nazi controled Rome radio said the Germans soon would withdraw all military installations and divert all military traffic from Rome "so that responsibility for the bombing of Rome will remain entirely with the allies." The statement said everything would be removed "which could serve as the slightest pretext for air terror."

Military men were skeptical of German intentions, because they believe the supplying of Nazi troops in the Anzio beachhead south of the city would be almost impossible without the use of Rome's highways and rail lines. All good routes from the north funnel thru Rome or its outskirts.

Effective "opening" of the city would entail either acceptance of the Germans' one-way declarations or a complicated system of inspection by neutral observers.

Marine Captive of Japs Is Well, Broadcast Says

Corp. Terrence Kirk, 27, of the marines, who was captured in China the day after Pearl Harbor, is still a prisoner of the Japanese, and well, his mother, Mrs. Anna Kirk of Mooseheart, near Aurora, was informed yesterday. She received word from a Rhode Island radio listener who had picked up a Tokio broadcast.

HERE IS STAGE WHERE CASSINO BATTLE FLAMES

Highway 6 enters Cassino from a little south of due east. It crosses the Rapido river, which flows north and south at this point, about half a mile before the town is reached. Here American engineers have constructed a bridge.

As the highway reaches the city a broad road forks off to the left while the highway continues straight thru the extreme southern part of the town to the base of Monastery hill. The heaviest fighting is at this end of the highway and in the triangle formed by the road forking to the left. The Continental hotel is near the end of the highway before it turns sharply south around Monastery hill.

After traveling thru the town to the hill the highway runs south for half a mile and then swings around Monastery hill and continues northwest toward Rome. Only a small portion of highway 6 is held by allied troops.

BERLIN BLASTED BY YANKS; R.A.F. RIPS FRANKFURT

U. S. Raiders Hit Capital in Fifth Day Smash.

LONDON, March 23 [Thursday] —(AP).—American heavy bombers, escorted by powerful fighter formations, struck Berlin yesterday, losing 13 bombers and 9 fighters, and the R.A.F. followed up with a strong smash at Frankfurt and other German targets in the night. The attack on Frankfurt was the 48th raid on that Nazi chemical and engineering center.

The Americans' attack on Berlin was their fifth daylight raid there in 19 days. The heavy bombers were estimated to have dropped 1,500 tons of explosives. They encountered no fighter opposition, but anti-aircraft fire was extremely heavy.

600 U. S. Bombers on Raid.

Six hundred Fortress and Liberators participated in the Berlin assault. An official report said they were accompanied by "very strong" fighter formations, indicating the escort was of equal or larger size.

Thru breaks in a heavy overcast, bomber crewmen said they saw hundreds of fires in Berlin.

The fighter escorts circled over Berlin for a considerable period and later left the bombers to strafe airdromes, railways, and other targets in Germany and enemy vessels along the coast.

London Raided Again.

German raiders returned to London, Wednesday night, while the British capital still was cleaning up the damage caused by the attack of more than 100 Nazi planes the night before.

The return visit, however, was minor and the alert lasted only half an hour. Only a few planes reached the metropolitan section. One was destroyed.

ADM. KENDALL SEES TOUGHER WAR WITH JAPS

The Pacific war will become increasingly difficult for American troops as the Jap forces fighting a delaying action from island to island are able to shorten their supply lines and the allied armies are forced to lengthen theirs, Rear Adm. H. S. Kendall, commanding officer of an air wing in the South Pacific for two years, said yesterday.

Rear Adm. Kendall.

How much more difficult, he said, will be one of the main factors determining the length of the war in the Pacific. The ability of the average Jap pilot, he said, has decreased somewhat in the past two years, but the Jap air force is still a powerful one capable of inflicting great damage.

Adm. Kendall is replacing Rear Adm. Albert C. Read as head of the naval air technical training command with headquarters in Chicago. Adm. Read has been transferred to the east coast.

DENIES IRISH RED CROSS EXCLUDED U. S. MINISTER

LONDON, March 22 (AP).—General Secretary M. MacNamara of the Irish Red Cross denied today that David Gray, United States minister to Ireland, was excluded from an Irish Red Cross function at Dublin castle St. Patrick's night, which Japanese and German envoys attended.

MacNamara referred to a story on the Irish allied situation written on March 20 by Roger D. Greene, Associated Press correspondent, after an eight day stay in Dublin, and said: "The function was held to raise funds for the society and therefore there were no invitations issued to anybody. Hundreds of prominent citizens and all foreign representatives in Dublin were sent circulars notifying them of the holding of the function and inclosing an application form for tickets. No application for tickets was received from the American minister."

Greene was present in the American legation when Gray learned of the function thru an account in the Irish Press, the newspaper of Prime Miniser Eamon de Valera. The minister obviously took it for granted that the axis envoys had been invited since the party was held in Dublin castle, an Irish government establishment, and concluded that he had been deliberately excluded.

When Greene attempted to file a story on the Irish situation from Dublin and mentioning that Gray had not attended the affair, which likewise was not attended by the British minister, the Irish censor would not approve it.

Turpentine Blast Fatal to Store Owner in Joliet

James Pennuto, 60, of 501 Benton st., Joliet, was fatally injured yesterday when fumes from a turpentine barrel he was welding in the rear of his hardware store at 364 Cass st., Joliet, exploded. The blast caused damage estimated at $5,000. Austin Silvey, who was in the store, escaped injury.

JESSIE SUMNER URGES INQUIRY ON PACIFIC PLAN

BY LAURENCE BURD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 22.—Rep. Sumner [R., Ill.] today called upon the house military affairs committee for an immediate investigation into her recent proposals for a unified Pacific command under Gen. MacArthur and a delay of the "second front" invasion of Europe.

At the same time, Miss Sumner said she has been advised on excellent authority that a Pacific campaign under MacArthur would defeat Japan in a year.

The congresswoman's proposals were made in two bills offered last week. One calls for coördinating the five Pacific commands under MacArthur and the immediate shipment to that area of all equipment needed for total war.

The other directs postponement of the European invasion until America's allies—Britain and Russia — guarantee self-government to European countries as provided in the Atlantic charter and until the military necessity of such an apparently costly venture is assessed.

Rep. Sumner's demand for a committee inquiry into the measures was made in a letter sent today to all members of the group. She suggested in an interview that Gen. Marshall, army chief of staff, and Adm. King, chief of naval operations, be called by the committee.

Miss Sumner's letter said that American military experts should be summoned before the committee for a "frank" report so that congress may "save the situation."

"In Europe," the letter said, "the thwarting of American war aims and the unexpected developments in Italy already have made the promised invasion this spring a quixotism impossible to prepare adequately.

"In the Pacific, it is the opposite. There, delay militates against the United States."

JAP-AMERICANS BALK AT ARMY DRILL; 28 HELD

Fort McClellan, Ala., March 22 (AP).—Twenty-eight Japanese-Americans who refused to take military training at the military replacement center here have been placed in the camp stockade to await court martial, Brig. Gen. Wallace C. Philoon, commanding general, announced today.

Gen. Philoon said the men were members of a battalion which began training recently and that all other members of the group had accepted training willingly. He said most of them had been inducted into the army recently.

"The men in question have lived for several years in Japan and have become indoctrinated with the military philosophy of that country," Gen. Philoon said.

KEEP U. S. RIGHTS IN WORLD'S AIR TRANSPORT: RICK

'Don't Give Fields Away,' Flyer Advises.

globe, and each plane will be equipped with a meter to measure the consumption, the cost of which will be paid for in the same manner as our gas and electric bills are today.

"We must learn to visualize the earth as banded not only by the unseen lines of longitude and latitude, but surrounded as well by a comprehensive but invisible network of global airways. But we mustn't forget that planes can't fly great distances—no matter how fast they go — without stopping at ports where fuel, repairs, and weather information are available and, incidentally, a few pay passengers.

"These bases must be developed in all parts of the world to meet the needs of a system of global air transport.

Fears for Airdromes.

"While they [American leaders] are making no headway on the issues of monopoly versus open competition, other countries are shaping up their programs for post-war international air transportation. And the bitter irony is that the stepping stones of these networks —the well equipped airdromes built by American men with American money and material thruout the world from Greenland's icy mountains to India's coral strand—seem to be destined to be given away as Christmas gifts with Uncle Sam in the role of Santa Claus.

"Instead of having agreements which now permit the use of these well equipped air bases for only a period of six months after the war is over, we should have a five point program in agreement with all other nations for the use of these facilities." He then listed the five "aviation freedoms."

Urges Unified Command.

"It would be impossible to establish sound and workable international airways systems overnight. Therefore, in order to protect Uncle Sam's stake on the international airways, and to prevent others from jumping our claim, I present this recommendation. Before the end of the war there should be established a unified army and navy transport command for the purpose of continuing our operations around the world.

"I have stated before—and I shall state again—and again . . . we must definitely and unalterably oppose the single international aviation company—or the so-called chosen instrument.

"For that would be the sure and direct route to the un-American evils of government ownership—or inner-sanctum cartels. It is the road to ruin which our friendly competitors in the old world would like to see America take.

"Today, our independent air transport industry is being attacked from two sides—on one side by certain railroad interests, and on the other side by certain steamship interests. These groups are waging a campaign to break down the provisions of law designed to guarantee the independence of America's air transportation.

Surface Authority Limited.

"The present law does not prohibit railroads and steamship companies from controling or operating air lines. It does, however, contain a provision, in line with sound precedent in other transportation legislation, to assure that a surface carrier can be permitted to operate or control an air line only if the air line is supplementary to the surface carrier's surface operations.

"It is the purpose of the provision to forestall, by express mandate of law, any possibility that surface carriers might attain a position dominating this new form of transportation, driving out independent interests, and suppressing its development.

"Today aircraft manufacturers have a 20 billion dollar enterprise. That is more than four times the size of the automobile industry at its pre-war peak.

"Our aircraft industry is producing planes at the rate of approximately 9,000 per month, as well as additional aircraft engines and equipment necessary. In exactly three years, the industry has produced 150,000 planes.

"Every effort must be made by our congress in coöperation with the aviation leaders to keep this vast industry at work by creating a post-war policy that will keep our aircraft factories operating at a steady tempo when victory is ours, and I offer the following recommendations:

"1. Encourage the expansion of domestic air lines, including pickup and local services.

Scrap Obsolete Planes.

"3. Scrap all obsolete combat and transport planes and plane equipment used by our military services over six months old, and return the metal to augment our dwindling supply.

"4. Lease only those transport planes used by our military services during the war that are in good condition and of the latest production series to our domestic and international air transport services.

"5. Limit the use of these transport planes to our commercial companies to not less than one year and not more than two years to bridge the gap between the design of new and more efficient types of transport planes and their production.

"6. Advocate that all air transport companies to whom the government has leased these obsolete models for a year or two years, place orders with the manufacturing industry for an equal number of the new and more efficient types, then scrap the leased ones as manufacturers deliver new ones.

Develop New Cargo Planes.

"7. Develop new and more efficient types of cargo planes to be used for the ever-increasing tonnage of air cargo.

"8. Keep the training program of approximately 600 training schools and colleges active, by leasing to these schools and colleges the surplus training planes for a period of one, two, or three years with the express understanding that each training school will place an order for a new and more up to date training plane for each one leased to them by the government. As the new planes are received from the manufacturer, the leased ones would be returned to the government to be scrapped.

"9. And last, but not least, enact legislation that will make all first class mail that travels beyond 150 miles air mail."

FLOOD WATERS FALL AS 'FORT' BOMBS ICE JAM

Miles City, Mont., March 22 (AP).—Four thousand pounds of explosives dropped from a Flying Fortress broke an ice jam in the Yellowstone river, and this city today was cleared of a flood.

A bomber from the Rapid City, S. D., air base made its bomb run late yesterday along the five mile ice gorge and released its charges in strings of four and five to churn the ice block into activity.

The flood level started dropping an hour after the bombing.

MAYBE... Sliding Doors on safe cars tomorrow

BUT... OIL-PLATING YOUR ENGINE is like outdoing the future—today

"A bird in the hand" is worth a whole flock of 1950 cars with wings—or even more moderate 1945 models that aren't here yet either. Better grasp the big advancement that's ready now. ... Better have your engine OIL-PLATED!

Conoco Nth motor oil, for your needed Spring change, at once brings your engine internal OIL-PLATING —the foe of cursed engine acids. These unavoidable "leftovers" of combustion were a menace even when partly driven off by the steady heat of long trips. But rationing brought short jumps, with overcool operation that magnified acid attacks. It's high time now—in any car, under any conditions—to check rampant acids. You'll succeed with Conoco Nth oil, containing an advanced synthetic. This acts "magnet-like" to make metals attract and hold their shield of acid-resistant OIL-PLATING.

Though your engine's cool or hot—running or not—OIL-PLATING doesn't all promptly drain down to the crankcase. And where there's OIL-PLATING, the acids that aim to destroy are told to "Keep Off!" That's how Nth oil can advance your car's chance to keep going. Change for Spring today at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company

BOARD DEMANDS ADAMS QUIT OWI AND BE INDUCTED

Ex-Politico Faces Listing as Draft Delinquent.

BY THOMAS MORROW.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Champaign, Ill., March 22.—Homer Matt Adams, once a power in the downstate Democratic machine, may be indispensable to the office of war information, but to his draft board he is just another fellow named Gus.

Homer Matt Adams.

Unless Homer Matt shows up before or makes arrangements with his draft board by April 1 he will be marked down as delinquent. This was disclosed yesterday by the Champaign-Urbana draft board, which ruled that he is not essential to the war effort in his present job.

Just Following the Rules.

Adams is presently reported in charge of the allied radio in North Africa and chairman of the allied publication board for Italy, Sicily, and Sardinia. Officially the draft board has not heard from him and has put him in 1-A and ordered him up for induction.

"We are just following the rules," said D. C. Dodds, draft board member, "as they apply to every one, including Adams."

The question as to how Adams got his job did not come before the draft board, but it drew considerable conjecture from his fellow townsmen. No one remembered that Adams had fitted himself to run radio stations or edit publications. Some even felt that politics may have entered into the matter.

"Good to His Family."

"The fact that a man took advantage of Democratic landslides doesn't necessarily stamp him indispensable to the war effort in Europe," said Atty. Peter P. Schaefer, local Democrat.

Tom R. Garman, Democratic state representative from Urbana, was asked about Adams' qualifications to run a radio station or operate a publication.

"Pretty versatile fellow," opined W. E. C. Clifford, former Democratic state senator and party leader. "He used to jump around pretty fast in politics. Always had a good sponsor, too."

First time the draft board heard about Homer Matt was in April, 1943. A request that he be allowed to leave the country on special work for OWI was honored for six months.

A second request was denied on Dec. 3, 1943. By this time the board had begun taking fathers and the board believed that Adams, a father, could be spared from the OWI.

When the Adams number came up and there were no tidings from the young Democrat, the board ordered him to report for pre-induction examination. The automatic 21 day delay ended March 20 and still the board heard nothing.

COURTNEY SEES POLITICAL RULE IN INSTITUTIONS

Danville, Ill., March 22 [Special].—State's Atty. Courtney, Democratic candidate for governor, charged here tonight that state institutions are being used as "pawns in the game of political patronage."

"A group of teachers from state institutions called on me at Jacksonville," Courtney said. "The extent to which politics dominates the teaching force in some of these institutions as described by those teachers is almost unbelievable. It is a system of rewarding petty politicians at the expense of the unfortunate inmates. I can assure the people of Illinois that something will be done about this when I am governor of Illinois."

At the same time Sen. Lucas challenged Republican leaders to either give up condemning high taxes, burocracy, government spending, and increased debt or thumb their noses at the "political pap" accepted each year by Illinois.

MOVE TO DEPOSE FARLEY AS N. Y. STATE CHAIRMAN

Albany, N. Y., March 22 [Special].—An attempt by pro-Roosevelt Democrats in this state to purge James A. Farley to clear the way for a fourth term drive came into the open here today with the O'Connell Democratic organization putting itself on record in favor of Farley's replacement as Democratic state chairman.

John J. O'Connell Jr., Albany county Democratic chairman and nephew of Daniel P. O'Connell, the "boss," said the organization is actively in favor of a new chairman and will go down the line for selection of J. V. Cullen of Orange county as Farley's successor.

Brooklyn Leader Is Key.

Despite the forthrightness of Chairman O'Connell's statement, leading members of the organization were quick to disclaim the taking of leadership in any drive to oust Farley, who has held the post for 13 years. Both they and friends of Farley said the question of Farley's reëlection would in the final analysis be up to Frank V. Kelly, leader of Kings county [Brooklyn].

Holds Balance of Power.

The Kings county bloc has 46 of the 300 state committee members and is regarded as the balance of power in any anti-Farley drive. Popularity of the former Democratic national chairman in upstate counties is such that Farley opponents would need Kings county even if the movement had the combined support of the O'Connell machine, Edward J. [Paving Blocks] Flynn's Bronx organization, Tammany and the Buffalo and Utica organizations, it was said.

Farley, who has been generally credited with having put Mr. Roosevelt in the White House, broke with the President in 1940 over the third term and was at odds with him again in 1942 over the gubernatorial nomination in New York. The Farley candidate, John J. Bennett, won the nomination, but got a crushing defeat from Thomas E. Dewey.

HELD ON ROBBERY CHARGES.

Robert Morris, 19, Negro, of 3457 S. Dearborn st., was held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge John R. McSweeney in Boys' court on four charges of robbery.

SWING TO DEWEY SHOWN IN G.O.P. DELEGATE POLL

Willkie Emphasized 'Least Desirable.'

Gov. Dewey of New York is, at the moment, the 1944 Presidential choice of Republican leaders who were delegates to the 1940 national convention, as expressed in a poll conducted by James S. Kemper, Chicago insurance man.

Kemper announced yesterday the final standings in the poll, which he began last year and on which he reported Sept. 11 and Feb. 26. In that time, Dewey has gained sharply and Wendell Willkie, altho still in second place among four voted on, has lost standing at each stage and furthermore is now tagged by 65.8 per cent as "least desirable candidate."

Marked Swing to Dewey.

The six months' trend has carried Dewey from a one-third to a two-third favorite, with a noticeable rise in the last month. The final score for the four possibilities considered—Dewey, Willkie, Gov. Bricker of Ohio, and Gen. MacArthur—follows:

	March 22.	Feb. 26.	Sept. 11.
Dewey	66.6%	65.54%	36.21%
Willkie	15.7	17.6	18.66
Bricker	14	13.48	20.33
MacArthur	3.7	3.37	6.96

Asked to approach the suggested candidates from the opposite viewpoint and rate them as "least desirable," the final score was much the same as the showing a month ago. Willkie led this reversed order with 65.8 per cent; MacArthur, 21.5; Bricker, 12, and Dewey, .7 per cent.

Willkie Rated Poorly.

Kemper, who was a delegate to the 1940 convention and is a candidate for a seat in this year's convention, asked also for a rating between each combination of two of the four possibilities considered. The finals showed Dewey outstanding in each pairing and Willkie on the short end in each instance.

Dewey's standing against Willkie was 84.2 per cent to 15.7; against Bricker, 82.5 to 17.5, and against Gen. MacArthur, 92.7 to 7.3.

Preference for the Vice Presidential nominee was expressed on the assumption that the Presidential choice of each man polled would win that place. In this secondary poll, the finals showed gains for Gov. Green of Illinois, Gov. Warren of California, Bricker, MacArthur, and former Gov. Stassen of Minnesota.

Gov. Warren led this list, with 46.3 per cent. Gov. Green was given 2.5 per cent, which was a gain from 1.77 as shown in the Feb. 26 report.

7 MORE ANSWER A. P. POLL; 2 ARE FOR M'ARTHUR

Seven more Illinois candidates for delegates to the Republican national convention have replied to the questions sent out by the Associated Press, a tabulation disclosed yesterday. Forty-seven of 80 candidates have replied, but 29 of them were "open minded" as to Presidential timber.

Delegate aspirants reporting since the first results of the poll were made public March 15 and their sentiments are: Frank R. Reid [11th district], and Henry J. Shelton [4th], both for MacArthur; Edward Kaufman [22d], Dewey; Vandorf Gray [2d], Kaiser, and George Hellman [1st], John Mackler [3d], and Mary E. Lahey [7th], open minded.

OUT OF THIS WORLD.

Mr. Hull has announced 17 principles which, he says, guide our foreign policy. They don't.

Mr. Hull says, for example, that the United States favors an international organization which, by force if necessary, will keep peace among the nations. There is no evidence that the American people believe in this panacea; on the contrary, they voted against it every time they had a chance, from 1918 onward. There is no evidence that the plan will work. And, above all, there is all the evidence that can be needed to prove that our principal allies are not in agreement with him.

Russia is laying claim to the Baltic states and Poland on the theory that her security demands the possession of these territories. For the same reason she wants to be boss of central Europe beyond her borders after they have been greatly expanded westward. This measures Stalin's belief in Mr. Hull's principles. Russia places no reliance on collective security and international armies. She is looking out for herself. Mr. Hull seems to think that the Moscow declaration, another of his 17 principles, is binding on his allies. Their conduct proves the contrary. Stalin claims half of Poland, Mr. Churchill says amen, and Mr. Roosevelt makes no effective protest. If Mr. Hull is sincere about his principles he ought to resign in protest.

Another plank declares the equality before the law of all sovereign nations, large and small, strong and weak alike. Which brings us to India and the brown peoples who were under the Dutch yoke across the Pacific. What of them? Mr. Hull says that such peoples [if they are not already sovereign] should be promised their freedom as America pledged independence to the Filipinos. If England and Holland refuse to go this far, and there is no slightest reason to believe they will give up their empires, which side will Mr. Hull take when the wars of independence are declared? Shall we use the international army to maintain the status quo by subduing the natives of India or shall we turn it against the powerful oppressors? Mr. Hull doesn't say. At this point his principles clash and it seems altogether likely that his sectional prejudice against colored people adds to his confusion.

Mr. Hull's declaration, as these examples show, is vague and filled with contradictions. More especially, it muffs a great opportunity. There can be few Germans who still believe they can win the war. There must be millions of Germans who are now convinced that sooner or later they will be defeated. Mr. Hull had an opportunity to declare the terms on which peace could be made. We cannot deal with Hitler, but Mr. Hull could have announced the principles of peace with a Germany freed of Hitler. He chose not to do so. The price of his refusal to face this issue, which some day must be faced, may well be staggering.

THE KIND OF FARMERS WHO WANT WILLKIE.

Of the major farm organizations of the United States the only one that has not been completely antagonized by Mr. Roosevelt's farm policies is the National Farmers' union, headed by James G. Patton.

The Farmers' union has been spoken of as the most radical of farm organizations. A more accurate view is that it is composed largely, altho not exclusively, of farmers who have been unsuccessful in farming the land for a living and have turned to farming the government.

Mr. Patton's recent speech in Chicago was so complete an indorsement of the White House economic policies that if it wasn't written by a member of the palace guard or the CIO press bureau it well could have been. Among other things he called for 15 or 16 billions in additional taxes, plus enforced savings—all to be imposed on those earning more than $3,000 a year.

Of Presidential candidates Mr. Patton said in an interview given before his speech: "I am recommending to our members that if they are Democrats they should vote for Roosevelt and if Republicans they should support Willkie. Only these two men will give us a clear view of the issues involved in the election."

The real farmers of the nation have no more use for Mr. Willkie than they have for Mr. Roosevelt. They know that his hogs down at Rushville, like Mr. Roosevelt's Christmas tree farm, are the trappings of a Wall street squire.

The farm support for Mr. Willkie is just like his labor support, his big business support, and his support in the press. It comes from those whose heart and soul are in the fourth term and who think it would be a lovely thing if the voters again were restricted to a choice between Tweedledum and Tweedledee.

If these New Dealers think Mr. Willkie is such a magnificent candidate why don't they nominate him themselves?

NO TIME FOR TIMIDITY.

Republicans in the senate have just completed a reorganization of their party machinery, designed to furnish the aggressive leadership that the voters have a right to expect if they are to support Republican candidates this fall. While this reorganization looks forward to the party's control of the senate after the election, its benefits will not be deferred until that time.

House Republicans have been working on a party program of legislation, a labor that Republican senators have also undertaken. The fruits of this planning cannot be expected in this congress, however, since the initiation of legislation is normally the function of the majority party. Until November the most useful work that the present minority can do is to correct the mistakes of the administration and uncover its abuses of power.

In this endeavor the house Republicans have many stout privates in the ranks, but their generalship has been, to say the least, unimaginative. Shafer, Hoffman, and Engel of Michigan, Halleck of Indiana, Miller of Missouri, Busbey, Mason, Sumner, and Vursell of Illinois, and other representatives, particularly those from the midwest, have been fighting valiantly to expose and end the maladministration of the New Dealers. Unfortunately, they have had to fight more often than not as individuals, not as members of a team.

There was undoubtedly a time when good political strategy dictated that the Republican minority hold back and let the burden of criticism fall on the conservative Democrats. That strategy cannot be continued indefinitely. Its usefulness has already passed.

Timidity has ceased to be a virtue. If the Republican party expects the nation to entrust it with leadership in the present crucial state of our affairs, it must show its willingness to lead. If the Republicans in the house cannot bolster their present leadership, they must find more vigorous and courageous captains.

DISHONEST CENSORSHIP.

During the invasion of Sicily last July American ground and naval forces shot down 23 American transport planes by mistake, killing 410 American paratroopers. Eight months later the chance remark of a soldier who had returned on leave caused the story to be released. Every war correspondent in the Mediterranean theater knew about the tragedy within days of its happening and some of them, including John Thompson of THE TRIBUNE, saw it take place. The American army knew about it, the German army knew about it, and most of the well informed persons in America, including congressmen, government officials, newspaper men, and those who had talked to returned soldiers knew about it, but army censorship kept it from the public for eight months nonetheless.

The same thing happened in the famous incident of Gen. Patton's slap. Every American soldier in southern Europe and Africa and a good many people in America discussed that affair months before the broadcast of a radio rumor monger caused the war department to tell the official story. This is dishonest censorship and it began with Pearl Harbor, when the New Deal war lords covered their mistakes with deceit and suppression, and it has been continuing ever since. The outrageous persecution of Col. Dyess, the hero who escaped from a Philippine Island prison camp, was an effort to cover up lack of preparations in the Philippines.

Only within recent months Harper's magazine published a discussion by Fletcher Pratt of the gallant submarine campaign in the Pacific which disclosed that our navy had established depots of valves and similar spare parts for American submarines at the British bases in Hongkong and Singapore. The American submarine base at Cavite was wrecked by bombs on Dec. 8, 1941, and Hongkong fell on Christmas day of that year. Singapore surrendered while the forlorn defenders of Bataan were still fighting. Thereafter our submarines fought on with only such repairs as they could improvise.

Alternate bases are a wise provision, but the Washington planners picked alternates no more formidable than our own base at Manila, which they apparently had little hope of holding. The heads of our government were as much deluded by British propaganda on the strength of Singapore as were the British themselves, and the only ones who were not fooled were the Japs. The New Dealers managed to keep this fact under cover thru dishonest censorship. The heroic campaign of American submarine sailors, fighting the Pacific war under the greatest of handicaps and doing a lot toward winning it, had to be kept under cover, too, so that the stupidity of the Washington administrators would not be exposed. Mr. Pratt broke this censorship down, but only after more than two years had elapsed.

The proportion of legitimate war news that is being withheld from the public for political reasons, mostly to cover up blunders and maladministration in Washington, is too high to exist in a nation that claims to be a republic of free men. Unless crooked censorship is lifted there will be no republic. Newspapers, newspaper associations, and their correspondents should band together to list instances of crooked censorship. They should name the censor who is responsible for withholding or distorting or falsifying the news in each instance and expose him. Like crooks in any other kind of a racket, these fellows cannot stand exposure. Even if they escape punishment they will have to cut and run and their chance to repeat the offense will be lessened.

CHANGING SPOTS.

[Providence, R. I., Evening Bulletin.]

We knew, when the cleaners went in for a chemical analysis of each spot submitted to them, that something big would come of it, and here it is: 40,000 cleaners report only 250,000 gravy spots in 1943 compared with a peak load of 5,500,000 in 1941. They report a decided increase in spinach and green vegetable spots and announce that last year they removed 300,000 face powder stains from army uniforms.

This is undoubtedly the most sweeping and illuminating study in spots yet undertaken by the profession. It confirms what everybody already knew and is therefore doubly gratifying, tho a word of caution is necessary in studying the curves.

In reading the sharp gravy drop, for example, amateur statisticians would do well to keep in mind the equally sharp upswing in caution which frugality imposed upon the average spotter between '41 and '43, when the entire nation grew decidedly gravy conscious.

The increase in green vegetable spots cannot be read otherwise than as a healthy sign. The nation is going in for its supplementary vitamins.

LORE OF VESUVIUS.

The first recorded eruption of Mount Vesuvius, the world's most studied volcano, gave the ruins of Pompeii to classical scholars and also killed a Roman scientist. He was the Elder Pliny, who had a strong bent toward observations in natural history, and his curiosity caused his death.

The incident is described at some length in a letter by his nephew, called Pliny the Younger, to Tacitus, the historian. The philosopher, aged 56, was then in command of a fleet based on the Campanian coast. Seeing the eruption from his ship, he landed for closer investigation at the port of Stabiae, where he dined in the house of a friend. [The town was destroyed later.] In the middle of the night earthquakes and showers of volcanic rocks alarmed the party, and they left the house to seek a safer place, with pillows on their heads for protection. After several hours Pliny collapsed from gas poisoning and inhalation of fiery vapor. His body was found without burns the next day.

This great eruption had been preceded by 16 years of earthquakes, but the inhabitants had clung to the fertile slopes of the sinister hill. From their vineyards came a wine called Vesuvinum to fill household jars in the Pompeian villas. Today it is called Lachryma Christi.

The eruption of 1906 was one of Vesuvius' most destructive performances. A young American lecturer happened to land in Naples the day before with a new gadget called a motion picture camera. Like Pliny, he was curious, and while the inhabitants were running away ne moved toward the volcano. He was Burton Holmes, who exhibited scenes from those old-fashioned flickers in Chicago two weeks ago.

SONNET IN GRAY.

My window looks on a meaningless monochrome
Of naked, mist-gray boughs and barren sand—
Of ghostly waters, gray in the winds that roam
March-cold between gray skies and grayer land—
And up and down its pane, now poised, now veering
In arabesques of gray, seagulls unravel
Their wonders of swift flight—gay elves appearing
My mind, too, like this window of gray looks out
On a waste of gray beneath bedraggled skies,
While memory down the March-cold gales of doubt
Flies, vainly seeking a haven as it flies—
And ever behind the pane my heart sits waiting
What fair, returning day of April's stating!

Reverie Over a Melodeon.

It came with the bride to her new home, and that was over 80 years ago when she was a young slip of a girl who sang and could play on her beloved instrument. It was an exquisite piece of furniture with graceful lines and a polish of satiny glow, and its tones were soft and melodious as no other instrument's ever have been.

It came to pass that the oldest child was musical, and her first lessons were on the soft-toned melodeon; the teacher of district No. 1, Sadie Ruggles, walked home with the children once a week, and taught Mary all she knew. It was a great day for the children when Teacher walked home with them and stayed to supper, and it was a joy to Mother, listening to the melodeon coming to life and recalling the days when she sang to its music. Could a melodeon go to heaven? It would sort well with the choir there, and the three standing lovingly nearest would be Mother, Mary, and Sadie, sweet singers, all three. S'Amuser.

TO AN UNFIN—— AP-T B-LD-G.

Gaunt skeleton, unlovely and unsung,
By what strange circumstance were you left here
In summer sun and winter wind
To bleach your bones against the changeling sky?
Your vacant galleries, your empty rooms—
O, the sad shame that they should never know
This warm and vibrant thing that we call life:
The happy shouts of boys and girls at play,
The breathless sighs of lovers pledging troths,
The postman's cheery ring, the grocer boy's pert knock,
Familiar sounds and traffic of a home.
Sometimes at eventide as I pass by
I seem to hear soft voices in the gloom
And lean attentive ear to catch their whispering,
To find 'tis but the vagrant, homeless wind.
Gaunt skeleton, unlovely and unsung,
Far kinder fate do you deserve than this.

The First Heartbreak.

When I was a little boy, I remember one day mother said brightly: "Tomorrow will be the first day of spring."

I believed it literally, and when I retired I looked forward to the morning when I should arise, and when I did I rushed to the window, expecting to find the trees green, the air warm, and the birds singing in the branches. Instead I saw a swirling March blizzard, and snow inches deep on every branch and bough, and on the ground.

It was my first great heartbreak, for I learned that one cannot depend that things are what they are said to be. Roy Engel.

PROTECTION AGAINST MEASLES.

APPARENTLY we are on the trail of a plan which will spare thousands of bouts with measles. While the suggestion was made more than 40 years ago that convalescent serum could be utilized as a preventive, only within recent years has its use been fairly widespread.

The procedure is based upon the fact that for a long time following recovery from this malady, the blood of the patient will contain neutralizing elements which may be supplied to one who is not immune. As we know, the disease can be dangerous, particularly to young children. As we would expect, there are more fatalities among tots who live in crowded quarters and under bad sanitary conditions. It would be desirable, therefore, to find a relatively safe substance which will save youngsters from what may be a prostrating illness.

Convalescent serum is prepared by pooling the fluid elements of the blood of a large number of children and adults who have had measles within approximately 60 days. Naturally, each one is tested for syphilis and only those who have negative reactions are permitted to contribute to the cause.

A recent report by Stillerman and others records their experience with 502 subjects. Complete success was obtained in 50 per cent. In only 1 per cent did the ailment manifest itself in full force. The remaining 49 per cent presented comparatively mild attacks. Every member of the group had been exposed to the infection.

The most favorable part of the study deals with complications. Only one per cent of those who received the serum developed either middle ear disease or pneumonia. All came thru the ordeal satisfactorily. In addition, catarrhal symptoms were far less, while severe seizures with bronchitis, bleary eyes, etc. were conspicuous by their absence. The fever was not as high, and while the rash appeared, it was not as extensive.

It seems reasonable to assume that the prompt administration of immunizing doses of measles serum to susceptible children is fully justified. Even tho protection does not last, especially with babies, it will postpone the visitation until they are older. The danger which attaches to the modified disease is so slight that it may be regarded as a safeguarding ailment. There is little or no risk of further attacks later in life.

Should the disorder strike, there is not much that can be done other than to keep the patient warm, protect him from drafts, provide plenty of fluids [fruit juices], and maintain free elimination via the kidneys. Laxatives in the early stages are not advised. If constipation is marked, a warm water enema is preferred.

Not infrequently, the eyes will demand special attention and a weak boric acid solution may be employed for cleansing. This will prevent the lids from sticking together. If the secretions are unusually gummy, the margins may be anointed with lanolin or petroleum jelly. An old fashioned remedy — namely, applying camphorated oil to the chest—is comforting and enough of the active ingredient [camphor] will be absorbed to allay bronchial irritation. While the air of the room should be moist, it need not be saturated with water. If appetite is capricious, food should not be forced. Hunger will return with restoration to health.

RADIO PROGRAMS.

Mrs. M. writes: Is it possible for children to become so overwrought by exciting radio programs that the temperature will rise?

REPLY.

I feel strongly on this point. Creaking doors, shrieks, and other manifestations of horror are anything but hygienic for our youngsters. Their nervous systems will not develop stability under the influence of overstimulation. This statement is easily proved if you take the child's temperature and count the pulse at the end of the episode. Both may be higher than normal. Protection likewise may be carried to extremes.

LINGERING FEVER.

R. M. writes: My young daughter had a strep throat several months ago. Her temperature continues to rise to 99.6 in the evening. She says she feels all right but I am somewhat concerned.

REPLY.

There is probably a slight residue of infection which may need to be watched. Quiet and repose will help. In the meantime, the family physician may wish to make an examination at monthly intervals.

SLEEPING POSTURE.

J. P. writes: Would sleeping on the left side or with the arms over the head affect the heart?

REPLY.

Assume any posture that is comfortable—arms akimbo or extended above the head. The chest wall is sufficiently rigid so that pressure on the cardiac organ is practically nil, no matter how you lie.

DIAGNOSTIC AID.

D. K. writes: What is Murphy's sign?

REPLY.

An indication of gall bladder disease. The patient is unable to take a deep breath when the fingers are pressed beneath the ribs on the right side.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

The Morbid Many.

Los Angeles, Cal.—If you have ever covered any kind of a trial, criminal or civil, the part that baffles you is the cash customer—the goof who actually wants to see some one nailed to the cross or questioned until she [or he] cries, the person to whom any trial in any court in the United States is a big hoopla game. The bigger the name the more fun it is, and the smaller the intellect of the onlooker the more certain he is that he could handle the case better than the prosecutor, the defense attorney, or the defendant is doing it.

It can't be sympathy, the desire to project yourself into something as into the winging trail of a bird or kite, for who wants to sit in a witness chair on trial for anything? Or maybe these people do, for they aren't normal. If they were, they wouldn't batter themselves and their neighbors to bits in that final watch-out-here-I-come fight for the door. Most of them are persons who seem to have jumped out from under logs where they have been hiding for a good 30 years. The women wear Queen Mary hats jammed down over their eyebrows, long black stockings, shoes that turn up at the toes, and faces that were put on in the dark and sometimes backward. And when a trial starts it must be good-by to home, kitchen, and husband, for they are in line when the courthouse door opens and they leave when the last participant is staggering out.

The amazing thing about these delightful noncomitants of the American courtroom is that they know everything that has ever been written or spoken about the case. They are always displeased with the conduct of the trial. The prosecutor isn't half as shrewd as they would be were they in his place, and as for the defendant . . . they are never at a loss for words.

They can reel off the names of all the wives, or husbands, of the defendant, and why each ceased to be that. They stand outside and argue the merits of the case by the hour and, once inside, give knowing leers or winks in the direction of the press table, as tho trying to say, "Say, that's a good one! Get that, will you?"

The reflection, born of a good many years of covering trials, came to a head the day the Chaplin trial opened here when this writer sat down at a doughnut bar for a cup of coffee during a recess. The adjoining lady said, "What would you do if you were in my case?" The only natural reply to that is, "What is your case?" So she told it:

She was one of the prospective jurors called for service that day. She was notified of this by a postcard that came in the mail. She was in the courtroom all right, and having a fine time, too, she confided, for this was her first criminal trial, and did she love a good trial. O, my! Then she went out for a few minutes, threading her way carefully thru the several hundred ghouls waiting outside.

When she came back a lady wearing a mass of dyed black hair and a spangled dress was in her seat. "That's my seat," she said. The lady denied it. "But," she protested, "I put my juror's postcard there to hold it and . . ." She imitated her yelp of dismay, "It's right there in your lap!" The spangled lady looked up coldly. "No such thing," she retorted. "That's my personal mail." The lady went back tearfully to the guard and enlisted his aid. He accompanied her back to Old Spangles and asked to see the postcard. "You have a lot of nerve," she began to squeal, "prying into a lady's personal mail like this. I won't give it to you . . . and," ominously, "if you try and throw me out, I'll scream."

She remained. But the funny thing, the lady-who-was-almost-a-juror told us, was that the address on the postcard was unmistakable. It was hers, and the spangled one made no attempt to hide it.

We mention this because it seemed to be Spangles who during a jumbled recess bobbed up to Chaplin, grabbed his hand, and burbled, "O, Mr. Chaplin, I am SO glad to see you here!" She probably was telling the truth, too. Chaplin's response was "Ugh . . . ugh . . . ugh."

EXCELSIOR IS FOR PACKING GLASS.

Chicago, March 20.—As an evening school teacher, I should like to reply to the accusation made by the evening school student in Sunday's issue of THE TRIBUNE, who complains about how lax the teachers are and how much time they waste. In refutation, I should like to state some of the teachers' pet peeves:

Students stroll in any time. The average attendance record of these students would make a child hang his head in shame. They attend one or two sessions and then are absent for one or two—and sometimes more. If they attend three-fourths of the time, they get a refund of the $5 registration fee. With class in attendance two hours each night—twice a week—making a total of 36 possible class meetings, this allows nine absences and more than 50 per cent of the students fail to attend a sufficient number of times to get this refund.

Preparation by the student for the class is practically unheard of. If you make an assignment, and naturally you do, you can be certain that 75 per cent of the class won't bother to do it. Likewise, if you devote the last period of a double class period to supervised study, you will find that at the next session practically no one has done a thing except that which they worked on in class. Some of the students think because they registered for the class and attend fairly regularly they are entitled to credit simply for coming to class and taking up space.

I would certainly like to have a class wherein 50 per cent showed as much interest as this particular student professes to have in his work.

In these days of rationing of tires and gas it is nothing short of sabotage to subject the public to such treatment.

RUSSELL E. STAKMAN.

A COMMANDER IN CHIEF WHO KNOWS WAR.

Austin, Tex., March 21.—Most recent of the products to come out of the overworked phrase making factory of the New Deal is the reference to supporters of MacArthur for President as the "lunatic fringe." [To that we might say we know a lot of lunatics who need "trimming," and—we have hopes].

One thing is certain. We are able to see the importance to this country that MacArthur be elevated to commander in chief of our forces; a man who knows war from having been in war; a man who can be counted upon to keep his head when all about are losing theirs; a man who could meet on common ground with the military heads of our allied countries; a man who is more interested in winning this war than in shaping the politics of the world to the pattern of communism.

War time is no time to have as commander in chief a man who has had no military experience. It is as essential that the commander in chief of a nation's army has experienced war as that a man who spends money should have earned money. A greed for power will never be a substitute for experience, and woe unto that nation which accepts the substitute.

LYONS CHARGES NEW DEAL'S OIL WASTE HITS U.S.

Blame Gas Slash Upon Foreign Spending.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Richard J. Lyons, Republican candidate for United States senator, charged last night that the 33 per cent cut in A gasoline rations effective yesterday would not be necessary if some of the money poured into foreign oil fields were spent developing our own resources.

Sketching the explanations of New Dealers as to why the midwest motorist is being held to two gallons a week, Lyons said he was left with a strong suspicion that it was part of a "share the misery" campaign to mollify six eastern states. Lyons, Gov. Green, Earle B. Searcy for Supreme court clerk, and Conrad F. Becker for state treasurer addressed John Leonard East's 5th ward meeting in Midway Masonic temple, 6115 Cottage Grove av. More than 700 persons attended.

Pleas Made by Oil Industry.

For months and years oil industry leaders have been urging an increase in the price of crude oil to meet rising costs of production to stimulate drilling and exploration in Illinois and other oil states, Lyons said.

"This the burocrats have steadfastly refused to do," Lyons said. "But while they contend they must protect the public from a few cents extra on their weekly gasoline, they are saddling upon the taxpayers some 350 million dollars of permanent improvements in oil projects in Canada, Mexico, and now in Secretary Ickes' 130 to 165 million dollar pipe line—or pipe dream—across Saudi Arabia."

Burocrats Ignore Common Sense.

Nowhere have the New Dealers failed more signally than in the need to increase oil production, Lyons said. They have piled regulation upon prohibition in the oil industry, at the same time deliberately ignoring the common sense road to production, he declared.

Lyons blasted the New Dealers' attempts to silence criticism.

"Apologists for the New Deal object strongly to any discussion of this gasoline situation," he said. "They hint that even to talk about it is unpatriotic, because gasoline is a commodity vitally needed to win the war."

Veterans to Help Benson.

Arnold P. Benson, regular organization candidate for secretary of state, was in central Illinois coal mining districts yesterday, but his headquarters announced that next Tuesday would see the start of a big drive by G. O. P. ex-service men to help him achieve nomination. Benson is a past commander of his Legion post and county and district council.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen yesterday indorsed Atty. Gen. George F. Barrett for reëlection.

Werner W. Schroeder, Republican national committeeman for Illinois, will contrast G. O. P. and Democratic unity tonight over a state wide hookup. His talk, "Republican Leadership for Unity and Victory," will be heard over WENR, Chicago, at 9:15 p. m.; WCBS, Springfield; KXOK, St. Louis, and WROK, Rockford, at 8:15 p. m.

NORTH CENTRAL UNIT DROPS TWO HIGH SCHOOLS

Two high schools have been dropped by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and 10 others have withdrawn, it was announced yesterday after a meeting of the association's commission on secondary schools in the Palmer House.

Members of the commission refused to name the 12 schools affected but it was reported that only one is in Chicago. This supposedly was Manley High school which reportedly was withdrawn because it has been turned over to military use and its students sent to other schools.

James T. Gaffney, assistant superintendent of schools, said lack of notification from the general accrediting committee indicated that all other Chicago schools remained accredited.

The commission unqualifiedly recommended 1,924 schools in the 20 states it covers. Of these, 365 were in Illinois, 113 in Iowa, 151 in Michigan, 79 in Indiana, and 72 in Wisconsin. It voted to admit 31 new schools, of which two, St. Mary of Perpetual Help and St. Patrick's, are in Chicago.

CHICAGO NEGRO LEADER BEATEN OUTSIDE CAPITOL

Doorkeeper of House Hits Edgar Brown.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 22.—Edgar G. Brown of Chicago, Negro candidate for the Republican nomination for representative from the 2d district in Illinois, who recently publicly demanded the impeachment of Secretary of the Navy Knox and Secretary of War Stimson, was beaten outside the capitol here today by a husky 17 year old house chamber doorkeeper from Texas, police reported.

Brown, who represents Negro organizations before house and senate committees, was taken to casualty hospital, where he was treated for multiple bruises and lacerations about his face. Hospital attendants reported Brown's condition as "fair."

Court Hearing Fixed.

The doorkeeper, Randlett T. Lawrence of Monthalia, Tex., was released by capitol police into the custody of an unnamed congressman, who was described as "responsible." The congressman was said to have guaranteed Lawrence's appearance next Tuesday morning before an assistant district attorney in police court, with Brown. No charge was filed.

Police said Lawrence asserted he had words with Brown Tuesday afternoon when Brown refused to obey his orders to sit down in the public gallery of the house. Brown returned today, Lawrence explained, and there was another argument.

Doorkeeper's Story.

The doorkeeper, police said, asserted he followed Brown out of the capitol a few minutes after the house adjourned and accosted him in the capitol grounds. Lawrence said Brown appealed to Rep. Dirksen [R., Ill.] and later found a shovel and attempted to strike Lawrence with it.

Lawrence said he then struck Brown several times in self-defense. Lawrence said he injured his right hand in striking Brown.

The incident was witnessed by many congressmen who were returning to their offices following adjournment of the house, late in the afternoon.

Cow Theft Suspect Freed, His Extradition Denied

John H. Foster, 23, Negro, 1045 Washburne av., arrested on a fugitive warrant charging him with theft of a $75 cow from a tenant farm in Clarendon county, Ark., July 20, 1942, was freed yesterday by Judge Cecil Smith because Gov. Green refused to permit the prisoner's extradition. Foster said he was in Chicago on the date of the theft.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

2 OF WINCHELL SPONSOR'S AIDS IN NAZI ROUNDUP

One Convicted of Aiding Spy; Another Interned.

seems to be about 14 months late."

Winchell did not deny he had made the announcement in the form of congratulations to Jergens for "helping to apprehend" the woman alien, whereas the facts, as stated by Hoffman, indicated Jergens had done his utmost to obtain the release of Miss Siddell. He did not comment regarding Miss Engemann, the second Jergens' employe, who pleaded guilty.

Winchell repeated his willingness to appear before the Dies committee.

Hoffman said the records which prove his account of Jergens' connections have been withheld from congress by the attorney general on the ground that disclosure of their contents would be "contrary to the public interest."

Trips About Country Told.

Miss Siddell, he said, according to the records of the alien control board in Cincinnati which heard her case, accompanied Jergens on various trips about the country and to his homes in Florida and California. He continued:

"In 1942 she was arrested by agents of the FBI as a German enemy alien. [Jergens is not a German but of Danish descent.]

"It was learned that she had hired as a maid in the Miami Beach home of Jergens one Hedwig Engemann of New York City. Miss Engemann was arrested about the time of the capture of the eight Nazi saboteurs who landed here from a submarine in the summer of 1942 and who were afterward executed for sabotage.

Saboteur Aided.

"Miss Engemann was shown to have aided Edward John Kerling, one of the eight. He was executed and Miss Engemann pleaded guilty in a New York court to a charge of misprision of treason.

"After a somewhat lengthy hearing in Cincinnati, Miss Siddell was ordered interned and has ever since been so confined. Jergens made strenuous efforts to prevent her detention, describing her at one time as 'the finest woman I have ever known.' He sent her clothing while she was confined in jail and at times called her over the long distance phone.

"It has been charged that Jergens offered money to an individual in the department of justice, not to help exonerate Miss Siddell but to have her held in a hotel suite during her hearing instead of being held in jail.

"It is now reported that Jergens has started action to have Miss Siddell released from the internment camp.

Feared Winchell's Reaction.

"It has also been charged, that while the hearing was in progress in Cincinnati, Jergens was greatly concerned about what Winchell, his employe, would say and, in substance, stated, 'I wonder what Winchell will say about this'."

Winchell, at the time, Hoffman said, was away on a South American 'mission' for the navy. His only mention of this incident was to congratulate his sponsor for "helping to apprehend an alien enemy."

As to whether Jergens appealed to Winchell for this so-called cover-up, probably only Winchell or Jergens can give the true answer," remarked Hoffman. "In any event, Winchell has been silent about Jergens' connections with his two employes, one of whom as stated, entered a plea of guilty to misprision of treason and the other was found guilty of conduct which required her internment.

Employment Concealed.

"It is quite true that the story about Miss Engemann and her associations with Kerling, one of the executed Nazis, has been published in connection with their trial, but her employment in the Jergens home has, so far as I know, not been mentioned."

Hoffman added that Winchell has frequently boasted of his intimacy with J. Edgar Hoover and that he has access to the files of the FBI. He put into the record a letter from Hoover which stated:

"No one outside of the official staff of the federal bureau of investigation has access to its files. Any statement to the effect that a commentator has access to the files is wholly unjustified and is not based on fact."

Hoffman noted that Hoover "failed to state that there was not in the FBI files information which might show that Jergens associated with individuals who were much closer to the Nazis than any of those who have been indicted for sedition.

"Synonym for Dirt."

"For years," Hoffman continued, "Winchell has been smirching decent, law abiding, patriotic citizens, and his sponsors, the Jergens company, have paid him for doing it. He has pried into the private lives of inoffensive people; he has spread scandal and gossip—much of it false—over the radio and thru his column, until the name of Winchell and the name of his sponsor, Jergens, have become known thruout the land as synonyms for dirty, malicious, and usually false charges.

"While Winchell was wearing the uniform of the United States navy his conduct became so offensive to so many Americans that the administration was forced to strip him of his uniform, of his pay, of his duties; but to the disgrace of the navy, be it said, it retained him as a reserve officer."

HIGHER WAR TAX ADVOCATE QUITS TREASURY POST

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—Randolph Paul, who has advocated higher war time taxes than congress has been willing to enact, resigned today as general counsel of the treasury.

Randolph E. Paul.

The 54 year old attorney told President Roosevelt in a letter of resignation that it appeared "I can contribute little more at present in this special field."

Paul came to the treasury in 1941. Member of a New York law firm, he formerly was a lecturer on taxation at Harvard and Yale universities and is the author of several monographs and studies on taxation.

As treasury general counsel, he carried the burden of presenting the department's views on taxes to congressional committees as each of the last three major tax bills was written. He fought against enactment of the Ruml pay as you go tax plan, as originally presented, and opposed a sales tax.

One of his last jobs was to work with the house ways and means committee on the simplified plan for individual income tax returns. Paul spoke of it in his letter of resignation as being "well on its way to enactment."

HOUSE APPROVAL PUTS UNRRA BILL IN WHITE HOUSE

U. S., with 1-44 of Votes, Pays ⅔ of Cost.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 22.—The house today passed and sent to the White House legislation approving United States participation in a post-war world relief agency in which this country will put up two-thirds of the money and will have one vote out of 44. The bill, a compromise of house and senate views, was adopted by the senate yesterday. President Roosevelt is expected to sign it.

The house vote was 285 to 58 in favor of the measure, which authorizes the United States to contribute 1 billion 350 million dollars to the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration. The UNRRA funds will go to feed, clothe, and otherwise help peoples of nations freed from the enemy or important to allied military operations.

Contributions by other nations will give UNRRA a total of about 2 billion dollars, the state department estimates.

Charges Machinery Deals.

Today's passage came after a sharp floor debate in which Rep. Calvin Johnson [R., Ill.] charged that the UNRRA already has made unauthorized plans to send farm machinery abroad this year while farmers in this country are unable to fill their own needs. Johnson said administration denials of the charge were "evasive" and in conflict with with documentary evidence in his possession.

Congressmen also expressed fears that in the absence of specific restrictions, the UNRRA may expand its purely relief function to include political, educational, and religious controls in war torn countries. Tho administration spokesmen denied that such controls would be imposed, they opposed amendments which would have prohibited them.

One such prohibition was included in the bill first passed by the senate, at the insistence of Sen. Willis [R., Ind.], but was stricken out by senate-house conferees.

"If there is no intention to control schooling and religious doctrines, why not say so in the bill?" asked Rep. Rogers [R., Mass.]. "What mysterious force is preventing this restriction?"

Funds Yet to Be Voted.

As today's measure is only an authorization and will require an appropriation later to implement it, Mrs. Rogers served notice that she will renew her demand for the restriction at that time.

The bill directs the United States to coöperate with 43 other UNRRA nations in feeding and clothing war stricken peoples and in rebuilding utilities, transportation systems, and other industries necessary to relief. India's starving, excluded under the original administration measure, were included in the UNRRA bounty at the insistence of Republicans.

The United States has one vote in the organization, as has each of the other participants, including each of six units of the British empire.

Withdrawal Restricted.

This country's participation, unless extended, would expire on June 30, 1946. Participants may give notice of their intention to withdraw after six months of membership in the UNRRA, but withdrawal cannot be effective until one year after notice and then only if the seceding government has met all its commitments.

Nineteen of the 58 votes cast against the measure were by congressmen from the five Chicagoland states.

Administration spokesmen, led by Chairman Bloom [D., N. Y.] of the foreign affairs committee, spent most of their debating time seeking to refute Johnson's charges that the UNRRA farm machinery program is already under way.

Johnson recently charged, and reiterated today, that the UNRRA plans to send 500,000 pieces of American made farm machinery abroad and is seeking delivery of a portion by Aug. 1.

HOW CONGRESSMEN FROM CHICAGOLAND VOTED ON UNRRA BILL

WOMAN LEADER IN UNRRA CALLS RELIEF ITS GOAL

Miss Craig McGeachy.

A preview of post-war relief was offered by Miss Craig McGeachy, chief of the welfare division of the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration, yesterday at a meeting of the Alliance of Business and Professional Women and the Chicago Association of Commerce in Hotel Sherman.

Asserting that the UNRRA "cannot and does not intend to plan and order the economic reconstruction of Europe or the far east," Miss McGeachy, who as former first secretary of the British embassy in Washington was the first woman to reach a key position in the British diplomatic service, said: "It is concerned only with the first essentials—to take in at the first possible moment the foodstuffs and clothing needed to blunt the sharp edge of need."

Mrs. Hazel R. Ferguson and Floyd E. Thompson, chairman of public affairs for the two groups, which were observing their 13th annual meeting, were in charge. WACs, WAVES, marines, and members of the nurses corps shared the speakers' table with British consular officials and club executives.

PLAN TO PROBE DRAFT PRESSURE UPON FARMERS

Congress Committees Ready to Act.

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—The military services put a new strain on the rope in the tug of war over men under 27 today with a high official's statement that "the time has arrived when we must have the fighting men we need."

Industry and agriculture, at the other end of the taut line, countered with new figures to indicate that these are the men who keep the air lines going at war time efficiency, and with plans for a congressional inquiry into charges that the draft has been used as a lever to push farmers into the government's agricultural program.

The inquiry into draft pressure on farmers was projected by Representatives Rizley [D., Okla.] and Harness [R., Ind.]. They showed local draft board and county agriculture committee notices to draft age farmers advising them that information on which both draft deferments and farm gasoline rations would be based, would come from their 1944 production plans filed with county farm committees.

Inquiry Is Planned.

Chairman May [D., Ky.] of the military committee and Chairman Smith [D., Va.] of a special committee investigating government agency operations both planned to look into the matter.

The military official, who declined use of his name, asserted current moves for drastic curtailment of occupational deferments for young men will not reduce war production if proper use is made of man power facilities.

He declared draft boards have been falling behind on their quotas for 13 months while commanders in every theater were "crying" for young men. Draft heads previously had said that the lag began last October.

Wants Farm Screening.

Asserting that 562,000 childless men, 26 and below, already are deferred on farms and the number is rising by 17,000 a month as the movement of men from less "safe" occupations increase, he said farm workers must be screened as carefully for indispensability as others.

"The time has passed," he declared, "when the armed forces can be held responsible for man power shortages."

Would Ground Planes.

An industrial claim on young men was made by Col. Edgar S. Gorrell, president of the Air Transport Association of America, who asserted that at least one-fourth of the air lines' skilled flight and maintenance personnel is under 27 and abolition of draft deferments for them would "badly cripple" both civil and military contract operations.

Such a personnel cut, he said, might make it necessary to ground some of the planes which Gorrell said have operated at capacity since Pearl Harbor with little other than high priority passengers and cargo. The number of planes in civilian service, he pointed out, is already fewer than 200, a little more than half the pre-war total.

Gorrell said the air lines are employing women wherever possible, with nearly 40 per cent of their personnel now feminine. More than 1,600 pilots and co-pilots and 2,000 skilled maintenance workers on 19 air lines are under 27, he said.

BOY, KEPT ALIVE BY BLOOD OF 28, FACES NEW PERIL

Stephen Lee Felzer, 3, who has been kept alive since Sept. 20, by blood donated by 28 United States coast guards, must rally, his physician said last night, if he is to survive pneumonia which began yesterday to complicate his illness. He is in Michael Reese hospital.

Stephen Lee is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Felzer, 639 South Shore dr. Since he entered the hospital his mother, Lillian, has been at his bedside 24 hours a day, and she has assisted in the 45 transfusions he has received to strengthen him during sinking spells.

Stephen Lee is suffering from a renal disorder requiring frequent blood and blood serum transfusions. Dr. Philip Rosenblum has diagnosed the Felzer child's illness as nephrosis, a kidney lesion.

The coast guard in Chicago learned of the boy's illness from his father, who is an examiner of merchandise in the United States customs service house, 610 Canal st.

Woman Sues Husband's Brother for $100,000

Mrs. Anne Neiman, 33, of 721 Sheridan rd., filed suit in Circuit court yesterday asking $50,000 damages for alleged personal injuries and $50,000 for alleged slander. The defendant is her brother-in-law, Louis G. Neiman, 707 Junior terr., head of a baker supply company. She charged Neiman assaulted her and her daughter, Anne, 11. Half of the injury damages are asked in behalf of the child. Mrs. Neiman on Tuesday sued her husband, Dr. Aaron Neiman, for separate maintenance. She charged cruelty.

False Witness
by Laura Z. Hobson
"For the sake of the children," Lee Jones clung to her husband, Randy—the pompous radio comedian. She put aside the man of her heart. But the children surprise you in "False Witness," page 30 of April Cosmopolitan. By the author of the best-selling novel, "The Trespassers."
The Bride wore Overalls
by Faith Baldwin
Miss Baldwin's timely tale brings up the much mooted question: Do women HAVE TO dress that way to do their bit in the war? Lieutenant Jim Ferguson of the Navy didn't think so—he wanted his bride, Sally, to stay just as feminine and pretty and sweet as he married her. But see page 34 of April Cosmopolitan for this short story, one of Faith Baldwin's best which is about the best there is.

BROOKS WARNS OF SLAVE PERIL IN LABOR DRAFT

F. D. R. Not Commander of People—Yet, He Says.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 22.—Branding President Roosevelt's proposed national service law an assault upon American constitutional government, Sen. Brooks [R., Ill.] told the senate today there is nothing in the Constitution which says the President "shall be the commander-in-chief of the nation or the people—not yet."

Brooks said attacks upon constitutional government have been in progress for 12 years.

"They have been made always," he said, "behind the smoke screen of propaganda poured out to confuse the people and portraying imaginary necessities during depression, emergencies, and now war. The present assault is a demand for a national service law under which all of our people would truly be subjected to the rules and regulations of a commander-in-chief."

Near Involuntary Servitude.

Brooks told the senate that labor and private enterprise are producing war materials at an astounding rate. The suggestion that an individual be conscripted under government direction to work for a private employer, he said, "smacks of involuntary servitude."

"While 10 million men are away in the armed services fighting for American freedom," the senator said, "we should defend their wives, sisters, daughters, and families from involuntary servitude and serfdom. Conscription of labor in America would destroy rather than implement our miracle of production and might well destroy our free country.

"Labor slavery might properly fit into the communistic theories of some New Deal burocrats. The fellow travelers who map out New Deal policies and want to determine in detail each individual life find that they can do so only when they can completely dictate those lives."

Would Rule Each Person.

A national service law, Brooks observed, would permit burocrats to tell every American when, where, and how long to work.

"A 'draft labor' scheme fits perfectly into the general program of aggressive power grabbing which has been the distinguishing characteristic of the New Deal," he went on.

"This determined effort to control the lives of American people is evidenced by the mass of directives, edicts, and executive orders flowing constantly from the heads of bureaus. The present unpardonable confusion thruout the country has been caused by conflicting rules and estimates constantly being issued by the war man power commission, the selective service, and the war production board."

SUNSHINE LADY DIES; POLICE REPAY CHEER

Everybody at the Woodlawn police station from the captain down to the newest rookie knew Mrs. Eugenia Beverly Armour, 55, who lived in a rooming house at 6427 Harper av., a block from the station. She was lame, but she was always jolly. Nearly every day she stopped at the station and joked with the men. Her cheerfulness pulled many a man out of gloom.

Mrs. Armour died of a heart attack Monday in a millinery shop at 943 E. 63d st. Police examined her meager personal effects and found Canadian army discharge papers for Vernon Armour, dated 1918. There was no money, no insurance, no evidence of bank deposits, no information about relatives.

Word reached the police station that Mrs. Armour would have to be buried in potter's field. The policemen took up a collection. It quickly reached $150. As a result, services for Mrs. Armour will be held tomorrow morning in the chapel at 6328 Cottage Grove av., and interment will be in Mount Hope cemetery. Most of the mourners will be policemen.

D. H. BURNHAM'S WIFE IS DEAD; RITES SATURDAY

Mrs. Helen Otis Burnham, 83 Cedar st., wife of Daniel H. Burnham, prominent architect whose father originated the Chicago plan for civic beautification, died yesterday in Presbyterian hospital.

Mrs. Burnham, who was born in Council Bluffs, Ia., was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Otis of Chicago and Barrington. She was a graduate of Vassar college and she and Mr. Burnham were married here in 1912. Besides her husband she is survived by a son, Lt. Daniel H. Burnham III., who is stationed at a west coast naval base.

Services will be held at 10:30 a. m. Saturday in Graceland cemetery chapel. The Rev. E. Ashley Gerhard, pastor of Christ Episcopal church, Winnetka, an old family friend, will read the service.

Catholic Leaders at Rites for Bishop at La Crosse

Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch and more than 75 members of the Catholic hierarchy left yesterday for La Crosse, Wis., to attend a memorial mass today for the Most Rev. William R. Griffin, auxiliary bishop of La Crosse. The group is expected to return tonight. Services for the bishop, who died last Saturday, will be held Saturday morning in Holy Name cathedral, with burial in Calvary cemetery. Bishop Griffin, a native Chicagoan, served in churches here until his elevation to auxiliary bishop in 1935.

HOLD SERVICES TOMORROW FOR M. F. KAVANAGH

Services for Maurice F. Kavanagh, veteran member of the Cook county board, who died early yesterday in his home in the Graemere hotel, 113 N. Homan blvd., after a long illness, will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow in St. Jarlath's church, 1725 Jackson blvd. He will be buried in All Saints' cemetery. Mr. Kavanagh was 74 and unmarried.

His county board colleagues will be honorary pallbearers, and many other county officials, as well as city dignitaries, will attend the services. The county building, except for fee offices, will be closed. Mr. Kavanagh's body is in the chapel at 2346 Madison st.

Mr. Kavanagh's term runs to 1946, but his vacancy cannot be filled until the judicial election in 1945. Appointments are permissible only when vacancies run less than a year, ruled County Clerk Flynn.

Mr. Kavanagh was born in Coldwater, Mich., and came to Chicago 50 years ago. After some years in the express and restaurant business he entered politics. He was alderman of the old 18th ward [now the 27th] from 1918 to 1922. In the latter year he was elected to the county board, remaining there to his death. He is survived by two brothers, James E. and John S.; a sister, Anna.

BOY, 4, IS KILLED CROSSING STREET TO CANDY STORE

Tandy Baker, 4, son of James Baker of 1307 Adams st., was killed when struck by an automobile yesterday at Adams and Throop sts. while on his way to buy candy with a nickel that a sailor had given him. The driver of the death automobile sped away.

Miss Beulah Stielow, 21, of Route 1, Homewood, a Dodge plant war worker who was injured in an automobile collision that killed three men, Tuesday, died in Oak Forest infirmary. The collision occurred at 159th st. and Crawford av., Bremen township.

Carl Johnson, 62, of 6939 State st., a carpenter, who was hit by an automobile at 71st and State sts. on March 11, died in St. Bernard's hospital. Police have charged George Dobbins, 53, of 2300 Michigan av., the driver, with reckless driving.

ARMY REGAINS 36,000 SHIFTED TO AIR FORCES

Thirty-six thousand soldiers, who, after completion of basic army courses, volunteered for flight training and were transferred from ground and service details to the air forces, were released yesterday and will be returned to their original assignments, the war department announced in Washington, D. C.

The war department said failure of selective service since last July to induct sufficient men for replacements in pending operations and to meet quotas designed to bring army strength to 10,800,000 by next July caused the action.

Suspension of enlistment of youths of 17 in the air forces enlisted reserve also was announced.

Tampa Pays Last Tribute to Thomason, Publisher

Tampa, Fla., March 22 (AP).—Tampa's business and civic leaders joined with employes of the Tampa Tribune this afternoon in paying final tribute to Samuel Emory Thomason, 61, publisher of the Tribune and the Chicago Times, who died here early Monday of a heart attack. Funeral services were held at a funeral home. The body will be taken to Chicago for burial and memorial services.

CIVIC FEDERATION FINDS COUNTY TAX LOAD UP 4 MILLIONS

How the operating expenses of the major taxing bodies in Cook county are steadily growing is explained by the Civic federation in a bulletin just issued. Appropriations for 1944 by these bodies, the bulletin showed, exceed those of 1943 by a net $5,957,000.

Part of this boost will be met by increasing license fees and revenue from other sources, but the federation reported that city taxpayers would have to meet $4,274,000 more in taxes.

"The story will be much worse for 1945," the bulletin added, "unless the legislature acts before July 1, 1944."

Much of the added cost of local government was laid to the change in assessment basis by Assessor John S. Clark—from 37 per cent of full value to 100 per cent. The Cook county corporate fund added just under 4 millions to its levy, which would have been impossible under the 37 per cent assessment [its highest legal rate applicable to the old assessment would have been far less than the 9½ million pegged levy authorized by the legislature; as it is, the county levy is about 13¼ millions].

The federation sharply criticized the county forest preserve district for increasing its levy by $215,000.

Traffic deaths in Chicago in 1943 declined 20.1 per cent from 1942, the number of accidents decreased 25.7 per cent, and 25.2 per cent fewer persons were injured, the preliminary report of the city council committee on traffic and public safety showed yesterday. Ald. Kells [28th], committee chairman, commented that the reduction was not as large as had been hoped for.

Last year's traffic fatalities totaled 372, compared with 466 in 1942. Accidents declined from 16,207 to 12,135 in 1943, while the number injured dropped from 19,776 to 14,789. The death total involved 240 men, 71 women, and 61 children.

Passenger automobiles were involved in 162 fatalities, trucks in 62, hit and run drivers in 44, passenger car collisions in 20, automobile and street car collisions in 15, and taxicabs in 14.

KELLY AND GREEN AT SERVICES FOR W. H. THOMPSON

Hundreds of political leaders and workers headed by Gov. Green and Mayor Kelly yesterday attended funeral services for William Hale Thompson, three times mayor of Chicago, in Thoburn Methodist church, 1708 W. 64th st. Burial was in Oakwoods cemetery.

Mr. Thompson was a member of Thoburn church. The red brick structure held nearly 1,000 persons, including those standing in the halls and aisles. Among those present was Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue and now the only living ex-mayor of Chicago.

"Thompsonism is just another word for Americanism, as he saw it," said "Big Bill's" friend, the Rev. John H. Williamson of the Chicago Heights Methodist church, who gave the eulogy. "He had his mind and heart and spirit behind his peculiar methods."

INSTALMENT XVI.

NOT A MAN TO BE EXPLAINED.

After Barrymore's first wife succumbed to the fiery Apollo of the stage, she confidently expected him to carry his theatrical embers into their private life. This he declined to do. It was his observation that even the greatest thorobreds didn't gallop when away from the race course.

Elements other than drink increased the discord of Barrymore's first marriage. Katherine, young and blossoming, wished to exhibit her husband in public, to dance or dine with him where every one might view her handsome prize. Jack wanted no self-display after theater hours.

Between engagements, or on Sundays, he would appear in old clothes and with a beard-stubble, slouch about Gramercy park, feed the pigeons there, or enjoy solitary strolls in side streets. He avoided off-stage applause. When he did seek company, he preferred the cubbyholes of Greenwich Village. He stayed up all night with newspaper men and down-at-the-heel artists. He sometimes forgot his marriage vows. He failed to advise Katherine as to where he was going or where he had been. He was not a man of explanations, nor a man to be explained. He simply was.

Barrymore's first marriage always seemed vague in his own memory, as if he merely had dreamed it. It endured, actually, for seven years. Concerning this and other of his domestic alliances, Barrymore once said:

"They always ran about seven years, like a certain kind of skin rash. There was one exception. But let us not bother to analyze such bus accidents."

The nine successive roles that Barrymore portrayed following his success in "The Fortune Hunter" may be said to have found his talents marking time. His popularity increased, largely because of the Villonesque legends that attached themselves to his personality, but the critics foresaw no artistic triumphs for the youngest of the Barrymores. He smelled more of alcohol than of fame during the six years antedating his mighty leap into serious dramatic art in 1916.

Perhaps it was because of his personal charm that managers put up with his idiosyncrasies. Perhaps it was because the impresarios had loved the Barrymores and the Drews. Perhaps anything. He survived demerits that, for any other actor, would have meant expulsion from the stage.

Barrymore was 32, at the halfway house of his years, when in the spring of 1914 he undertook a Byronic flight to Italy. He was still married to Katherine. Certain intimates regarded Jack's domestic miseries as the provocation for his sudden journey abroad. Others held that a series of uninspiring theatrical roles had become intolerable.

A human force, perhaps more stimulating to Barrymore's mind than the Italian environment itself, now began to rouse in his artistic consciousness the powers long hidden beneath superficial charms and headlong actions. He listened to wise words, and eventually acted upon them.

The person who spoke these words into Barrymore's inner ear was Edward Sheldon. Barrymore and the playwright had become friends as early as 1910. Now in Italy, four years afterward, and with reminders of man's artistic upsurge to be seen everywhere, the reunion of the two brilliant men became a fortunate circumstance.

Sheldon, a dramatic author of first rank, was four years younger than Barrymore. Now, at 28, the playwright was well on his own way to professional eminence. Like Barrymore, he had an uncommon physical presence. He was strong of body and of mind, courageous and generous in every way, a student and practitioner of the humanities. He differed from Barrymore in that he had spiritual balance and consistent professional purpose.

Jack arrived in Venice soon after his incorrigibilities in "The Yellow Ticket." There he found Sheldon spending a holiday. The men were mutually delighted by this reunion. They went for strolls late at night among the deserted squares and across the little bridges. They had long talks of a serious kind. They traveled the Grand canal, discussed the poets and musicians and painters who had resided in the old palaces on each side of the romantic waterway. They listened to music. They studied architectural classics, sculptures, mosaics, and paintings. If Jack had had any confusions of mind, they now fell away.

Barrymore at length expressed a desire to visit Rome. He wanted Sheldon's company on the journey. The young dramatist didn't hesitate to interrupt his own plans. The friends went to the Italian capital. There they visited the churches and galleries, heard more music, sacred and profane, stood in the little cemetery where Keats' body and the heart of Shelley are buried, walked among terraced gardens, and in the moonlight recreated for themselves the Roman Empire from the shadows of ancient stones.

Barrymore returned to America early in the summer of 1914 with a resolution to fix his attention upon the more serious aspects of the drama. Perhaps the gravity of war's announcement in July accentuated his purpose.

Jack opened successfully in "Kick In." During the run of that play he persistently sought, with the assistance of Sheldon, the kind of dramatic role that might place him solidly among the serious artists of the theater. Such a play was found, Galsworthy's "Justice," with Barrymore in the part of William Falder, a tragedy-marked bank clerk.

The amazement of the critics at Barrymore's immediate triumph as Falder is understandable. They were unprepared for the actor's sudden "size." At first Jack's triumph in "Justice" was regarded with the same incredulity as might have been aroused had [Honey Boy] Evans put off his burnt cork to sing "Faust" at the Metropolitan.

It was during this time that Katherine Harris Barrymore established residence in Santa Barbara to sue for divorce on the grounds of incompatibility. And it was in Santa Barbara that Jack and Sheldon discussed plans for still other ventures in the theater.

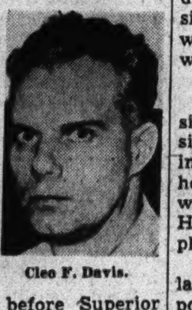
CUSTODIAN OF 'Y' FACES NEW QUIZ IN POOL DEATH

Gets 2-14 Year Term on Sodomy Charge.

Elkhart, Ind., March 22 [Special].—Indirect responsibility for the drowning of a youth in the Y. M. C. A. pool was admitted by Cleo Fred Davis, 35, custodian of the "Y" building, shortly before he was sentenced today to prison for committing unnatural acts with another young man.



Cleo F. Davis.

Davis pleaded guilty of sodomy before Superior Judge William E. Wider, who sentenced him to 2 to 14 years and fined him $100. His commitment to prison was postponed five days to give police additional time to investigate the drowning.

The victim was Harlan V. Elliott, 16, son of the Rev. Wilson B. Elliott, pastor of the Elkhart Free Methodist church. Harlan, a sophomore at Elkhart High school and a part time employe of the "Y," drowned Sunday afternoon.

Denies Tossing Boy in Pool.

The custodian has denied the accusation of Elkhart detectives that he threw Harlan into the deep water of the pool knowing the boy couldn't swim, or that he otherwise deliberately caused his death.

He admitted, however, he had lied when he said he didn't know the boy went to the pool and asserted he would assume "indirect responsibility" for the death because he had given Harlan permission to use the pool, altho Sunday swimming was prohibited.

Detectives had said they were not satisfied with Davis' account of the drowning and were suspicious of the close relationship between him and the victim. They said they drew from the custodian a confession that he had unnatural relations with Harlan and three other youths who frequented the "Y."

Changes Story in Quiz.

Davis, who has been in custody since Monday afternoon, first insisted he did not know that Harlan intended to enter the pool. He said he and the boy had talked for a while in the basement, and that Harlan then went upstairs "to phone a friend."

Hearing a splash a few minutes later, Davis said, he went up to the pool and found Harlan's nude body in six feet of water. Davis said he took off his own clothes before entering the water to recover the body.

$10,000 FIRE IN WAREHOUSE.

Fire caused $10,000 damage yesterday in the four floor warehouse of I. Mandelowitz and Son, 1608 S. Canal st. It attacked scrap rubber piles on the third and fourth floors and burned thru the roof.

HAUPT'S SANITY WILL GET NIGHT AND DAY TESTS

Four eminent psychiatrists named to judge the sanity of Hans Max Haupt, father of Herbert Haupt, executed Nazi saboteur, were authorized yesterday to study their subject in his sleep as in his conscious life if the nocturnal observations are needed to help them to their conclusion.

The psychiatrists are Doctors Francis J. Gerty, Loren W. Avery, Harold S. Hulburt, and Roland P. Mackay.

The accused man, ordered retried by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, which reversed his treason conviction and its death penalty, says "bears enter his cell," and that he hears "roaring lions."

Court Sets Procedure.

Judge Barnes directed that the alienists are to have access to the prisoner any hour of the day or night.

The psychiatrists were specifically directed not to inquire into Haupt's mind for either admission or denial of the charges that he aided and abetted the treasonable acts of his son.

Experts' Field Restricted.

They also were prohibited from attempting to learn Haupt's understanding of the nature of the mission assigned to his son by the German sabotage commanders.

Judge Barnes said he had set the procedure because there was no statute in the federal penal code prescribing any particular course of action on insanity petitions; that the statutes have not defined the degree of insanity that produces legal incompetence.

Haupt, one of six Chicagoans charged with treason, was scheduled to face his second trial April 10. Judge Barnes, however, has given the doctors until April 13 to submit their report.

Killer of Insurance Man Held for Hearing May 23

Oliver Wendell Martin, 21, Negro, 3915 South Park way, charged with the holdup murder of Karl Braband, Berwyn insurance collector, was held yesterday by Judge Cecil Smith for a hearing May 23 in Felony court. The accused slayer's father, Jerome, charged with receiving three tires his son stole from the collector's car, was released on $100 bail.

TRADE CIGARETS FOR FOOD.

LISBON, Portugal, March 21 [AP].—To increase the food supply for Rome's inhabitants, authorities in the Italian capital have offered to trade packages of cigarets for country produce brought into the city by peasants, the Rome correspondent of the Amsterdam Deutsche Zeitung reports.

New Steel Beauties on the Santa Fe

There isn't yet the ceremony in taking delivery of a new locomotive that there is in christening a ship.

But, just the same, it's a great occasion on the Santa Fe when we receive those super-powered, high-speed locomotives so badly needed today.

For every new one means "rolling" more and longer freight trains loaded with war matériel, and more trains operated for the increasing troop movements.

Friends of Writers' Award for 1944 Goes to Young Native of Oklahoma

Paul Hughes was named winner of the 1944 literary prize of the Friends of American Writers for his novel, "Retreat from Rostov," at the annual awards luncheon of the group yesterday in the Hotel Sherman. Mr. Hughes, who is 28 and a native of Oklahoma, now residing in Phoenix, Ariz., was unable to make the trip to Chicago to receive the award of $750 in cash and war bonds because of illness and transportation difficulties. It was the first time since the award was established in 1928 that the prize was given a winner en absentia.

Paul Engle, poet and book reviewer for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, who gave the principal luncheon address, praised the hostess group for its practical method of encouraging writers. Mr. Engle, who heads the English department at the University of Iowa, won the award two years ago for his book of poetry, "West of Midnight."

A $50 gift was presented by Mrs. George Harriman, who heads the award committee, to Peter DeVries for Poetry magazine, of which Mr. DeVries is editor.

Among others who spoke briefly were Joseph A. Brandt, former president of the University of Oklahoma, who now heads the University of Chicago Press; Vincent Starrett, bibliophile and author; Frederic Babcock, Tribune book editor; David Appel, A. C. Spectorsky, Phyllis Whitney, and James L. Crowder of Random House, publishers of Mr. Hughes' book.

White Collar GIRL

Only Human Once.

You've been reading "You're Only Human Once," the autobiography of the musical careerist, Grace Moore, and you think enviously, that you wish you might have led such a glamorous life! But, on second thought, you know perfectly well that you can't imagine yourself living any life but your own.

Who, for example, could have been your mother and father but your mother and father? Can you visualize yourself in any childhood except yours in the informal, book-strewn, lived-in home with the freshly filled cookie jar in the pantry . . . the big sheet spread on the floor rainy days so you could model clay . . . and fudge after school . . . and phonograph records.

Would You Forfeit?

Would you forfeit the memory of the day you whacked another third grader on the head with your dictionary because he [a great oaf of nine years] spoke improperly of your brother . . . or the day you kicked down the sprinkling can in the eighth grade dressing room as you — giddy child — demonstrated a new dance step? Can you think of being a Metropolitan Opera star rather than the squeaky voiced, spindly legged soprano who was part of the celestial choir for every Sunday school pageant?

Would you trade—for the memory of overnight stardom—the indescribable thrill of seeing your English teacher's scholarly handwriting in the margin of your first story suggesting: "This may sell"? . . . or pass up willingly the chuckle thru the years as you remember your preposterously naive application for your very first job . . . or the delicious feeling of "success at last" the day the big boss winked at you . . . or the fact, on that long ago job, that you were a "statistical stenographer" which you've never been able to pronounce without stuttering?

All Yours.

Would you abandon all the inconsequential intimate things of your life . . . or the people you have loved . . . the piece of 17th century embroidery you had no business to buy . . . the album of snapshots of a summer vacation with small boys turning somersaults on the beach in the peaceful days before the war?

Would you discard the memory of an Italian hillside on your one enchanting trip to Europe . . . or the day you lost your passport . . . the recollection of French school children in prim, black aprons? Would you swap with any one your introduction to Jack Dempsey, the Manassa Mauler, and his formality: "Pardon my glove?" . . . or the afternoon you glimpsed Babe Ruth standing bored and tired in a Detroit doorway . . . or the morning in the blazing sun you caught Clifton Webb poised dejectedly on a roadside rock in Canada?

Would you sacrifice your memorable interview with Mary Garden when for an hour and a half you visited with one of the great women of your time . . . and left with her two orchids and her creed, that to live vividly is never for a moment to envision your life as any one else's?

Chicago WACs Carrying On in Africa but Dream of Home

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ALLIED HDQ., Algiers, March 22.—As Chicago WACs stroll down the boulevards along the bright bay of Algiers their thoughts are of home and the wide sweep of Michigan av., Lake Shore dr., and South Shore. As they wander thru little French establishments they are making imaginary tours of their favorite dress shops in Chicago and planning their post-war wardrobes.

When some of them get copies of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, these newspapers—even tho weeks and possibly months old—become the common property of all, passed from desk to desk, and read from front page to back. They are eagerly awaiting the overseas edition of THE TRIBUNE, which is expected to be circulating thru army post exchanges in this theater within a few weeks.

In their working hours the WACs are very busy filling army jobs. Some of the assignments they have now are as drivers, clerks, secretaries, telephone operators, postal clerks, cryptographers, draftsmen, medical technicians, radio operators, legal aid translators, teletypists, messengers, and librarians.

One Chicago WAC, Joan I. Andricks, 2745 Nelson st., is a stenographer in the office of the chief of staff. In civilian life she was secretary to the regional engineer of the weather bureau in Chicago.

Corp. Lauretta C. Novak, 5142 S. Ada st., who had experience as a millinery designer and style copyist in Chicago, is clerking at the central postal directory.

Sgt. Lillian H. Hemphill, 6029 Harper av., librarian in the adjutant general section, has found romance over here. She is engaged to Warrant Officer Ralph Robison of New York City. They plan to be married in Chicago after the war.

Pvt. Frances Kelling and Pvt. Myrtle Hoppenrath were inducted into the WAC the same day in Chicago, on Sept. 24, 1942, and trained together at Fort Des Moines, Ia. Pvt. Kelling lived in Chicago for many years, but her present home is at Demotte, Ind., and she now is a typist in the general staff section. Pvt. Hoppenrath, 6606 Peoria st., is in the postal division.

Four Chicago girls are close WAC buddies and employed as telephone operators and teletypists in the signal corps. They are Corp. Bernice E. Yarline, 10209 Morgan st.; Pvt. Rethna Fischer, 40 E. Oak st.; Privates Marguerite A. Littleton, 6801 Emerald av., and June A. Gilbert, 4821 Newport av.

Corp. Yarline is on the WAC basketball team and is regarded as one of the stars of the young women's league. Pvt. Fischer was formerly a Chicago model and later a stenographer for a railroad retirement board.

Among the other Chicagoan WACs here are Sergeants Ruth E. Bodine, 2440 Albion av.; Frances M. Lis, 3809 Wrightwood av.; Bella Jacobs, 1432 S. Hamlin av.; Corporals Genevieve Curley, 4156 Oriole av.; Sylvia B. Shapiro, 5131 Kenmore av.; Harriet S. Simon, 7749 Kingston av.; Hulda M. Swanson, 9027 Kingston av.; Privates Josephine M. Grabos, 2741 S. Lockwood av.; Mary E. Hayes, 4840 Kimbark av.; Dorothy S. Small, 1453 E. 54th pl.; Hazel A. Horan, 120 E. 70th st.; Margaret J. Barr, 2742 Hampden ct., and Corporals Kate I. Green and Frieda Yakel.

28th Annual Member Exhibit of Arts Club Set for April 2

BY JUDITH CASS.

FOR the next 10 days the Arts club literally will be a treasure house of art objects. The club has sent out invitations for its 28th annual exhibition by professional members, a signal for painters and sculptors to bring in their favorite works to be cataloged and arranged for the interesting show on Sunday, April 2.

In place of the club's usual tea table, refreshments will be dispensed from a more substantial buffet table from 4:30 to 7:30 p. m. The table will be arranged by Leonore Smith Molloy [Mrs. Edward Molloy], whose painting of fishermen at the Algonquin dam, entitled "No Points Needed," will be on display.

Buell Mullen [Mrs. James B. Mullen] is contributing a portrait on steel of her son, Lt. Mullen Jr., and Clinton B. King will be represented by a painting of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Alden B. Swift. Among the other artist members included will be Jean Crawford Adams, Anita Venier Alexander, Frances Badger Schofield, Clay Bartlett, Macena Barton, Antimo Beneduce, Edith Jane Cassady, Nancy Cox-McCormack, Charles Killgore, Nina K. Griffin, Oscar Gross, Sylvia Shaw Judson, Maude Phelps Hutchins, Clara MacGowan, Norman MacLeish, Ruth Campbell Meeker, Moholy-Nagy, Alfred P. Shaw, John Storrs, who still was in France when last heard from; Scott Taylor, Helen Campbell Taylor, and Paul Trebilcock.

Members and their guests gather at the Arts club at 11:30 a. m. next Wednesday for the first Chicago appearance of Andrew Rowan Summers, who will sing English and American ballads to the accompaniment of an ancient dulcimer. Mr. Summers, who is coming from New York, will be the guest at luncheon later of a member of the club's program committee, John Palmer.

On the Calendar.

The annual benefit fashion show and bridge party of the Woman's auxiliary of the Evanston hospital will be held Easter Monday in Patten Memorial hall of the hospital, with Mrs. George T. Haight as general chairman. Mrs. J. R. Norris is head of the auxiliary.

The North Shore Service league of the Chicago Maternity center is giving a benefit cocktail party at 5 p. m. Sunday in the home of Mrs. Lyon Stewart in Wilmette. Mrs. John Trost is chairman of the party, which will resemble the large one given recently by the organization at the Racquet club.

The Northwestern University Associate Alumnae and the Alumni association will give a benefit concert April 21 in Cahn auditorium of Scott hall. Featured on the program, of which Mrs. George Haight is general chairman, will be Edward Davies, Chicago baritone, as soloist with the navy V-12 chorus from Northwestern university and the women's glee club of the university.

Mrs. Frank Harper of Geneva is entertaining at luncheon next Wednesday at the Dunham Woods Riding club for the women of the western suburbs who will be helping with the spring drive for funds for the Seeing Eye school in Morristown, N. J., which educates dogs to lead the blind. Mrs. Albert F. Madlener Jr., co-chairman of the Chicago Seeing Eye enrollment committee, and Morris Frank will be among the luncheon guests. Mrs. Edward P. Brooks of Hinsdale is chairman of the western suburbs committee of the drive.

Today's Events.

Mr. Frank, vice president of The Seeing Eye, and his dog, Buddy, will be present at a meeting of the north side enrollment teams at 11 a. m. today at the Woman's Athletic club. Team chairmen are Mrs. William J. Kelly, Mrs. Richard D. Nugent, Mrs. Tracy L. Turner Jr., Mrs. Frank Mayer, and Mrs. William F. Ogden. Mrs. Charles T. Adams heads the north side division.

Smart New Day Time Dress in Seersucker

This smart new two piece day time dress is of pale beige and white striped cotton seersucker. The short sleeved blouse has a soft bow of the bias cut seersucker to accent the square cut neckline. A band of the bias cut seersucker trims the skirt, and another bow is fastened to the band at the side. This dress and others of high fashion cotton seersucker will be found in a Chicago shop.

Summer Styles Augmented by More Cottons

BY REA SEEGER.

More new cottons are here. The first of the late spring and summer crop are tempting reminders of sunny weather, warm breezes, and outdoor life. You'll find exciting two-piece dresses made with the same smooth details of luxury silks and prints, also one piecers for heavy duty around home. House dresses are so made that they can double for marketing and household duties. They're slim, smart, and detailed with extras that make them anything but the serviceable, apron-like affairs of former years.

Cotton plaids are used for sophisticated town and daytime clothes. One-piece dresses with the plaid used in bias cut, have pleated skirts, short sleeves, and blouse tops trimmed with organdy ruffles. Others made of bright colored summery plaid cottons, are backless dresses teamed with short or bolero outline jackets. Spanking white pique is used for telling contrast, along the upper edge of the bodice, for shoulder straps, for bow trim of the bodice, and for collar and narrow cuffs of the sleeves of the jacket.

Good looking play clothes come in vivid colored cottons, including the high fashion Mexican cottons. Apron type dresses with a bib and halter neckline of white cotton rope make ideal sun-tan dresses and gardening outfits. Also featured are sturdy cottons like denim and heavy ginghams. Printed cotton mesh is one of the most successful summertime materials used for afternoon and Sunday night supper dresses. It comes in cool mesh texture and in many stunning printed and colored patterns, ideal for hot weather wear. But seersucker, long the favorite of summer cottons, still leads the parade of all purpose materials—for suits, town and country clothes, and, this year, for dress parade occasions.

Thru the Looking Glass

Each of us has a definite responsibility to conserve everything; to get fullest and longest use from even seemingly insignificant items. And that includes powder puffs.

We have all become more or less accustomed to using powder puffs lavishly and, with queenly abandon, throwing them away as soon as they show signs of soil. The habit of changing puffs frequently is an excellent one and can't possibly be overdone. In fact, we might take the opportunity here and now to remind any careless cuties that a dirty, grimy puff is a real menace to a clear and healthy complexion. It can do untold harm in laying the ground for, harboring, and spreading infection and is to be shunned with good reason.

However, instead of consigning soiled puffs to the waste basket, treat them to a bath in warm, soapy water and salvage them for further use. There's really no trick to washing them; simply squeeze suds thru until they're freed of all soil and then rinse well. Use plenty of rinse water to make certain there is no soapy residue left on them and then shake and fluff the puffs occasionally while they're drying. The average puff is good for several launderings and can give satisfactory service for quite a long time. Keep a supply of puffs on hand adequate for frequent washing and changing and you won't encounter any difficulty while you're doing your "conserving" best.

Army Program to Rehabilitate More Disabled

BY EDWARD BARRY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Clinton, Ia., March 22.—Far reaching developments in the matter of more efficient use of army man power and more stringent limitations on disability discharges were foreshadowed in the army's two day reconditioning conference at Schick General hospital concluded today.

For one thing, there will probably be a closer liaison among the medical corps, the war department general staff, and the field staff. A fruitful discussion followed a question brought up this afternoon by Lt. Col. Irving S. Wright, medical consultant of the 6th service command, as to the damage to morale which results when a man discharged from an army hospital is assigned to a type of duty different from that which the medical officer had recommended.

"One man we discharged, who was obviously not fit for overseas duty and for whom we recommended a warm, dry climate, was assigned to a combat unit at Camp McCoy, Wis.," said Col. Dean F. Winn, commanding officer at Schick hospital. He quoted figures indicating that a large proportion of the men discharged from Schick were not satisfied with the type of duty to which they had been sent later.

Col. E. C. Lynch of the war department general staff admitted that errors had occurred but said that strong efforts had now been made to see to it that the recommendations of the medical corps were followed.

Later, in an interview, he called attention to the fact that personnel reassignment centers have been established at Camp Butner, N. C., Fort Sam Houston, Tex., and Camp White, Ore. Their purpose is to find a useful place in the army for men who are no longer qualified for duty in the branch of service to which they were originally assigned.

About 167,000 men suffering from nervous, emotional, or mental troubles were given disability discharges during 1943. No one will ever know how many of these could have been salvaged thru prompt and adequate treatment, Maj. Walter E. Barton, assistant to the director of the reconditioning division of the army medical department, said at the conference.

"Due to the acute man power shortage," he said, "it is imperative that every treatment method in station and general hospital be utilized to the maximum to conserve this very important source of lost man power."

Maj. Barton asserted that less than 15 per cent of the neuropsychiatric disabilities can be classified as serious mental disturbances, and that even among this group a large number are curable. Not only was he optimistic about the outcome of the majority of neuropsychiatric cases, but he insisted that this optimism should be reflected in the treatment they receive in hospitals.

Women in War Work

When this column was first established—it was 2 years old last Jan. 8—it was often the custom to devote this space to letters and answers. In the beginning, the published letters often asked the questions hundreds of women wanted answered. Women in War Work did its best to help. Today we are reverting to the old custom of using a letter with a question, but the answer is up to any reader who happens to have a solution to offer these women of a small Illinois town who want to do war work.

The letter, from Stonington, Ill., says:

"I often read the articles in THE TRIBUNE on women's war activities and I notice you will answer questions about them. I live in the small village of Stonington [population 1,103], some distance from any large town. Some of our townspeople drive to Illiopolis where there is a production plant. But there are many others who cannot get away for the entire day but who would gladly give part time work in the war effort. There is not even a Red Cross room here. I have often wondered, when reading your articles and seeing pictures of women assembling parts, etc., if it would be possible to have a branch of such work in small towns.

"There are several vacant stores in the town that could be used for such a project. We have women here who have been timekeepers in the plants, stenographers, and bookkeepers, who probably could give several hours daily to such a branch plant. My husband, Dr. Jesse Armstrong, a dentist, is the mayor, and he has signified his willingness to help in any capacity needed.

"We would be grateful if you could inform us as to such a possibility, and we would be glad to send any information necessary to whomever would be interested."

This letter, signed by Mrs. Leah Armstrong, comes from a community sincerely interested in helping. It may be typical of other small towns in Illinois where there is willingness but lack of opportunity. Stonington, in Christian county, is on state route 48 and the Wabash railroad. It is approximately 10 miles from Taylorville and 18 miles southwest of Decatur.

War service wrapped in uniforms and regulations sometimes packages romance. That would be the indication of the announcement of the marriage on March 4 of Miss May Ball, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Ball, 6241 Niagara av., and Lt. George A. Cochrane of the army air forces, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen W. Cochrane of Fairmont City, Pa. The bride is a WASP [Women's Airforce Service Pilots] at Scott field, Ill., where Lt. Cochrane also is stationed. The wedding took place in St. Alban's Episcopal church.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., March 22.—Rita Hayworth sure is the fair haired girl at Columbia. Remember "Burlesque," which brought Barbara Stanwyck to fame? Well, Harry Cohn bought the picture rights and Rita will star in it—with guess who doing the production job? None other than our old friend, Al Jolson, who knows show business from "A" to "Izzard." Might I suggest the star for Hal Skelly's role—Danny Kaye. That would make it a superduper. How's about it, fellows? . . . The greatest story in town came home with Tom Treanor, just returned from 21 months of covering world battlefronts. He started out with no credentials—ended up in a blaze of glory. It's a great adventure story, which Tommy will put into book form. Buddy de Sylva wants to put it on the screen. Why not let Tommy act his own story? He's young and handsome, and who knows more about it?

Our Hollywood Travelers.

Gertrude Lawrence will be off to Africa in April. She doesn't think she'll touch England. There's still quite an income tax matter to settle before she can go home. . . . Wouldn't you know Paulette Goddard and Bill Gargan would play in Russia? They're now touring China and India. They won't be back until April 15. . . . Signe Hasso will stay at the Swedish embassy in Washington, D. C., when she goes there for a special showing of "Dr. Wassell." Signe's so frank. You ask her about her son, and she replies, "He's so grownup; he's 10, you know." . . . Bob Hope's postcard from the Canal Zone says, "Bing Crosby has jockeys everywhere," and shows a picture of a native boy riding a steer.

Fame Comes at Last.

"Having your name mentioned in the house of commons is no mean feat," says Edgar Bergen. In a heated debate, Prime Minister Churchill was dubbed Charlie McCarthy to Joe Stalin. . . . It will be old home week when Queenie Vassar [Mrs. Joseph Cawthorn] joins Ethel Barrymore in "None But the Lonely Heart." They've been friends from away back and have 10 years' gossip to catch up on. . . . Louis B. Mayer returned from New York with sinus trouble and a strep throat, but after two injections of penicillin he's a new man. As soon as he's entirely recovered he'll go east again to finish conferences canceled because he'd lost his voice. . . . Kim Hunter's brother, Gordon Cole, test pilot from Detroit, is here to meet Kim's new husband, Capt. Bill Baldwin.

Another Balboa, No Less.

Mervyn Leroy has brought many newcomers to the screen and is doing it again in "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo." Out of 600 interviewed, Mervyn picked 22, and, by the look of them, he's got at least four with stardust in their eyes. One, Jack Reilly, was born here and worked at the Douglas aircraft plant. He's a flyer and 4-F in the draft. He never wanted to act. Tim Murdock could be another Alan Ladd if they give him a heavy to play. He's a good guy in this. Carl Gose signed up with David Selznick one day and got the job with Mervyn the next. And our old friends, Van Johnson and Bob Walker, also are in it. They've already proved their worth. But the handsomest man on the set was a visitor, Brig. Gen. William Roscoe Woodward, who's been decorated in two wars. He recently returned from two years' active duty in the Pacific. His good looks would stop traffic. . . . Watching Mervyn go over and over a scene, I couldn't resist saying, "You weren't so particular when you made your first picture, 'Harold Teen,' remember?" He laughed and said, "No, that was just a picture. Now I have a reputation to live up to." In that one, Mary Brian and I had our reputations to make.

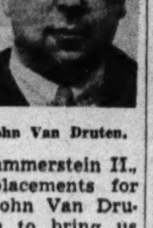
On the Aisle

By Claudia Cassidy

Visitations.



John Van Druten.

Gilbert Miller has been in town to observe Patricia Kirkland in "Kiss and Tell" to decide whether she is suitable for the new F. Hugh Herbert play about to go in rehearsal as a Miller production; Michael Todd is due today to decide the fate of "Something for the Boys," and we have just seen the departing heels of Oscar Hammerstein II., mulling June 1 replacements for "Oklahoma!", and John Van Druten, who would like to bring us "The Voice of the Turtle" if he can find the right cast.

Mr. Van Druten, an agreeable Englishman with a plump face from his Dutch father, found it hard enough to cast the first company of his three character play and is a bit on the desperate side about duplications. Suggestions thrust at him included Steve Cochran, here in "Without Love," for the Elliott Nugent part; Edith Atwater, due in "Tomorrow the World" April 2, for the Audrey Christie part, and Dorothy McGuire, if he can get her from the movies, which he probably can't, for the Margaret Sullavan role.

Altho his play is a trio, it has more than 30 off-stage characters, the delight of Mr. Van Druten, an off-stage character expert. He knows them all and the life they lead in the off-stage world created by every play worth the price of raising its curtain. He also knows the answers to questions. No, he says, the heroine's implausibly luxurious wardrobe was not the gift of her ex-lover, the theatrical producer. She isn't that kind of girl. It's just implausible, but ornamental. And the business of bumping a cupboard door closed with her forehead is Miss Sullavan's idea. A new piece of business, blowing into a just opened thermos bottle, is Mr. Van Druten's. Miss Sullavan protests it isn't sanitary, but the audience recognizes its validity with a laugh.

The Blondell Blues.

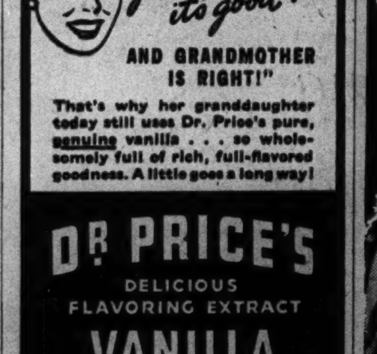
Mr. Todd, who puts on navy blue in May, will try to persuade Joan Blondell to stay in his show after the Chicago closing April 1, but she has other ideas. The musical either will shut up shop here or will lay off during Holy week and reopen in Detroit April 10. Mr. Todd, meanwhile, has been buying New York's 48th Street theater, and he will go on to the west coast, where he hopes to have Mae West opening "Catherine Was Great" in San Francisco May 23.

Hungarian Accent.

Joseph Szigeti, here as a soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra, says his name actually rhymed with "hot diggety" until Americans changed it to rhyme with spaghetti. A man of more than one talent, the violinist carves miniature furniture and collects dogs with curious names. Poontzik, for instance, not to mention Pushkin and Yogi.

Notes.

Struggling under an avalanche of orders for the Metropolitan visit, Civic Opera house boxoffice men report the biggest call for "Parsifal" and "Tannhauser." Last season it was "The Magic Flute." . . . The entire cast of "Oklahoma!" will entertain at the Marine hospital today, transported by the Red Cross motor corps. . . . Robert Edmond Jones will design "Helen Goes to Troy," which has Jarmila Novotna, Ernest Truex, Fred Keating, and George Rasely in the cast. Remember Rasely as the stuttering Wenzel in "The Bartered Bride"?



"Goodness Knows it's good! AND GRANDMOTHER IS RIGHT!"

That's why her granddaughter today still uses Dr. Price's pure, genuine vanilla . . . so wholesomely full of rich, full-flavored goodness. A little goes a long way!

A Wheel Chair and Furniture Sought by Sally

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Mrs. S. has been bed-fast for almost a year because of an illness which has paralyzed her legs. She and her husband are elderly and living on a minimum income. They would be very grateful for the use of a wheel chair which would enable Mrs. S. to be up and about for a short period each day. The address is on the north side. Further information will be provided to any interested reader.

Mrs. C. is over 70 years old and is living on an old age pension. She has very little furniture, and recently one of her most cherished possessions, a rocking chair, broke down completely and is now beyond repair. She would like very much to have another one. The address is on the south side, and an acquaintance will call for a rocker, if any reader has one to offer.

Mrs. B., also on the south side, is very much in need of a rug. She is the widowed mother of a small child. For some time she lived in a one room furnished apartment but recently was able to find larger quarters. However, she lacks much of essential furniture, including living room items, and because the floor is so badly worn, her little boy has had several infections due to slivers.

There are eight children in the M. family, and the family income is barely sufficient to provide food and shelter. Living in crowded quarters, they lack sufficient storage space, and the mother has appealed to this department for help in locating a chest of drawers for the numerous items of clothing used by so large a family.

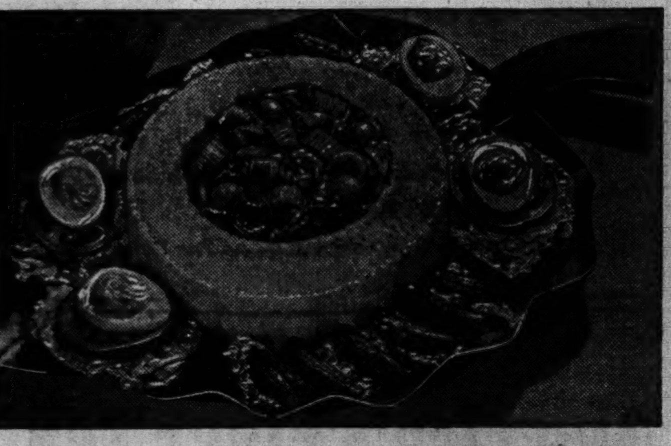
WILSON'S WEEKLY Bulletin

By George Rector
Food and Nutrition Consultant to Wilson & Co.

NO-POINT LOW-POINT FOODS CAN MAKE COOKING AN INTERESTING GAME

Everywhere we look these days we see placards suggesting we use No-Point Low-Point foods. I've been trying it, folks, and have had myself a most enjoyable time—and good eating as well. Try the recipe below and you'll see what I mean.



B-V Chop Suey—Good Eating and No Points Required

6 tsp. Wilson's B-V
1 cup sliced onions
¼ cup fat
5 cups celery, sliced
4½ cups hot water
1 can mushrooms (optional)
1 green pepper
2 tbsp. cornstarch or ⅓ cup flour

Brown the onion lightly in the fat (drippings from Wilson's Certified Bacon are deliciously mild and sweet), add celery and water and simmer, covered, 20 minutes. Add Wilson's B-V which has been dissolved in a small amount of the hot liquid. Add mushrooms and green pepper which has been sliced fine and cut into one-inch lengths and simmer 5 minutes longer. Thicken with cornstarch or flour and serve hot in a rice ring as pictured or over rice. Serves six.

Clip Recipe Here

NO-POINT MEAT FLAVOR

You'll marvel at the delicious true-meat flavor Wilson's B-V gives this chop suey. Unless you're actually looking for a piece of meat, you wouldn't even miss it, it's that good And Wilson's B-V is point free. Of course, if you have a little pork or veal to add, you do increase the nutritive value of the dish. If you use meat, select boneless, low-point cuts or left-over meat, browning the meat before adding the onions. Among the low-point meats suitable for this dish are boneless veal stew, boneless pork shoulder, and heart.

Use Plentiful Foods

Eggs are plentiful now and can be used often since they are a no-point food—and mighty good eating as well. For cooking in the shell as for the deviled eggs pictured—and for all cooking in which eggs play a prominent part—use eggs of highest quality, Wilson's Clear Brook Eggs.

The following recipe for egg salad is delicious and helps add valuable food nutrients to the diet. It is equally good served as a salad or as a sandwich filling.

Egg Salad

8 hard cooked Clear Brook Eggs
¼ cup green pepper, sliced thin
¼ cup pimiento
1 cup celery, diced
2 slices crisp Certified Bacon
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. grated onion
⅔ cup salad dressing (about)

To cook eggs, cover with warm water and simmer (do not boil) about 15 minutes. Drain and cover with cold water at once to prevent discoloration. Chop and combine with remaining ingredients. Chill well after mixing—half an hour at least—so flavors will blend. Serves 6.

You'll enjoy these no-point recipes I have given you today, I'm sure, and will be looking for other no-point low-point recipes. By cooperating with this new phase of the Food Fights for Freedom program you will be making an important contribution to the war effort. And while you are experimenting, don't forget that Wilson's B-V adds delicious meat flavor to many dishes. Perhaps you will "discover" a new favorite dish using B-V. If so, remember to enter it in my B-V recipe contest mentioned below.

Cordially yours, George Rector

Sausage and many ready to eat meats not ordinarily thought of as sausage have taken a tumble in points. Half a pound of most of these meats goes far, and for a point or so a family of four now can have an interesting dinner with meat included.

Besides sausage and frankfurts, this group of meats includes the always popular braunschweiger, liver cheese, salami, cervelat, and innumerable meat loaves, such as macaroni and cheese loaf, cooked beef loaf, and veal and gelatin loaf. Many of them are made with trimmings from the high quality meats which go to service men.

These meats needn't always be served cold. Most of them are delicious when sliced and sauteed until hot in a small amount of fat. They're good cubed or cut into thin pieces and combined with macaroni, spaghetti, noodles, rice, or potatoes for a casserole dish.

Good old American cheddar cheese which used to be so plentiful now is scarce and precious and frequently not well ripened. Cheese lovers miss cheddar and some of their other old favorite cheeses more than they miss prime and choice quality beef.

Sugar rations for civilians aren't to be cut, according to present predictions, but we'll find our soft drinks, candies, and other manufactured sweets less sugary this year. A larger quantity of sugar is needed for industrial alcohol production.

Some manufacturers still make the extravagant claim that if you eat their pantothenic acid pills your gray hair will turn back to its natural color. But some recent experiments have shown that just the opposite may be true. Some investigators report a fair amount of success in prevention and cure of graying when this factor is added to an inadequate diet; others report it completely ineffective. Some experiments upon silver foxes showed that this factor resulted in the development of an inferior grade of fur and excessive silvering. Most of the research is conducted with rats, but some human experiments also are being made.

In a great many hands involving a cross-ruff technique, there is a vital preliminary play that often is overlooked.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	3 spades	Pass
6 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

South's six spade bid was not sound, despite the great strength of his hand.

West opened the three of diamonds. Declarer won, ruffed a diamond, led to the heart ace and ruffed his last diamond, then led to the heart king and ruffed a heart. All this was extremely easy and pleasant, but now South's fun was over. He could not get back to his own hand to ruff his last heart, and hence could not avoid losing one trick each in hearts and clubs.

South had overlooked the vital preliminary play referred to above. At the second trick there was only one right or logical play—to lead, and get rid of, the club eight. The defenders, on winning this trick, could do no better than return a trump. Declarer should win this in his own hand, then ruff a diamond, ruff a club and ruff the last diamond. Now a second club ruff would, fortunately enough, establish the rest of dummy's suit and coincidentally force South into the proper continuation. He could see that success depended on finding a 1-1 split of the still outstanding trumps, and therefore would lead a trump to the king. The second lucky break [in trumps] would put the contract "on ice."

Admittedly, this line of play would require extraordinary luck, but South's plan had no chance at all.

Name Winners in School Paper Salvage Drive

Public and parochial school pupils, who gathered 9,330,000 pounds of waste paper during the five week $1,000 prize contest sponsored by the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association, collected their rewards yesterday.

Ceremonies were held in the offices of Don C. Rogers, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of elementary schools, at 228 N. La Salle st., and Msgr. Daniel F. Cunningham, superintendent of Catholic schools, at 755 N. State st. American colors were presented to the leading schools of the nine public districts, while cash awards went to the victorious parochial schools. John R. Robinson of the publishers' association, made the presentations.

The largest per capita collection in the city, 377.41 pounds each, was attained by the 43 students at St. Joseph's school, 8801 Marquette av., South Chicago. At the Ryder school, 8716 Wallace st., enrollment 391, the per capita collection was 109.8 pounds.

The collections in 333 public elementary schools totaled 4,980,000 pounds in the drive, and the schools netted, from the sale of this vital war material, approximately $25,000. The total collections in parochial elementary schools was 4,350,000 pounds.

Winners in the nine public school districts were: District 1, Norwood Park, 5800 N. Nina av., 455 pupils, 107 pounds each; 2, Falconer, 3000 N. Lamon av., 795 pupils, 86 pounds; 3, Mozart, 2200 N. Hamlin av., 622 pupils, 96 pounds; 4, Emmet, 5500 Madison st., 1,028 students, 57 pounds; 5, Plamondon, 1525 S. Washtenaw av., 251 pupils, 90 pounds; 6, Burroughs, 3542 S. Washtenaw av., 343 pupils, 72 pounds; 7, Tonti, 5815 S. Homan av., 586 pupils, 63 pounds; 8, Revere, 7145 Ellis av., 414 students, 55 pounds, and 9, Ryder.

St. Joseph's school was followed in the parochial lineup by St. James, 2441 N. Menard av., 426 pupils, 343.45 each; Assumption, 12242 S. Parnell av., 270 pupils, 300.61 pounds; St. Stephen's, 516 N. Peoria st., 11 pupils, 218 pounds; St. Thomas the Apostle, 5467 Woodlawn av., 521 pupils, 195.83 pounds; St. Martin, 320 W. 39th st., 476 pupils, 161.31 pounds.

A second waste paper drive, with another $1,000 in cash prizes for public and parochial schools, is now in progress.

Eleanor Club Will Hear Barrymore Story Reviewed

"Good Night, Sweet Prince," Gene Fowler's biographical story of John Barrymore, will be reviewed by Mrs. Loyd Faxon when she appears before the Central Eleanor club at a 6 o'clock dinner meeting tonight. The Gadabouts have planned a theater party at 8:30 to view a performance of A. A. Milne's comedy, "Mr. Pim Passes By," at the Goodman theater.

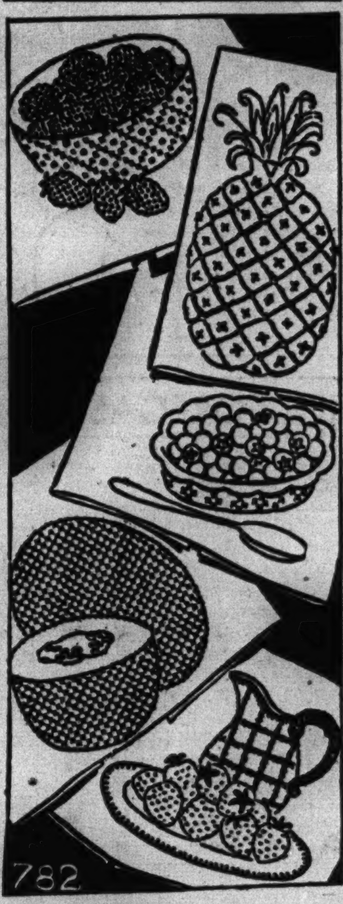
Fruit Designs



BY NANCY CABOT.

One of the nicest ways to brighten the kitchen is via embroidery. Colorful designs of fruit and berries on tea towels offer an ideal method of improving kitchen decoration. This hot iron transfer pattern includes five motifs, measuring from 4 by 4½ inches to 5 by 5 inches.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of fruits and berries No. 782, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th av., New York City.

Courtship Is Key to Marital Path, Survey Discloses

The University of Chicago yesterday added some sociological proof to the ancient saw: If you can't get along during a courtship, you can't do it after marriage.

Most divorces occur, said Ernest W. Burgess, professor of sociology at the university, because the marriages are ill-advised to start with. He and Paul Wallin, a former Stanford university faculty member now in military service, conducted an investigation which showed that adjustment after marriage can be predicted to a high degree during the engagement period.

In an article in the American Journal of Sociology, published by the University of Chicago Press, the men published a study made of 505 couples during the engagement period and again three years after their marriage.

The correlation between the adjustment levels during engagement and marriage was exceptionally high, Burgess said. Surveys showed that those with a low adjustment rate seldom married, and those who did, despite this unfavorable symptom, remained unadjusted after marriage, and frequently were divorced.

Individual questionnaires were submitted to each member of the betrothed unit. Among the questions asked were:

Does your fiance confide in you?

Are you satisfied with the amount of affection demonstrated?

In leisure time do you prefer to be "'on the go" all or most of the time or to stay at home?

After marriage, these questions, with slight variations, were asked. It was found that maladjustment frequently resulted in divorce.

28th Arts Club Member Show Set for April 2

sul general to Chicago, will be among the special guests at a benefit lecture which Miss Clara MacGowan, associate professor of arts at Northwestern university, will give tonight at the Cordon club under the auspices of the Greek Women's University club. Greek pastries will be served during the reception following the 7:30 o'clock lecture, and proceeds will go to Greek war relief.

Plans will be made for a Monticello college spring party, to be held in Chicago while students are at home for their Easter vacations, when alumnae of the school meet today in the home of Mrs. Frank Jaquith of Evanston.

School News.

Many youngsters are at home for the spring holidays. Thomas Washburne, son of the Hempstead Washburnes, is here from the Taft school. Botsford Young Jr. has returned from Governor Dummer academy, and Thorne Ellis and Phelps Kelley are here from the Deerfield academy. Silas Cathcart and Wesley Dixon Jr. and Scotty and David Welles, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Edward K. Welles, are others at home. Scotty attends Exeter and David goes to St. Paul's.

Among the students at the Mary C. Wheeler school who will be arriving tomorrow for the spring holidays are Anna Haskell and Patricia Selz. Margaret Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Rogers of Evanston, will spend the holiday in Providence, R. I., with her classmate, Meredith Murdock.

Paul Schulze III. and Walter H. Schulze II. are spending their spring holiday from the Shattuck Military school with their mother, Mrs. Cook Schulze, at the Plaza hotel. Their sister, Miss Idamae Schulze, is a student at Bradford Junior college.

Mrs. Ronald P. Boardman and her son, Ronald Jr., who attends the Brooks school, are spending his three week spring holiday in Palm Beach, Fla., where Mrs. Boardman's parents, the Theodore W. Robinsons, have a winter home.

Among the Chicago schools, the Boys' and Girls' Latin schools are closing today for the spring holidays, to reopen April 4. The Francis W. Parker school holiday will start April 7 and continue to the 17th. The Faulkner School for Girls will close Friday of next week until April 9. The Parent-Teacher association of the school is giving a book fair in the gymnasium Monday, at which a former student, Author Emily Kimbrough, will be present to add to the occasion.

The freshman and sophomore girls of the Harris schools are giving a dance tomorrow night at the school, the last party before the Easter holidays. The school will close a week from Friday for the holiday, to reopen April 17.

RED BRANDS OWN PARTY FAKER OF NEGRO INTEREST

Accuses Communists of Exploiting Race.

New York, March 22 [Special].—The Communist party was accused today by one of its former leaders of exploiting the tragedies of the Negroes to further its own interests.

The charge was made in an interview by Tim Holmes, who had devoted 15 years to Communist work and had become one of the party's most effective Negro leaders, the New York World-Telegram said.

While proclaiming its alleged friendliness for Negroes, the party has practiced its own "Jim Crow" policies against them, has spied on them, stirred them against each other, and in many ways demonstrated that the Communist organization is considerably less than a "brotherhood of man" movement, Holmes was quoted as saying.

Seeks Yes-Men.

"So far as the Negro is concerned," the Communist Negro authority was quoted, "the party for years has been interested only in building up a small group of Marxian Uncle Toms [yes-men] who kowtow to every whim and fancy of the party hierarchy.

"The party has always played Negro against Negro as a matter of shrewd policy and, in a party where any show of independence is suspect, the nonservile Negro especially gets a raw deal.

"It has a routine policy of spying on its Negro organizers, usually by sending out white women to get friendly with them and report back to headquarters.

Students Quit Movement.

"Of the 30 Negro students I knew at the Lenin school [in Moscow] being groomed for Communist leadership, not one I know of is any longer in the movement."

Holmes told the following story, according to the newspaper article, as an example of the Communists' exploitation of the Negroes' troubles:

Seven years ago Angelo Herndon, a young Negro, arrived at the Pennsylvania station, having just been freed from a 20 year chain gang prison term in Georgia by a Supreme court ruling. A Communist delegation was waiting at the station to greet him.

"It's a pity he isn't blacker," exclaimed Anna Damon, executive secretary of the Communists' legal arm, the international labor defense.

Exploitation Chief Aim.

"For the first time I realized," Herndon said later, "that the Communist leadership didn't give a rap if I died in that Georgia dungeon or was freed. From their point of view, it would have been better if I had died in jail. Because I was free and my skin was so light they couldn't fully exploit me as an oppressed Negro peasant."

But they did exploit Herndon to the extent of building him up as a Communist martyr, Holmes said. He was put on the party's powerful central committee; but, because of his independence of mind, he was tossed into a minor job on the party's official organ, the Daily Worker, and recently was frozen out.

WILLIAM RIGHTS A MISTAKE: THIS TERM WILL STICK

William J. Crosson, 48, of 4521 S. Union av., who last month languished several days in the Bridewell for an offense he did not commit, was returned there yesterday for one that he did.

He was sentenced to 30 days by Municipal Judge Samuel Heller in Des Plaines street court Feb. 19 after Sgt. W. J. Hardin of Brownsfield, Tex., accused him of stealing $15 in a tavern. Crosson started serving the sentence and was released when Hardin recognized, but did not catch, the real thief.

Yesterday Crosson appeared before Judge Edward J. Luczak in the Chicago avenue court, charged with disorderly conduct. He was accused of smashing two plate glass windows of the Ohio inn, 551 N. State st., in retaliation for being escorted out. This time Crosson didn't plead mistaken identity. He was fined $25 and sentenced to 30 days.

BOILER BLOWS UP; 2 WORKERS SUFFER BURNS

Two men were burned yesterday when a small boiler used for an incinerator exploded in the subbasement of the Builders' Building, 228 N. La Salle st.

The men, John Donnelly, 68, 807 N. Wells st., a fireman for the building, and Fred Ludwig, 50, building engineer, were taken to Alexian Brothers hospital.

The two were shoveling rubbish into the incinerator when the explosion, which rattled windows and doors thruout the skyscraper, occurred.

COURT FORBIDS JOAN MANNERS TO SEE GIRL, 11

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—Joan Manners, former movie actress, today was denied all rights to see her 11 year old daughter as Justice T. Alan Goldsborough signed an order awarding custody of the child to her father, John Langan.

It was the final step—except for an appeal—in the custody battle over Joan Langan. Miss Manners' attorneys have five days in which to appeal.

A Maryland court previously had awarded the child to her mother, and Langan, who kept Joan despite the decision, faces arrest on a contempt citation if he returns to his former home in Chevy Chase, Md.

PAW DIRECTOR IN AREA DROPS 28 FROM STAFF

In a report to the industry committee for this area W. W. Vandeveer, director of the 15 midwestern states for the petroleum administration for war, yesterday disclosed he has been slashing his Chicago office pay roll drastically.

The report said that some higher paid experts have been dismissed since Vandeveer took charge here at the request of Petroleum Administrator Ickes last July 15. The pay roll has been reduced more than $100,000 and 28 of 146 employes have been dropped.

Vandeveer in private life is head of the Allied Oil company of Cleveland, O.

RUN OVER HEELS LEAD TO ARREST OF 'LIEUTENANT'

Detectives James Traut and William Sullivan noticed a man in an army officer's uniform yesterday at Madison and La Salle street. It was a well tailored uniform, and on his shoulders were first lieutenant's bars, but his shoes were run over badly at the heels.

The detectives called a military policeman, who questioned the suspect. He gave his name as William McKanry, 24, and said he lived in Milwaukee prior to his enlistment in the army in 1939. He never rose above the rank of private. Last year, while on maneuvers, he was court-martialed for insulting an officer and sentenced to three years at the disciplinary barracks in Fort Leavenworth, Kas., McKanry said.

Up to Feb. 29 he was serving as orderly to a colonel at the barracks. On that date, according to McKanry, he took the colonel's uniform, his automobile, his .45 caliber pistol, and $32, and drove in the car to Chicago. He was locked up at Central station.

★YOUR IMPORTANT EXTRA COAT IS GABARDINE

Room should be made for one in every man's wardrobe. It won't be standard every day equipment—it'll be the coat you'll hunt up on days when standard equipment won't do, or when you think you've seen all the routine apparel you'd like to. There'll be days when a downpour threatens, but when you'll want your morale to offset the weather—then you'll wear your gabardine. There'll be occasions that won't call for formality on your part, but will call for your best appearance—it would be your gabardine again. And is there any other coat that can give you the turnout assurance a smooth gabardine can? In this case, we say, no—for the gabardines in this group are, every one, tailored from peerless pure wool coatings.

The Imperial Gabardine is shown. An imported, all wool gabardine originally loomed for his Majesty, Napoleon I. Hand tailored by Malcolm Kenneth. Here, in the bat wing, button style. Also with raglan or set-in sleeves in the Balmacaan style. And notched collar with set-in sleeves.

CUBS MOVE OUTDOORS; DALLESSANDRO JOINS SQUAD

JODIE PHIPPS NOW LISTED AS ONLY HOLDOUT

Wilson Supplies No Lineup Clews.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

French Lick, Ind., March 22.—A reasonable facsimile of spring swept the local hills today and Jim Wilson's Cubs finally were able to convince themselves that baseball training can be something else than monotonous jogging around a horse track. Given the weather they had been waiting for, the squad burst forth for the first time on the diamond adjacent to the hotel door and experienced the pleasures of batting practice, this being a dish of which all diamond performers never tire.

The squad was swelled in breadth tho not in height by the sudden appearance of squatty Dominic Dallessandro, who previously had refused to take up his fly chasing chores because of objections about salary. Dom, who recently was rejected for army service because of old head injuries, admitted he hadn't signed but said everything was in order and he would attend to the formality as soon as Vice President Jim Gallagher shows up. The holdout squad now consists exclusively of Pitcher Jodie Phipps, a Los Angeles purchase.

No Definite Lineup.

As is the custom for batting practice purposes, the squad was divided but, because of numerous absentees, Manager Wilson wasn't able to provide even one fresh clew as to the eventual regular lineup. Phil Cavarretta was billed as first baseman of the No. 1 squad but there was nothing startling about that. Bill Schuster was at short on the Cavarretta team and that, too, might prove permanent. Eddie Stanky also was in the Cavarretta group but this arrangement didn't release Stanky from the pressure he expects to undergo after the winter candidate for his job—Don Johnson from the Milwaukee Brewers—begins to unlimber around second base. For the time being Johnson is hitting and fielding with the No. 2 ensemble.

Pete Elko, who is the third base regular until somebody beats him out of the job, was lined up with the second crew, his rival at third being Tony York, another graduate from Charley Grimm's Brewers. The competition for these two lads will be enlivened as soon as Peanuts Lowrey arrives to demonstrate that he not only is an outfielder but an infielder as well.

Sauer May Take Over Center.

When not hitting this afternoon, Ed Sauer was chasing batted balls in center field for the No. 1 gang and that might prove of some significance. Sauer, of course, has a jump on at least a portion of the fly chasing class because of the fancy league leading .368 average he produced for the Nashville team last season. Sauer's chances for keeping center field to himself will be heightened considerably if Lowrey proves able to turn out a snappy grade of work as a third baseman.

So as to give their diamond a chance to dry out a bit more the Cubs took their morning lessons of running, etc., on a high spot on the golf course. While the Cubs were enjoying their noon recess James Dykes and the White Sox took over the place again instead of going up the road a half mile or so to their own park, but before Wilson's boys came back for their afternoon batting chores the ground keepers had the place so neatly fixed up that there were no signs of trespassing.

Outfielders Pitch Too.

During the matinee session Wilson gave all his pitchers a turn at throwing to the hitters and when the moundsmen weren't thus engaged they shared the retrieving of balls in the outfield. The outfielders also had to do some of the pitching.

Johnny Miklos, the Chicago pitching policeman who came along with the boys to get the exercise, probably will wind up a duly signed member of the cast. He wants to make arrangements whereby he could be part patrolman and part Cub. The Cubs are willing to sign him on this basis simply because of a possible man power shortage that might catch up with them later in the season.

ALLEN BRADLEY TEAM DEFEATS WICHITA, 61 TO 46

Denver, Colo., March 22 (AP).—Milwaukee's Allen Bradleys defeated the Wichita Cessna Bobcats, 61 to 46 tonight to enter the quarter-finals of the National A. A. U. basketball tournament. Jack Dentinger, former Marquette university center, poured in the winning baskets in the Milwaukee team's stretch drive which enabled them to pull away from their opponents.

Sox Step Up Practice for Tiger Series

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

French Lick, Ind., March 22.—Everything is just dandy in the life of the White Sox. The fine weather which enabled them to conduct a lengthy batting drill on the Cubs' field here, their first of the year, also prevailed in Evansville, Ind., where the Detroit Tigers are training. As a result the week-end series between the Sox and Tigers in Evansville now appears to be a certainty.

Until today's fine weather the Sox were skeptical about the possibility of opening the exhibition season Saturday. The fact they had done no batting prior to today was one element, but reports that the Evansville ball park was under water was the real source of fears the trip to Evansville would be canceled. Shortly before noon today word was received that the Evansville grounds would be in excellent shape for the Saturday and Sunday encounters. A year ago the Sox and Tigers played to more than 9,000 in their two-day engagement in Evansville.

Cubs Chase Sox Away.

Manager Jim Dykes did not venture to use the Cub infield and batting cage here today without getting the consent of Jim Wilson, the Cub skipper. The Cubs did not use the newly constructed infield for their morning drill, but did use the full layout after chasing the Sox away at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Dykes insisted he is confident he will get up enough energy to travel to the Sox field in West Baden.

The sketchy way the Sox have of keeping up with events was further emphasized today when word was received that Outfielder Thurman Tucker was on his way here. The Sox had announced some time ago that the bespectacled flychaser was in the army.

Grove to Face Tigers.

All the pitchers except Thornton Lee worked in the batting practice today. Lee is suffering from a chest cold but nevertheless managed to get out for the pitching phase of today's exercise program.

Manager Dykes said he probably will use freshman pitchers against the Tigers, with the exception of Orval Grove. Grove is ready to do some pitching, but Jimmy wasn't sure whether he would work Saturday or Sunday.

GOLDEN GLOVES INVADERS MOVE ON NEW YORK

Chicago Squad to Arrive Today.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Toledo, O., March 22.—Chicago's 1944 Golden Gloves intercity squad tonight was moving toward the paramount objective of its career—next Monday night's battle with the New York team, made up of the best boxers on the Atlantic seaboard in Madison Square Garden. They boarded the New York Central's Commodore in the La Salle st. station at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, fit and ready for one of the most exacting competitions in war time sport.

All of the boys who earned their places in the recent Tournament of Champions and the Chicago finals in the Stadium on March 10 are in peak condition, thanks to the tutelage of co-Coaches Issy Kline and Freddy Caserio. They went thru their final paces early this morning with a finishing one hour jaunt thru Grant park, near their training quarters in the Illinois Athletic club.

Develop Team Spirit.

Not every member of this detail, recruited from the ablest punchers and boxers in 30 centers ranging from Minnesota to Florida and Texas, and from Ohio to California will earn an assignment in the Garden ring. Yet they all enjoyed the ride eastward, establishing a new record for fellowship. They'll check into their hotel tomorrow morning, after which they will rest for a couple of hours and then adjourn to Stillman's Eighth av. gymnasium, where they will begin anew the struggle for the 16 fighting roles. It was obvious tonight that, in the course of their sessions in the I. A. C. ring, they had developed a camaraderie that will assure the winners of the 16 jobs of a loyal ringside rooting section.

Several members of the Chicago squad are no strangers to duty in this intercity feud. One is Pvt. Ragon Kinney of Camp Callan, Cal., who won his bout in the 1939 argument with New York. The willing Arkansan is out to make it two in a row. Another intercity veteran is Corp. Levi Southall of Camp Ellis, Ill., Chicago's welterweight champion, who anticipates the toughest chore of Monday's program, when he meets Jimmy Palmer, New York's No. 1 man, according to the reports of Coach Kline, who scouted New York's finals.

Coaches Warn Boxers.

Chicago holds a convincing margin over the New Yorkers in the series that began in the old Coliseum in 1928, but Kline and Caserio tonight were repeating their warnings that the easterners, with six champions from New York, one from Puerto Rico, and one from Washington, D. C., are determined to avenge that 14 to 2 trouncing our lads handed them last March in Chicago. The Chicagoans have won 9, lost 4 and tied 3 in the preceding 16 intercity duels, but five of the victories were decided by the margin of a single bout, 9 to 7.

BITHORN'S NAVAL AIR STATION NINE DEFEATED, 5 TO 4

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, March 22 (AP).—The naval air station, with Hiram Bithorn, formerly of the Chicago Cubs, pitching the first six innings, lost a 5 to 4 decision today to the Santurce Crabbers, professional baseball club, before 8,000 fans in Escobar stadium.

Bithorn yielded six hits in the contest held for the benefit of the Red Cross war fund. Errors were responsible for Bithorn's deefat. Score:

Air Station..........	000	001	300—4	7	2
Santurce	000	140	00*—5	8	4

Bell Stops Berger in First Round of Cleveland Bout

The Men I Took to Dinner.

I took two young men to dinner last night
And really enjoyed it no end,
For what, I ask you, is nicer
Than dining out with a friend?

They sat there very prim and erect,
And, tho they had very little to say,
I thought it was to be expected—
Some strong men are silent that way.

Yes, these young men at my dinner
Were models of manner and mien,
Till all of a sudden I noticed
In one's eye a tear's tiny gleam;
"Pat isn't wearing a bib," he lisped;
"So I won't either," yelled Steve—
Patrick, you see, is just past three
And Steve was two Michaelmas eve.

Chicagoans Enter Garden Finals.

College Basketball

National Invitational New York Tournament Semi-finals.
St. John's, 48; Kentucky, 45.

New York, March 22 (AP).—De Paul University of Chicago moved into the finals of the National Invitational basketball tournament in Madison Square Garden tonight by defeating Oklahoma A. & M., 41 to 38. De Paul will meet St. John's college of Brooklyn in the finals Sunday night. St. John's beat University of Kentucky, 48 to 45, tonight.

Oklahoma Aggies jumped into a 15 to 2 lead in the first 10 minutes of play, but De Paul had whittled the lead to 24 to 18 at half time.

Rival Centers Duel.

For the first 24 minutes the game was largely a battle between Bob Kurland, 7 foot Aggies' center, and George Mikan, 6 foot 9 inch De Paul pivot man. Each scored eight points in that time, but Kurland had the advantage defensively as he batted out at least eight shots that looked good.

Mikan went out on personals four minutes after the start of the second half, but Kurland lasted until a minute and a half before the finish. Oklahoma played that last minute and one half with only four players as two had fouled out, one was injured and two other subs had already reëntered the game twice.

Dean Leads De Paul.

Jack Dean paced De Paul with 14 points. Gene Stump and Mikan had nine each. Kurland led Oklahoma Aggies with 14 points.

St. John's and Kentucky battled on even terms during the first half, which ended with the score tied, 24 to 24. Kentucky took an eight point lead in the first three minutes of the second half but St. John's struck back and finally passed the Wildcats on a free throw by Wade Duym and a field goal by Don Wehr in the last minute and one-half. Bill Kotsores led St. John's in scoring with 15 points.

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—Now if there were only some golf balls to cover——

The war production board announced today the release of 400 tons of balata, a nonelastic gum widely used before the war for that purpose.

Officials said it might be used for recovers. There's still nothing to use for new golf ball centers.

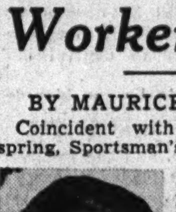
It's Spring at Sportsman's; Workers Busy

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.

Coincident with the advent of spring, Sportsman's Park, Chicago's sporty half mile plant in Cicero, is throwing off its winter blankets and making ready for the opening of another Chicagoland thorobred racing season.



John L. Keeshin.

As was the case last year, Sportsman's Park will inaugurate Chicago's 163 day program with a 14 day meeting which opens on April 29 and closes on May 15, giving way to Lincoln Field's 29 day schedule which, as in 1943, will be held at Hawthorne.

Hawthorne's meeting will end June 17 and Arlington Park then will open its 35 day program at Washington Park on June 19, during which period the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., will sponsor a five day program as it did in 1943 at Sportsman's Park. The Arlington Park season will continue until Aug. 3, after which Washington Park will take over from Aug. 4 to Sept. 7, 30 days in all. Hawthorne will open its meeting Sept. 9 and will close Oct. 17, after which Sportsman's Park will conclude the area's racing activities with its fall meeting of 16 days, from Oct. 18 to Nov. 4.

Set Three Records.

Remodeling, redecorating, and the lifting of the bed of straw from the running surface is under way at Sportsman's Park under the direction of its president, John L. Keeshin, who predicts another successful season for all tracks in the Chicago area, but particularly the Cicero establishment.

Last year, Sportsman's Park played a prominent part in the establishment of new Illinois racing records, among which were:

1. The largest collection of state revenues from the operation of racing establishments—$2,808,168.02.
2. The largest distribution of purses and prizes to horsemen in the history of Illinois racing—$2,855,596.
3. Record making contributions of $814,965.29 to war and local relief organizations.

Improve Sportsman's Plant.

Purses offered at the regular spring and fall meetings at Sportsman's Park last year amounted to $222,900 and another $108,440 was put up for the two special weeks of charity racing, the first sponsored by THE TRIBUNE in the spring and the second by the track itself in the fall, from which relief agencies received $381,095.31.

BY EDWARD PRELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., March 22.—In one terse sentence Manager Paul Thompson today described his feelings while the Chicago Blackhawks rested for tomorrow night's second Stanley cup playoff game with the somewhat stunned Detroit Red Wings.

"We're walking the beat now," he exclaimed, and this expression was meant to compare the Hawks with the policeman who, striding down the street, is lord of all he surveys.

"They've got to skate out there on the ice tomorrow night and carry the fight to us," declared Paul. "I look for one of those 8 to 3 battles which can go either way, depending upon the breaks. The Wings won't play us a tight defensive game like in the first game."

Writers Blame Dion.

"Four straight," chortled Johnny Gottselig, "I've got that feeling. If we take 'em tomorrow, we'll wind it up in those two games next week in Chicago."

Meanwhile, Detroit grumbled over the Hawks' 44 second offensive explosion in the third period of last night's game which wiped out a 1 to 0 Red Wing lead and brought a 2 to 1 victory to Chicago. The hockey writers were tossing the blame at young Connie Dion, the Detroit goalie, for failing to stop Doug Bentley's game winning shot.

Proving that it's all according to the viewpoint, Gottselig said that Bentley's goal was one of the greatest he had ever seen. The 138 pound Hawk forward took the puck at center ice with only Flash Hollett in his path to the goal. Doug detoured around Flash with a fast maneuver and bore in on Dion.

Goodfellow Praises Bentley.

The Detroit goalie sprawled in front of the net. Bentley said his first reaction was to lift the rubber over Dion. Then he saw an opening under the goalie's left arm. He simply guided the puck in that direction and gently pushed it home.

In adding to the Bentley accolade, Ebbie Goodfellow, one time Red Wing star, who is experting the series for a newspaper, called Doug the greatest left winger he has ever seen.

The Hawks had praise, too, for Goalie Mike Karakas and claimed only a lucky shot deprived the veteran from a shutout. Bill Mosienko was in the penalty box when the Wings put on a rush. Forty feet out, Joe Carveth shot while Teammate Syd Howe rushed toward the Chicago nets to screen the shot. As Syd arrived there, the disc hit his stick and dropped into the cage.

Wings Face Long Haul.

The unhappy Detroiters even were blaming the Hawks for the box office failure on opening night when only 10,897 turned out. But they were gracious enough to admit Tuesday is a poor night for sports attractions. They pointed out that the Hawks are bad box office because of a series of failures in the Olympia which went back to March of 1940 before last night's surprising triumph. A thousand tickets remain unsold for the second game.

Jack Adams, Detroit's white haired manager, wryly suggested that the two best teams in the playoff—Montreal and Detroit—had been beaten, but frankly admitted it would be a long haul now for the Red Wings.

Doctors Act to Prevent Spread of Malady.

Cairo, Ill., March 22 (AP).—Clyde Wares, Cardinal coach, has diphtheria, attending physicians said tonight, and as a result all members of the St. Louis team, some members' wives who are here at the training camp, a number of newspapermen covering the training and trainers are being given immunization shots.

Only two camp residents were expected not to have to take the immunization shots — George Fallon, an infielder with the Browns last year, and Frederick Schmidt, pitcher for Rochester last year. They arrived only tonight.

DODGERS LOSE LOHRMAN.

Bear Mountain, N. Y., March 22 (AP).—Manager Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers learned today that Bill Lohrman, right handed pitcher, had passed his physical examination and is in the army and that Outfielder Dixie Walker is en route to camp from Birmingham, Ala. Walker has signed his contract but delayed reporting.

Fred Ostermueller, left handed pitcher with the St. Louis Browns last year, reported tonight and is expected to sign his contract tomorrow.

ADAMS TO REPORT.

Lakewood, N. J., March 22 (AP).—Manager Mel Ott of the New York Giants today received a telegram from his missing pitcher, Ace Adams, who said he would arrive in camp from Iron City, Ga., Friday night or Saturday. Adams, who established a modern major league record for pitchers by participating in 70 games last season, won 11 and lose seven and compiled an earned run average of 2.83.

With the aid of three snow plows, which cleared part of the outfield yesterday, the Giants were able to engage in a two hour workout on a dry field today.

YANKEES WORK INDOORS.

Atlantic City, N. J., March 22 (AP).—The New York Yankees held their seventh indoor drill of the training season, as compared to three outdoor workouts, in the local armory today. Jack Phillips, one of the Newark Bears' players who is working out with the world champions, practiced both as an infielder and an outfielder.

WEATHERLY TO REPORT.

Atlantic City, N. J., March 22 (AP).—Outfielder Roy Weatherly wired today from Cleveland to Manager Joe McCarthy that he would join the Yankees next Tuesday. Weatherly was understood to have passed his induction test Feb. 29, so it is not known how long he may be able to stay with the team.

STARR WON'T JOIN REDS.

Bloomington, Ind., March 22 (AP).—Ray Starr, leading relief pitcher for the Cincinnati Reds last year, today told Manager Bill McKechnie that he does not want to play in Cincinnati this year.

BROWNS SIGN STEPHENS.

Because of a muddy field, Manager Luke Sewell held another indoor workout, using Nelson Potter, Weldon West, and Raymond Campbell as pitchers in a long batting practice. He said tentative arrangements have been made for a game Sunday with Toledo, the Browns' American association farm club, also in training here.

ARMY CALLS LITWHILER.

Cairo, Ill., March 22 (AP).—Danny Litwhiler, Cardinal outfielder, received notice today at training camp from his Ringtown, Pa., draft board to report for a pre-induction physical examination Saturday. He told Manager Billy Southworth he would ask for a transfer to Jefferson barracks at St. Louis.

DURKIN BREAKS SCORING MARK IN A. A. U. TOURNEY

Bill Durkin, former Loyola university star, set a new tournament scoring record of 38 points last night in the Central A. A. U. basketball tournament at St. Sabina Community center to lead Harry's Owl club to a 61 to 23 victory over the Danley Machines of Cicero. Leo High school defeated St. Ignatius, 31 to 29, in the other second round game.

The former individual scoring record was 35 points made by John Jorgenson of DePaul in 1941. Tonight's games, which finish the second round, pit De LaSalle High school, defending champion, against the Durso Products, and the Abbott Hall team of Northwestern university against Roberts and Oaks.

St. Viator Beats Ascension in Double Overtime, 19-16

Competition continued in the second round of the annual St. Philip Grammar School basketball tournament last night, St. Viator going two overtime periods to beat Ascension, 19 to 16. Second round scores:

RULES CHANGES IN BASKETBALL ARE EXPECTED

The problem of legislating against goal tending by tall basketball players, a play which has brought forth comments both pro and con from coaches thruout the country, will be one of the topics discussed when the National Basketball committee of the United States and Canada meets in New York next Monday and Tuesday. Secretary H. V. Porter of the committee said yesterday such goal tending may be prevented by ruling it a violation when a player touches the ball above the level of the ring in a specified area in the near vicinity of the basket.

The rules for 1944-'45 will be authorized at the New York meeting after the committee has considered the needs which may have arisen during play in the current season. Contact has been maintained with groups of basketball coaches, officials and contest managers in all parts of the country and their reactions are being tabulated on a questionnaire which has been in the hands of these groups for several weeks.

Consider Foul Rule Change.

Another problem concerns the number of personal fouls which may be committed before disqualification of a player. Several high school state associations this season experimented with five fouls per game, as in the Illinois state tournament, while others, including the City and Catholic leagues, retained the original limit of four.

One suggestion for consideration is to permit four personal fouls, as according to the present rules, with the offended team retaining possession of the ball after free throws attempted on each succeeding foul over the first four. This would do away with disqualification of a player for anything except unsportsmanlike conduct and injuries.

Also suggested is the removing of a player, after four personal fouls, for a limited period, similar to the penalty system used in hockey. The difference would be that a substitute could take the penalized player's place in the game.

May Modify Lane Rule.

The three second lane rule, which at present prevents any member of the team in possession of the ball from remaining in the lane from the free throw line to the end of the floor under the offensive team's basket, likewise will be discussed. The rule may be modified to apply only to the player in control of the ball.

Other problems to be considered include the unlimited substitution, as used in several sections of the country this season, and the removal of the right of a player to carry or pass the ball along the end line out of bounds before the ball is thrown into play following a successful field goal.

Brooklyn Eagles, 49; Sheboygan Redskins, 43.
Harlem Globe Trotters, 41; Oshkosh Stars, 31.

The Fort Wayne Zollners will meet the New York Rens and the Brooklyn Eagles will battle the Harlem Globe Trotters in tomorrow night's semi-finals of the 6th annual professional basketball tournament in the Stadium.

The Rens defeated Cleveland Chase Brass, 62 to 38, the Zollners eliminated the Dayton Aviators, 59 to 34, the Eagles disposed of the Sheboygan Redskins, 49 to 43, and the Trotters beat the Oshkosh Stars, 41 to 31, last night before 11,820 fans.

Riebe Gets 23.

Mel Riebe, Cleveland's expert marksman, got 23 points, four less than his record performance of Tuesday night to bring his total for two games to 50 but it wasn't enough to stop the Rens, who took a 31 to 19 half time lead and held on all the way.

Fort Wayne, champion of the National Professional league, easily disposed of the Dayton quintet with the aid of the accurate shooting of Bob McDermott, who scored 21 points.

Overcome 23-20 Deficit.

Brooklyn overcame Sheboygan's height and a 23 to 20 deficit at the half to upset the Wisconsin team.

Oshkosh stayed with the Globe Trotters in the rough and tumble final game until the last period when Turk Edwards went out on personals. The Trotters led, 20 to 16, at the intermission. Lineups:

LARKIN TO MEET ALLIE STOLZ IN GARDEN TONIGHT

New York, March 22 (AP).—It will be Jersey night in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night when Allie Stolz of Newark and Tippy Larkin of Garfield, a couple of lightweight fighters who have worked up rivalry without ever meeting in the ring, face each other in a scheduled 10 round bout.

Stoltz' last appearance in the Garden was more than a year ago, when he lost a decision to Willie Pep.

Lamotta Due Sunday for Woods Bout

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Jack Lamotta, leading contender for Tony Zale's middleweight championship, will arrive Sunday for a 10 round bout against Sgt. Lou Woods of Camp Grant in Chicago Stadium Friday of next week.

Promoters Irving Schoenwald and Jack Begun yesterday tried unsuccessfully to have the New York slugger report for his first workout in Ringside loop gymnasium tomorrow. Fans are anxious to see Jack if it is only in a gymnasium drill. They want to get a preview of Lamotta, only boxer capable of beating Ray Robinson in 135 amateur and professional bouts.

Gives Ray a Shock.

This upset of Robinson, one of the most skilful boxers in the history of the welterweight division, surprised the boxing world, including Promoter Mike Jacobs, who has an option on Ray's services.

Beats Zivic Twice.

Lamotta, born in the Bronx on July 10, 1921, had his biggest year in 1943. He participated in 13 bouts, seven of which were in Detroit. Jack won all except two, losing to Robinson in a rematch and to Fritzie Zivic, whom he defeated in two subsequent engagements. Among other victims were Ossie Harris, Jose Basora, Jimmy Reeves, and California Jackie Wilson.

Lamotta's earnings last year totaled about $100,000, and he has collected purses aggregating $25,000 for three victories scored this year.

MEISTERS' LEAD IN CLASSIC CUT TO SINGLE GAME

It appears to be anybody's race in the Classic league after last night's roll down at Marigold Arcade. The powerful Meister Braus still retain the lead by one game altho they dropped a pair to the last place United States Brewery boys, losing the first by only five sticks.

The Monarch Beers, defending champions, crept within two games of the lead by taking a pair from the second place Washington Shirts who are only one game out.

In capturing two, the Monarchs rang up the highest single game and high series of the session with a 1,051 opener and 2,964 total. Buddy Bomar, anchoring for the winners, had high individual honors of the night with a lofty 687 racked up by games of 236, 244, and 207.

In the other match of the evening the Thompson's Restaurants won the opener but dropped the last two by very slim margins to the National Bowling Equipment. George Calder of the latter quintet had high single game of the field with 257.

World Money Plan Branded Fraud.

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 22.—Charges that the Roosevelt administration is aiding and abetting Great Britain and other debtor countries "not only to bleed the United States white but to destroy her very blood-making organs" was made in a house speech today by Rep. Smith [R., O.].

Rep. Smith.

Smith accused the administration of committing itself to participation in an international money control plan for which the United States would put up 73 per cent of the money but retain only a minority voice in its operation.

He termed the plan a "fraud" and charged that "the dishonesty and deception which underlie it condemn it utterly."

Directed at Keynes Plan.

Smith's attack was directed at the monetary stabilization plans of Harry White, treasury monetary expert and assistant to Secretary Morgenthau, and John Maynard Keynes, British economist whose inflationary ideas have found wide expression in New Deal economic thinking.

With Britain, Russia, and the treasury reported near complete agreement on the plan, invitations are being prepared for distribution to 41 nations, asking them to send representatives to a "monetary conference" in the United States this spring. The plan would be presented formally to the world at that time.

Gives Britain Control.

Smith, who has devoted much time in recent months to studying the monetary stabilization plans put forth by various economists, said if the Keynes-White plan were "stripped of its pretense and window dressing" it would be revealed as an attempt to inveigle the United States into handing to Britain control over United States gold, thereby:

1. Financing five billion dollars or more of debts Britain owes to a large number of countries.
2. Restoring London as the world's banking and financial center.
3. Financing Britain's world trade and paying for her Beveridge [cradle to grave social security] plan.

Smith charged the international gold standard and the "supremacy the United States dollar now holds in world trade would be destroyed if the plan is allowed to go into effect."

END OF CELOTEX CONTRACT SUIT RECOMMENDED

New York, March 22 (AP).—A referee's report filed today in Kings county Supreme court rejected allegations of fraud made in a stockholders' suit against Certain-teed Products corporation and the Celotex corporation, building materials manufacturers; Phoenix Securities corporation, an investing company, and 26 individuals.

John P. McGrath, the referee, recommended that the court accept a settlement proposed by Celotex to modify a contract covering its use of Certain-teed's plant facilities and a sales agreement.

The referee found that Celotex, in need of new products and more factory, had bought from Phoenix a block of stock in Certain-teed, which was having difficulties. After the purchase the contract was made. Joseph Kalmanash, a Certain-teed stockholder, and 16 others had sought to cancel this contract.

Realtors Ask Relief from Rent Control

BY AL CHASE.

Revision of the rent control provisions of the emergency price control act was asked in a petition sent to members of congress yesterday by the Real Estate foundation, a subsidiary of the Chicago Real Estate board. Declaring that realty owners thruout the country have been victimized by rent control legislation, the realtors set up a five point program to obtain relief.

The realtors asserted that in its administration of the emergency price control act, OPA assumed powers not intended by congress, and that property owners have suffered far beyond reason.

Profits Obscure Losses.

"Publicity artfully given a few instances of fabulous profit by speculators and some hotel operators has tended to obscure the fact that the typical owner of a vast majority of the nation's residential income properties has suffered real and tangible losses in an economy which moves daily into new areas of prosperity," the petition said.

Abandonment of effective rent control is not sought. Property owners "merely ask that they be given consideration which would provide needed relief from capricious and discriminatory treatment."

Five Points Are Listed.

Following are the five points of the remedial program:

1. Equalization of rents and correction of gross inequities.
2. Restoration of the owner's inalienable right to possession of his own property in accordance with local law.
3. Authority to review OPA hearings in the local courts.
4. Classification of hardship cases with authority passed to local rent director to grant increase when income has decreased since the effective freeze date.
5. Limitation of the extension of the emergency price control act to not more than one year.

SHORTAGE ENDS CORN PRODUCTS PLANT GRINDING

New York, March 22 (AP).—The Corn Products Refining company said today that lack of corn had forced suspension of grinding operations at its Kansas City plant. A company spokesman said that by Friday all activity at the plant will be brought to a standstill. He said the company would keep its 500 employes busy in the plant as long as possible, in hope that corn supplies will be forthcoming.

The company reported supplies at its Argo, Ill., and Pekin, Ill., plants are sufficient to maintain operations until the middle of next week and that even if corn could be purchased it will not reach the plants in time to avoid a temporary shutdown.

The company said the necessary 125,000 tons of corn for reopening the Kansas City plant could not be obtained before April 10.

Other companies also are short of supplies.

HOG PRICES DROP 25 CENTS; 10,000 UNSOLD AT END

Chicago hog prices broke 25 cents a hundred pounds yesterday as a result of heavy receipts and a large supply held over from Tuesday. About 10,000 hogs were unsold at the close.

Most of the "government weights" eligible to support at $13.75, 200 to 330 pounds, sold at $13.85 to $13.95, only 10 to 20 cents above the floor price.

BIG INCREASE IN WAR NEEDS ENDS HOPE OF MORE CIVILIAN STEEL

Marked increases in war demands for steel have ended hopes expressed earlier this year that more steel would be available for civilian consumption, Chicago leaders in the industry said yesterday.

Among the reasons given for the changed conditions were the increased tempo of the war, expected heavier lend-lease shipments, and a drag on production thru the siphoning of younger steel workers from the mills into the army and navy.

Invasion of Europe will require vast quantities of steel, it was said. Landing craft consume large amounts of the ordinary carbon steel used for many civilian products. Portable bridges, airplane landing mats, and construction materials will take substantial amounts. Overshadowing all these requirements will be the need for maintaining large supplies of fighting equipment to replace that lost in military operations, industry spokesmen said.

Profit Cashing in Rails Stalls Stock Upturn

New York, March 22 (AP).—Profit cashing in railroad stocks today stemmed an early continuation of yesterday's market upturn and the close was irregular. New highs for the year or longer were numerous, but most gains were reduced or eliminated after noon.

Most rails ended down fractions to more than a point. Ohio Oil, Pure Oil, Sinclair, and Houston Oil touched 1944 peaks and retained plus marks along with Schenley, Distillers corporation, American Distilling stamped, International Telephone and Goodrich.

Blocks of 1,000 to 3,000 shares of transport and petroleum equities helped swell volume to 1,572,030 against 1,464,470 yesterday. The market was broader with 945 stocks dealt in. The Associated Press 60 stock average lost 0.2 point at 52.9.

BONDS STRUGGLE HIGHER.

New York, March 22 (AP).—The bond market struggled thru profit taking flurries today to end a little higher. Rails inched over into new high ground since 1937 for a gain of 0.1 point in the Associated Press averages and foreign bonds added 0.2. Low yields and utilities held stationary and industrials slipped. Sales of $18,922,500 compared with $14,071,400 yesterday.

CHICAGO LIST FIRM.

Price changes were mainly upward on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, with some decrease in volume. New York Central was among 11 issues selling at new highs for this year. Chicago corporation again led in activity but closed unchanged. Utah Radio Products, Cities Service, and Armour showed small losses.

GRAINS REACT AFTER RALLY ON FEED SHORTAGE

Shortage of corn and feed grains, becoming more pronounced thruout the country, bolstered futures trading early yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade, but the markets weakened later. May wheat sold at $1.73¼ early, within ⅛ cent of the ceiling on futures, but reacted on selling attributed to a professional trader and closed unchanged. Other months were ¼ cent higher. Oats finished unchanged to ¼ cent lower. Rye was off ¼ to ⅝ cent and barley closed ⅜ cent lower to ⅜ cent higher.

American Air Seeks to Enter Foreign Field

American Airlines, the largest domestic air line, yesterday took a step toward international operations by entering into an agreement to purchase control of American Export Airlines. The agreement, subject to civil aeronautics board approval, was signed in New York by A. N. Kemp, president of American Airlines, and W. H. Coverdale, president of American Export.

If the agreement is approved American will purchase for 3 million dollars treasury stock of Export in which control of the company is vested. The funds will be used for development of Export in the foreign field. Purchase of Export by American would enable Export to divorce itself from steamship company control to comply with a CAB order issued last year, it was explained.

Owns Controling Stock.

Export, organized in 1937, has operated air service between America, the British Isles, and Africa since 1942 under a certificate issued by the CAB. It also has a certificate for a route between New York and Lisbon.

Applications are pending for two international trunk lines originating in Washington, New York, Boston, and Chicago. One would serve the British Isles, France, and the Mediterranean area. It would terminate at Bombay, India. The other would serve African points.

Would Operate Separately.

American in 1943 applied to the CAB for authority to operate a route from Chicago, Detroit, New York, and Boston to Europe. It proposes to operate Export separately and to serve the terminal cities in the United States mentioned in the applications pending, either thru certificates in effect or applied for.

"Export is already recognized as one of the two trans-Atlantic commercial air carriers flying the American flag and we believe that consummation of this transaction, upon receipt of government approval, will be of material help in solving the international air problem of the United States, and should mean a strong position for the country in the air," Kemp said.

URGES BUSINESS LOSE BAD HABITS LEARNED IN WAR

Many bad habits have been acquired by business during war time which will have to be discarded as a preliminary to sound peace time reconversion, Edward L. Ryerson, board chairman of Inland Steel company, said last night. He spoke at a dinner in the University club given under the auspices of the school of business of the University of Chicago.

These habits have been acquired under the pressure of war production when the producer is selling to only one customer—the government, Ryerson said. He asserted that companies have not watched their costs as in peace time.

He said other bad habits have grown because of the emphasis on production, with competition largely eliminated, asserting that after the war companies, in order to keep business, must go back to aggressive and persuasive salesmanship and be prepared to meet the competition of other businesses.

Those attending the meeting were business men participating in the school of business "executive program" course as students, and their guests.

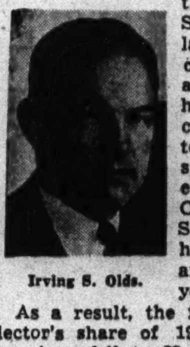
TAX PAYMENT TO U. S. IS CUT BY OWN RULES

Steel Corporation Bill Is 88 Million.

One unit of government received smaller income tax revenues from the United States Steel corporation last year because other federal agencies forced higher operating costs and refused to permit correspondingly higher price ceilings, Chairman Irving S. Olds told stockholders in his annual report yesterday.



Irving S. Olds.

As a result, the federal tax collector's share of 1943 corporation earnings fell to 88 million dollars, or 42.5 per cent below the 1942 level.

"It is apparent that rising labor costs pushing against price ceilings are absorbing the payments to both government and owners," he cautioned shareholders. "Substantial increases in wages could reduce them to nothing."

Olds decried the corporation's inability "to make an adequate addition to the fund carried forward for

Expects New Record

Secretary of Agriculture Wickard yesterday predicted American farmers will break production records again in 1944, and said that with good demand and effective educational programs, agricultural production in 1950 will surpass the prewar level of 1935-'39 by 60 per cent.

Addressing the National Association of Mutual Insurance Companies in the Stevens hotel, Wickard said agricultural output in 1943 was almost a third higher than 1935-'39 production despite obstacles.

"Since it is estimated that our 1950 population will be not much more than 10 per cent larger than the 1935-'39 average, our agricultural production per capita will be way beyond any comparable figure in the past," he asserted.

Predicts Big Exports.

Assuming that part of the excess production can be used for industrial purposes, the remainder will be left for export, he said.

To find a market for this surplus, he said, international trade must be treated as a "two way street" with these prerequisites: [1] Readiness to purchase products which can be produced more efficiently by other nations; [2] agreements to fewer trade barriers such as protective tariffs; [3] coöperation thru which the United States can export its surpluses and import the surpluses of other nations, and [4] abandonment of export subsidies because they tend to drive down world prices.

Wickard advocated retaining price supports "for the protection of both consumer and producer," and said production will have to be adjusted to meet consumers' demands.

Says OPA Blundered

Charging the office of price administration was chiefly responsible for bringing the nation to a critical situation in its meat production program, B. B. Brumley, president of the National Live Stock Producers' association, yesterday termed the roll back and subsidy order affecting live stock and meat production "a striking example of blundering."

He spoke at the association's annual meeting in the Hotel Sherman.

"When we reduce the price of food, it further increases the public purchasing power," he said. "That is exactly what was done by the OPA roll back order. It increased demand for meat."

Correction Also an Error.

The government recognized the roll back as inflationary, and then it made an attempt to correct it by use of the subsidy, Brumley said. But the OPA erred again when the subsidy was paid to packers on the theory they would continue to pay the farmer the same level of prices.

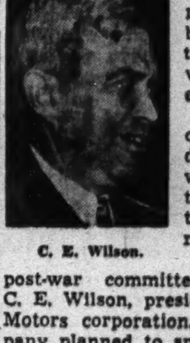
"Packers took the subsidy and continued to buy as they always have—at the lowest possible price," he said. "This is necessary if the packer is to meet his competitors on an equal basis. The result, naturally, has been lower prices for live stock and, eventually, less production. Yet, retail meat prices have remained at about the same levels."

Brumley also attributed the breakdown in the normal flow of feed from surplus areas to deficit areas to "arbitrary price ceilings by OPA," which, he said, tried to stretch the animal feed supply by placing a ceiling on beef, making it difficult to finish cattle in feed lots.

EXPANSION KEY TO PEACE JOBS, CONGRESS TOLD

Gen. Motors' Head Reports Plans.

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—Congress was told today that expansion of America's economy, rather than cutbacks, is the key to reëmployment when the war ends.



C. E. Wilson.

Three house committees delved into what will happen in the shift to peace time, with these results:

1. The official post-war committee heard from C. E. Wilson, president of General Motors corporation, that the company planned to spend 500 million dollars to expand its facilities and believed it would double its prewar employment of 201,000 persons.

Urges Rubber Plant Retention.

2. John M. Hancock, co-author of the Baruch report on post-war aims, recommended to the banking committee that the vast synthetic rubber industry be kept intact so that

Lumbermens Presents

ITS 32nd ANNUAL REPORT

To Our Policyholders and the Public

Assets increased $3,024,897 to a total of $52,941,954.

$2,891,379 was added to loss and loss expense reserves, which now amount to $26,548,254.

$250,000 was added to depreciation reserve, which now amounts to $500,000.

$1,000,000 was added to surplus, which now amounts to $8,000,000.

All of this after payment to policyholders of dividends in the amount of $6,564,620.

These results were accomplished despite substantial wartime reductions in "L-M-C" premium rates on automobile, boiler, machinery and compensation insurance, which gave "L-M-C" policyholders the lowest insurance cost in many years. These rate reductions resulted in a decrease in premium volume of 15.2% making net premiums written $31,399,515. The largest "L-M-C" business percentage increase, 38.8%, was in the Bond Department. Boiler and machinery, accident, and burglary premiums showed a satisfactory increase.

No stone has been left unturned by those on the "L-M-C" home front to support the war effort. Nor have we overlooked the 516 of our men and women who are in Uncle Sam's fighting forces.

The performance to date is the augury of success in meeting the problems that lie ahead. Lumbermens has met effectively the operating problems of major concern to policyholders and to management. Its underwriting results were good. Its safety engineering services have reflected the improvement in safety procedure and in management cooperation, thus making these safety programs effective.

It is significant that a number of our insured plants each operated more than one million man-hours consecutively without a lost-time accident.

Lumbermens is marching on, fulfilling its obligations to its policyholders. Lumbermens thanks them for their continued interest and help.

Lumbermens will be ready to meet new problems and opportunities with new plans for development that further will assure the continued growth and progress of this mutual organization.

Lumbermens will not be found wanting in doing its part to preserve American life, limb and property, and to safeguard the opportunity for individual initiative which has made and will keep America the greatest nation of all time.

BEVERAGE FIRM WILL LIQUIDATE UNIT IN MEXICO

Pepsi-Cola Business Hit by Federal Order.

Pepsi-Cola company said in its annual report yesterday that an order recently issued by the United States government makes it impossible to continue operation of the company's wholly owned Mexican subsidiary, Mexican-American Flavors company. The latter, organized in 1942, had obtained contracts for the purchase of refined sugars in Mexico with the proviso that the sugar would be used for the manufacture of beverage sirup in that country. The nature of the order was not disclosed.

Walter S. Mack Jr., president of Pepsi-Cola, said the Mexican subsidiary probably would be liquidated after May 1. Sugar rationing in the United States caused a reduction in the company's domestic business last year, compared with 1942, but this decrease was more than made up by sales of the Mexican unit.

Taxes Dip; Profit Rises.

Pepsi-Cola's consolidated profit for 1943 amounted to $6,441,518, equal to $3.36 a share, compared with $6,274,776, or $3.30 a share, in 1942. Earnings before deducting income taxes showed a decrease but this was offset by lower provisions for taxes, which amounted to $6,174,216, compared with $8,500,956.

International Business Machines corporation reported consolidated sales and other revenue for 1943 increased to $134,894,067 from $90,701,265 in 1942. Profit, after setting aside 4 million dollars for post-war adjustments and contingencies, amounted to $9,204,884, compared with 1942 net of $8,318,942 after reserving 1½ million for adjustments and contract renegoitiation.

Reports Loss on Property.

The annual report of Vanadium Corporation of America disclosed that the disposition of the company's Piney River, Va., properties last year has been made at a loss of $3,901,707, which was charged to earned surplus. The properties produced nelsonite ore, from which were derived ilmenite and apatite concentrates, sold largely to manufacturers of titanium pigments for paints. Vanadium's net income from 1943 operations was $616,605, compared with $542,094 in 1942.

International Harvester company's balance sheet as of Oct. 31, 1943, shows total reserves of $79,541,516, exclusive of those for depreciation and receivables, compared with $76,757,225 a year earlier. The principal increase was the addition of 2.5 millions to reserve for development and extension, which was charged to cost of goods sold. The reserve for post-war rehabilitation and contingencies remained unchanged at 20 million dollars, which was charged against surplus in 1942. Transfers of 18.8 million dollars from other reserves to surplus also applied to the 1942 accounts.

NEW STEEL PAY PANEL NAMED; ENDS WLB ROW

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—An internal war labor board row which had delayed panel hearings in the steel industry wage dispute was compromised today by establishment of a separate panel to hear AFL wage demands.

The six man panel assigned to hear the CIO Steelworkers' demands was directed to receive evidence and arguments on the proposed 17 cent hourly wage increase even tho it was conceded the increase is beyond the present power of the board to grant. The panel will make findings of fact but not recommendations.

Another panel will conduct public hearings on evidence which the AFL wishes to submit in support of its request that the board seek authority to modify the Little Steel formula.

The board stated in a resolution that its decision to consider such wage demands thru panels "should not be taken as an indication of any present decision on the part of the board as to whether it will eventually seek a change in the Little Steel formula."

QUESTION COURT POWER ORDERING SALE OF STOCK

The jurisdiction of the Cook County Circuit court in ordering the sale of the Illinois Bankers Life Assurance company capital stock and directing the distribution of the proceeds was challenged yesterday in brief filed in the Appellate court by attorneys for certain of the company's stockholders. The sale at auction was ordered last November by Judge Miner, but was stayed by an appeal.

The brief presented by Cassels, Potter & Bentley and A. M. Fitzgerald, attorneys for appellants, said the disposition of the stock "can benefit no one except the person permitted to purchase the company at distress sale and the counsel whose fees are to be allowed. No more than a few cents can remain for any policyholder."

Among the defendants are the estates of Hugh T. Martin, William H. Woods, and Arthur T. Sawyer, former officers and directors of the company. Martin was the principal stockholder.

OFFICE EQUIPMENT.

In view of the fact that production of office machines and equipment has been stopped because of the war, wouldn't the shares of companies in this business be good post-war investments? P. C.

Answer: A backlog of demand undoubtedly has been created by the curtailment of production during the war years. However, there has not been a complete stoppage of production in all office equipment lines. There has been a limited output of bookkeeping, billing, accounting, calculating, pay roll, and similar machines, to meet the requirements of the government and war industries.

In recent months production of typewriters has been permitted on a small scale in order to fill government needs. Cash registers, however, have been under a complete production ban.

An early termination of the war might result in a repetition of the experience after World War I. when large quantities of used machinery and equipment, in good condition, were dumped on the market. The longer the war continues, of course, the greater will be the demand backlog, and the greater the wear and depreciation of government owned equipment.

EXPANSION KEY TO PEACE JOBS, CONGRESS TOLD

General Motors Head Reports Plans.

another Japanese invasion of Malaya will not be risked.

3. Charles M. Upham, engineer-director of the American Road Builders association, told the roads committee a 16½ billion dollar five year program of highway and street improvements should be undertaken after the war.

Wilson's testimony was sought by the post-war group particularly with reference to how the auto industry proposed to meet its problems of reconversion. He said he believed General Motors would be employing almost as many persons after the war as the 465,000 it now employs. And, as for the nation, a similar planned expansion of peace time activity would take complete care of the reëmployment problem.

Bars Surplus Speculators.

Hancock's appearance was a continuation of testimony he gave last week and this time was largely confined to disposal of surplus government goods. In this connection, he asserted that "everybody in government I have talked to is determined he won't deal with speculators and corporations formed to deal in surpluses." This subject also came up in the naval committee where tentative approval was given for the navy department to dispose of excess material on its own authority until the surplus war material administration is fully organized.

The post-war highway discussion was developed in the consideration of a bill to provide 3 billions in federal funds over a three year period with 1 billion from the states to modernize the nation's roads. Upham said this was only one-fourth of the requirements. His 16½ billion plan is "not only economically justified but represents the minimum rate of improvement to meet increasing traffic demands," he declared.

States should "properly bear" 50 per cent of the cost of such a program, Upham added.

TAX PAYMENTS TO U. S. ARE CUT BY OWN RULES

future needs," and said: "A continuation of such a state of affairs may prove serious to the corporation and ultimately to the nation, as this fund constitutes insurance against the times when the customers' demand for steel may be small and the need for cash may be great."

The fund carried forward from 1943 earnings was $3,415,861, or 69.5 per cent less than in 1942. Net earnings, $63,448,546, or slightly smaller than those shown in the preliminary report, were equal to $4.39 a share on common stock. The 1942 earnings were $71,248,569 after renegotiation of government contracts, or $5.29 a share. In each year, 25 million dollars was set aside from earnings for extraordinary war costs.

Olds said that in the 43 years of the corporation's history, net income had averaged 5.06 per cent of the amount of the net assets, and said the 1943 ratio had fallen to 3.97 per cent. "Thus," he added, "the downward trend in income was intensified and 1943 became the record year for low income in a period of high production and sales."

Costs Forced Upward.

He said the mandatory 48 hour week had been forced upon the steel industry despite satisfactory operations under the former system of regulating hours according to departmental needs, and declared: "The inevitable result has been substantially to increase costs without effecting a corresponding increase in steel production."

Shareholders were told that strikes and work stoppages in corporation plants last year were four times more numerous than in 1942, and had caused the loss of 318,000 tons of steel, against 53,000 tons lost the year before. Four separate coal strikes resulted in the loss of 2,600,000 tons of fuel.

Olds said that if the war labor board allows all the demands of the United Steelworkers of America [CIO], corporation wages would be forced up 186 million dollars a year. Steel prices have been frozen at the 1939 level, but the office of price administration has begun a study of their adequacy.

Subsidiary Output a Record.

Steel making subsidiaries of the corporation turned out a record 30,540,000 tons of ingots last year and in three war years produced 32 per cent more than in 1916, 1917, and 1918, he said. The corporation operates plants having 36 per cent of the nation's steel making capacity and since 1929 has appropriated 1 billion 50 million dollars of its own funds for additions and improvements, Olds told stockholders in a profusely illustrated booklet.

The number of corporation employes reached a record average of 340,498 during 1943, their average weekly wage was $48.94, and the average number of hours worked weekly was 42.2, according to the report. Under check-off provisions of union contracts, $2,300,000 was deducted from employes' wages and turned over to unions, Olds said.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Lucilee Enright, 330 S. Ahrens av., Lombard.]

THE QUESTION.

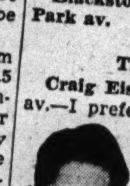
WHERE ASKED.

Blackstone library, 4900 Lake Park av.

THE ANSWERS.



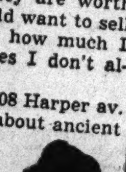
Craig Eisendrath, 4847 Lake Park av.—I prefer to read American history books. Of course, for a change, comic books are O. K., but I still prefer the history. When we have a history lesson in school I always go to the library and try to find more on the same subject even if the teacher doesn't assign us to do it.

Klaus Gail, 5111 Cornell av.—Indians are such sharpshooters, they have all of my respect. They can shoot an arrow and hit their mark right in the center every time. That's why I like wild west stories. I'd like to be a cowboy. Dad says it's too dangerous, but I'm going to keep on reading about them and the Indians.

Bill McGrath, 4600 Drexel blvd.—Our teacher told us to go to the library and get some knowledge in our heads about science. It's no trouble at all for me because I choose all of the books on the science of animals. It's interesting to learn how they live and what they eat, and how they spend their leisure time.

Lloyd Morris, 4751 Dorchester av.—The suspense of a mystery story—that's what I like most of all. Mysteries hold my interest more than any other reading material. I like to try to figure out the climax before I finish reading the book. Of course, I have to read it all to see if I was right, and sometimes I am.

Dick Griffin, 4534 Ellis av.—All books on hobbies interest me, but books that deal with coins are my greatest interest. I have a collection of more than 400 different coins and I like to find out how much they are worth if I should want to sell them, or how much I should pay to buy ones I don't already have.



Richard Spellberg, 5008 Harper av.—I like to read books about ancient kings and their beautiful, luxurious castles. I'd like to be able to spend a day roaming around in one of those rambling old castles with a moat around it and a drawbridge and dungeon. I hope I will have a chance to see a real castle some day.

JOB FOR EX-YANK SHUTS BIG HIGH TEST GAS PLANT

East St. Louis, Ill., March 22 [Special].—Production of 100 octane gasoline at the huge new Lubrite refinery of Socony Vacuum Oil company slowed toward a complete halt tonight as 400 refinery workers joined a wildcat strike in protest against refusal of the company to rehire a former worker after his discharge from the marine corps.

The Lubrite refinery is said by navy officials to be one of the largest plants in the world for the production of 100 octane gasoline. Production began there a few weeks ago. The striking employes are members of the AFL Refinery Workers' union, whose officers said the walkout was unauthorized.

Company Says He's Unfit.

The company denied it had made a point blank refusal to rehire the ex-marine, but said his physical condition is such that there is doubt of his ability to work and that he had been sent to the Mayo clinic at the company's expense for a physical checkup. O. D. Fender, industrial relations manager for the company, said the company has reason to believe the ex-marine is suffering from epilepsy.

James Swift, president of R. W. local 19119, said the union has taken the position that the ex-marine is not an epileptic and is entitled to the job he held in the company's bulk plant in St. Louis before he was inducted into service. He said the checkup given him at the Mayo clinic brought a report that he was physically able to work. Fender characterized the Mayo report as "vague" and said it contained no proof the man was not suffering from epilepsy.

In Marines 8 Weeks.

The strike began at the bulk plant yesterday when all 60 workers employed there walked out while union grievance officials were in conference with company representatives concerning the case. Today the strike spread to the refinery, with 400 of 600 union employes quitting the plant. Spokesmen for the strikers said 200 men were remaining on the job for maintenance work.

Union officials withheld the name of the ex-marine because epilepsy is involved in the company's case against him. It was said the man served 8 weeks in the marine corps and was discharged last November. A company claim that the man waived his right to rehiring by taking another job after his discharge was answered by the union with a contention he took temporary work while waiting for the company to reinstate him.

OFFICE SET UP HERE TO SPEED VETS' PENSIONS

To speed claims for pensions to men and women discharged from service with the army and navy, the veterans administration has opened branch offices in each of the nine army service command areas. The branch office for the 6th service command area, which includes Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin, has been established in the United States Custom house, 610 S. Canal st.

The office will adjudicate pension claims of army enlisted personnel discharged for disability from all army posts and hospitals in the area and from the United States naval hospital at Great Lakes.

J. P. Cullen, formerly in charge of the adjudication division at Hines hospital, has been appointed manager of the branch office here. He said adjudication of claims thru his office already has begun. He explained the office authorizes the issuance of any adjustment pension check which may be due, as well as the first monthly check.

3,647 Kohler Workers Get WLB Raise of 5 Cts.

A wage increase of 5 cents an hour for 3,647 employes of Kohler company of Kohler, Wis., has been approved by the regional war labor board here, Chairman Edgar L. Warren announced yesterday. The increase is retroactive to Jan. 3 and is permissible under the Little Steel formula, the WLB found.

RULING OF COURT CALLED BLOW TO STATE AIR PLANS

Invalidation of the 1943 airport authorities act by the state Supreme court was termed a serious blow to aviation planning in Illinois yesterday by Louis E. Leverone, chairman of the Illinois aviation conference.

"As a result of this decision," Leverone said, "the validity of all other airport legislation may be questioned and the reactionary effects cannot be overestimated."

Leverone, who is counselor for the National Aeronautics association, said he hoped the question would be presented to the Supreme court for rehearing and added it might even be necessary to carry the litigation to the Supreme court of the United States.

AGRICULTURAL DEFERMENTS.

It was noted yesterday that changed regulations effective Feb. 14, 1944, ordered local boards to reopen and reconsider all men then in class II-C in sequence of order numbers, followed by the same procedure with reference to registrants then in class III-C.

Section 622.31-3 of the amended regulations stipulates that: "[a] A registrant heretofore classified in class III-C shall be retained in that class until his classification is reopened and he is classified anew under the provisions of section 622.31-22" quoted yesterday], "provided that he [1] continues to be necessary to and regularly engaged in an agricultural occupation or an agricultural endeavor essential to the war effort and until a satisfactory replacement in such agricultural occupation or endeavor can be obtained, and [2] has a wife or child with whom he maintains a bona fide family relationship in their home, provided such status was acquired prior to Dec. 8, 1941; or who has dependent upon him for support any of the following persons: Wife or child [with whom he does not maintain a bona fide family relationship in their home], divorced wife, parent, brother, sister, grandparent, grandchild, a person under 16 years of age whose support he assumed in good faith" prior to Dec. 8, 1941.

From November, 1942, to the present, deferment of a registrant by reason of agricultural occupation or endeavor was "given serious consideration" if he produced eight or more units of essential agricultural production. It is now the national policy that the deferment of persons in agriculture is unwarranted if he produces less than 16 units by his own personal and direct efforts. However, "a registrant who does not produce a sufficient number of war units on a particular farm to warrant deferment, but whose efforts wherever applied and on any number of farms result in an aggregate number of war units of essential production to justify deferment should, nevertheless, be given consideration for classification in class II-C." Included in the calculations of war units of production is time employed by others in the harvesting or processing of canning crops, 100 hours of such activity entitling the registrant to one war unit. If the registrant's employment is on two or more farms, a supporting state form AQ-44 must be provided for each farm, showing for what production the registrant is personally responsible.

Local board memorandum 164 provides that "a registrant who is experienced in agriculture, and who returns to an agricultural occupation or endeavor before the local board has mailed him notice placing him in 1-A, 1-A-O, or IV-E, may be considered for deferment into class II-C." Under this provision registrants who left agriculture to engage in war work during a slack season may be retained in class II-C or be classified II-C if they return to full time employment in agriculture before the local board classifies the registrant into a class available for military service.

FEAR DECISION MAY INVALIDATE MANY DIVORCES

City Court Judges Feel Decrees Uncertain.

Judges of the state and city courts and divorce experts yesterday were studying the Illinois Supreme court's opinion of Tuesday invalidating certain types of divorce granted in city courts for its possible effect on thousands of divorces and subsequent remarriages.

At the same time, Atty. Sol R. Friedman, who was friend of the court in the case which evoked the court's opinion, was preparing a petition for a rehearing. If this fails, he will appeal to the United States Supreme court. "The court's opinion makes uncertain the status of many a divorce," said Friedman.

Reversed by Supreme Court.

The case was that of John F. Cullen, who married Helen Stevens after her divorce in Calumet City from Paul Stevens. Later he sued for annulment, contending that her divorce was illegal, and his marriage, therefore, invalid. Judge Thomas J. Lynch of the Circuit court, ruled against him, holding the Calumet City divorce valid and his marriage accordingly valid, but the Supreme court reversed him.

Principal point of the Supreme court opinion was that when a city court, such as in Calumet City, grants a divorce, the cause of action, cruelty, desertion and the like, must have occurred within the territorial limits of that court. In the Cullen case the marital offense, desertion, occurred in Indiana and not in Calumet City.

As to the question of residence, the high court held that divorce seekers need not live within the territorial limits of a city court, but only within the county. Thus a Chicagoan could obtain a divorce in Calumet City, but only if the marital offense involved occurred in Calumet City.

Calls Restriction Severe.

Atty. Friedman declared the Supreme court's restriction to be so severe it might tend to ban most city court divorces. For example, he said, a Calumet City wife deserted across the street in Burnham could not get a divorce in Calumet City. Or, he added, a shrewd husband might beat his wife daily outside the city limits of a city court and still she couldn't get divorce relief within her own city. In Chicago divorces are handled by the Superior and Circuit courts, which are not so restricted.

The opinion was considered so far reaching that seven City court judges met in Chicago yesterday to discuss it. City courts are established in 28 Illinois cities, and since 1939 have granted many thousands of divorces. In Cook county, Calumet City and Chicago Heights had been especially active. Judge Robert A. Meier Jr., of Chicago Heights, said he has granted at least 2,000 divorces since 1939, "some to prominent Chicagoans."

Gardening in Downtown Chicago

CARROTS, PEAS LOWER, ORANGES UP ON OPA LIST

Peas, head lettuce, and carrots will be lower in price for the week starting today, with beans, leaf lettuce, spinach, repacked tomatoes, and Florida and Texas oranges somewhat higher, under weekly price ceilings of the office of price administration announced yesterday. Peas and carrots will be reduced 1 cent a pound, and iceberg lettuce 2 cents a head. Wax and green beans will be increased 5 cents a pound, and spinach, hothouse leaf lettuce, and repacked tomatoes, 2 cents. The oranges will go up a cent a pound.

Cattle Truck and Auto Collide; Rodeo Aftermath

New City policemen and handlers from the stockyards joined a roundup yesterday to corral a trailer truck load of cattle and hogs that broke loose at Damen av. and 51st st. after the vehicle collided with an automobile driven by Miss Doris Lefken, 29, of 3221 W. 56th st. Miss Lefken and Miss Helen Milka, 30, of 2112 W. 50th st., also riding in the car, were treated for bruises. Elton Kirkpatrick, 29, of Saybrook, McLean county, the truck driver, was not hurt.

Help for Amateurs

The Chicago Park district gardener, E. T. Winterton, yesterday planted some early onions, swiss chard, lettuce, and radishes in a cold frame at the northeast corner of Monroe st. and Michigan blvd. for the edification of war gardeners. A member of the park horticultural staff will be in attendance at the cold frame to answer all gardening questions each week day from noon to 1 p. m.

ALDERMEN URGE NEW EQUIPMENT ON L, CAR LINES

The city council planning committee urged a speedy solution of the transit system problem yesterday after Ald. Quinn [50th], chairman of the local transportation committee, asserted that Chicago faces serious difficulties in a short time because of equipment deterioration.

"Unless new elevated and street car equipment is forthcoming we'll soon have a breakdown," Quinn said.

A 14 point post-war improvement program for Chicago was introduced for committee approval by Ald. Lindell [9th], chairman. The program included a lake front airport, modern transportation, elevated highways, a water filtration plant, incinerators, rebuilding and repair of bridges, and financing of local government by means other than real estate taxes. Consideration of the program was postponed until the next committee meeting.

Lindell also told the committee that the airport requires expanded terminal and passenger facilities.

POWDERED MILK USE WILL GROW, IT IS PREDICTED

BY GAIL COMPTON.

Whole milk powder, which needs only the addition of cold water to turn it into refreshing full strength milk, will be a vital factor in the post-war dairy industry, Arthur Lauterbach, manager of the Pure Milk association, said yesterday.

Far sighted dairy farmers have accepted the fact that a good part of the present fluid milk market will be taken over by the powdered milk, he said. Altho it may mean lower prices for their fluid product in the beginning, they know that eventually the powder will develop a new milk drinking public that will increase their revenue, he asserted.

Army Uses Large Quantities.

Whole milk powder, altho not a new product, now is being made in large quantities for the army and lend-lease, and many dairy experts predict that in the post-war era housewives will keep their milk on the pantry shelf instead of in a bottle in the ice box.

Even now, farmers would rather have their surplus milk go into the powder form than be used as cheese, butter, or evaporated milk.

Public Must Be Educated.

"The use of whole milk powder by the general public will not be any rapid transformation from the use of the fluid," Lauterbach said. "It will come as a gradual development slowed by the necessity of educating the public to its use."

The farmer knows that the powder will offer a cheaper food to many persons and will be glad to see it fulfill this function as well as find new uses in cooking. To produce a good powder means that the farmers must produce milk of good quality. When the public insists on the powder, the farmers will have to put out excellent milk and every one will benefit, Lauterbach explained.

ILLINOIS FARMS FACING LACK OF VETERAN HANDS

Illinois faces a farm labor shortage this year which will become acute if plans for the recruitment of local and city help and the use of foreign laborers do not work out.

In analyzing the farm labor prospect, P. E. Johnston, state supervisor for emergency farm labor, yesterday declared that the state will need around 90,000 seasonal workers to help during harvest time. Last year the state placed 50,000 helpers, he said.

"It is likely that we will not have much trouble finding our seasonal labor for such crops as hybrid seed corn, apples, peaches, and vegetables, which promise to be bigger than ever," he said. "Our dangerous spot is in the lack of experienced year around farm hands."

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM

The FARM by Gail Compton

March 22, 1944.

THE cattle yard at the farm would make any gourmet's mouth water. Packed into the concrete lot are 73 head of prime Hereford steers all fast approaching the eating stage.

The cattle will average 1,000 pounds each and probably will be fed for at least another 200 pound gain. Dozing in the warm sunshine, their red coats glisten with good health. They make a picture any farmer or city person would like.

Expect Top Prices.

Recently a commission man from the stock yards looked over the load of steers and declared them the best he had seen in this part of the country. He was sure they would bring top prices when they went to market.

The animals really should be divided into two groups, and will be, as far as this column is concerned, for comparison. The first group, consisting of 40 head, was purchased last August, weighed 603 pounds each, and cost $14.50 a hundredweight.

The second drove was purchased late in the fall and weighed more than 700 pounds each and cost $12 a hundredweight. The first group was pastured and made some cheap bone growth before winter set in. The second group got little from its short time on pasture as the animals already were well matured.

Compare Two Herds.

It will be interesting to see how the two droves turn out financially. Men at the farm are inclined to bet on the heavy cattle showing the most profit. The last steers bought have a little less quality than the others but their original cost was considerably less, which will help on the final balance sheet.

Expert feeders have been advising farmers to buy heavier steers than usual this year as the margin between feed cost and sale price is small and only the best farmers will be able to make money. They also are urging that farmers forget the idea of turning out so-called prime beef, and feed their animals until they will grade choice. The last few pounds necessary to bring a steer from choice to prime are expensive to put on and this year may well lose a farmer his profit.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

THE two varieties of beets favored by the farm gardener are Crosby's Egyptian and Detroit Dark Red. Both types can be planted any time between April 1 and July 10, but the gardener usually plants Crosby's Egyptian during the first half of the season and Detroit Dark Red after June 1. The former type is slightly preferred for flavor, but Detroit Dark Red keeps better in a root cellar or garden trench during the fall and winter, therefore is planted for late table use and for storage. Housewives who want beets for pickling will find Crosby's Egyptian excellent in size, texture, and flavor.

The best flavored beets are those which grow in fertile soil and thus mature in the minimum period of 55 to 60 days. Beets which develop slowly tend to become woody in texture. Therefore, it is advisable to fertilize beet soil somewhat heavier than the rest of the garden. The best time to harvest beets is when they are slightly larger than an egg. If allowed to grow too large, the flavor and texture are impaired.

Trucker Skips Draft Call and Gets 3 Years in Cell

George Schmidt, 36, of 936 Wilson av., brother of six German soldiers, including three killed in action, was sentenced to three years in prison yesterday by Federal Judge John P. Barnes for failure to report for military induction Dec. 9. Schmidt, a truck driver, neglected to give his draft board a change of address, pleading he had believed alien registration officials would do this automatically.

BUROCRATS LET CABBAGES SPOIL; 2 CARS DUMPED

Icing, Packing Edicts Blamed in Losses.

Two carloads of cabbage were dumped yesterday into an abandoned clayhole on the Baltimore and Ohio Chicago Terminal railroad near 138th and Wood sts., Riverdale. Workmen said one carload appeared to be in good condition and the cabbage in the other car was only partly spoiled. Some of the workmen prepared to take home all they could carry.

Officials of the railroad said the cabbage had been inspected by the Western Inspection and Weighing bureau, which serves all the railroads, and had been pronounced unfit for human consumption. They said regulations of the interstate commerce commission forbid disclosure of the names of the shipper and consignee.

Rules Blamed for Spoilage.

Charles I. Abbate, president of the South Water Market Merchants' association, said large quantities of cabbage are spoiling in transit this year because of regulations of the office of price administration and the ICC limiting the amount of ice used in refrigerator cars.

Abbate explained that formerly shippers were permitted to put as much ice as they pleased in the car bunkers and also to pile ice on top of the vegetables. Now there are numerous rules fixing maximum and minimum amounts of ice.

Sacks Increase Losses.

Another cause of much spoilage is the government requirements that it be shipped in sacks, he said. Formerly it was packed in crates and hampers, which protected the lower layers in a car from the pressure of the cabbage on top, Abbate explained. He said a carload of cabbage is worth about $750, wholesale.

Last year at this time there was an acute shortage of cabbage and the government encouraged farmers to increase production, Abbate said. The result was overproduction and this year the market is glutted, he added.

BLIND ATTORNEY GETS ADMISSION TO U. S. COURTS

Atty. Donald Hesson, 32, of 5719 Dorchester av., who lost his sight in an industrial accident in 1931, was admitted to practice as an attorney in federal courts yesterday by Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan.

Instructed by tutors who read the law to him, Hesson took his law degree in 1941 at De Paul university and his master's degree at the University of Chicago a year later. Since Hesson began his practice his wife, Marie Seton Hesson, 32, has appeared with him as observer.

His associate, Atty. Landon L. Chapman, 127 N. Dearborn st., presented him to Judge Sullivan.

8 CAPTAINS SEEK MANDATE TODAY TO REGAIN POSTS

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Rumors were current in the city hall yesterday that the Kelly administration would not be surprised if Judge John C. Lewe of the Superior court should order the immediate reinstatement of eight suspended police captains this morning.

The captains' mandamus petition asking that he do so is to be presented to Judge Lewe when court opens and it was hinted the city's objections will not be strenuous.

Suspended by Allman.

There was more than one guess that Police Commissioner Allman might make such a ruling the occasion for his exit from the department. Allman suspended nine district police commanders last October when the grand jury called him to account after listening to evidence that Guzik syndicate gambling infested the city.

The mandamus petition was filed by Captains John T. Cartan, Thomas Harrison, Louis Klatzco, Eugene F. Barry, Thomas Connelly, and Patrick T. Crotty, and Acting Capt. William Drury. They contend it was illegal to suspend them for more than 30 days without a trial. The city's reply was, in effect, an assertion that the law has not been interpreted by a court.

Long Hearings Ahead.

The city civil service commission spent eight weeks investigating the suspension of Capt. Walter F. Healy of the Hyde Park district. Efforts to expedite the hearing of charges against the other captains failed. The trial board is faced with spending months sifting the evidence against the other captains.

Allman's departure and the ending of the gambling conspiracy trials in the Criminal court would permit the public to forget about the gambling scandals, some ward committeemen said. Some of the more hopeful thought that if the gambling scandal slate is wiped clean, perhaps a little cheating here and there by venturesome gamblers might be overlooked. Some campaign funds could be picked up in this way, it was explained.

Wounded Slaying Suspect Is Ordered to Louisville

Ralph G. Clark, 22, shot and captured March 1 when Chief of Police Richard E. Loescher of Thornton recognized him as a fugitive pictured in a FBI poster, was ordered removed to Louisville, Ky., by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday on a charge of transporting a stolen automobile. Bail was set at $50,000 at the request of Assistant United States Atty. Michael J. Boyle, who said Clark also is accused of murdering a Louisville policeman.

LEGAL NOTICES

LEGAL NOTICE
NOTICE OF FINAL DIVIDEND AND LIMITATION OF RIGHTS OF UNFILED CLAIMANTS OF HALSTED STREET STATE BANK.

TO ALL DEPOSITORS AND CREDITORS OF THE HALSTED STREET STATE BANK, who have not filed their respective claims against said bank. PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that general dividends have heretofore been declared by ARTHUR C. LUEDER, Auditor of Public Accounts of the State of Illinois, or his predecessors in office, as follows:
Dividend No. 1 of 40% payable as of September 30, 1934.
Dividend No. 2 of 5% payable as of March 30, 1935.
Dividend No. 3 of 10% payable as of December 21, 1936.
Dividend No. 4 of 5% payable as of March 25, 1940.
Dividend No. 5 of 5% payable as of June 30, 1942.

You and each of you are HEREBY NOTIFIED that a final general dividend of six [6%] per cent will be payable as of March 31, 1944. Under the Banking Act of the State of Illinois, all depositors and creditors must assert a right to the payment of dividends within one year from the time of final dissolution of the bank or lose the right to receive said dividends.

NOW, THEREFORE, unless you file and make proof of your claim against the HALSTED STREET STATE BANK within the time limited by law, your right to receive payment of dividends will be forever lost to you. Claims may be presented at the office of the undersigned.

NEW FIELDS FOR YOU TO EXPLORE!
The Surgical Dressings Industry offers splendid opportunities to men and boys without previous skill or experience. We need trainees for various machine tending and feeding occupations and for service jobs. The work is comparatively simple—only a minimum amount of time is required for training. We pay you while you learn.
ADHESIVE DEPT.
We need men to learn various phases of adhesive preparation and the production of tapes. A busy department in war and peace times.
LIGATURE DEPT.
An unusual opportunity for a man to train in the production and sterilization of sutures.
SHIPPING DEPT.
Men and boys to train in order filling, packing, and shipping. Opportunities to get a broad view of our business and ultimately advance into skilled and technical work.
OPENINGS IN OTHER DEPTS.

SATURDAY
Are ideal days to come in for an interview. People crowd our doors the beginning of the week and, even with our large interviewing staff, we cannot always handle the crowds as rapidly as we would like.
YOUR FUTURE IS IMPORTANT!
We want to take sufficient time to discuss your future and to place you or the type of work which best suits you interests. That's why we say "call today, tomorrow, or Saturday" when time permits the type of interview you deserve.
FASCINATING WORK
Making Surgical Dressings is thrilling and exciting. Best of all, you need no previous experience to qualify for this work. We will train you and pay you while you learn.

THE WORLDS GREATEST NEWSPAPER

THE ITALIAN FRONT
